Shibe Park, Philadelphia, Oct. 14.—In the somber silence of impending defeat, 35,000 still-throated fans in this stronghold of the Athletics were well back in their seats as each pitch of portly Pat Malone propelled the Chicago Cubs toward a seemingly certain world series victory this cloudy afternoon—until one was out in the ninth inning.

Then the Athletics rose in their might or rose in their wrath and the high-banked humanity in antiquated Shibe Park watched a new and startling chapter of the world series drama unfold as the power which had been stifled for eight and a third innings flared forth in full fury with a suddenness that was delightfully disillusioning.

They saw victory snatched from the very jaws of the Cubs in this fifth game of the world series, as a seeming 2-to-0 shutout defeat was converted into a 3-to-2 triumph for the Athletics, meaning also that the championship was won, the series terminated and the American League the victor for the third successive season.

Both the game and the crowd underwent a metamorphosis in that fateful and final ninth inning. The Cubs were sailing along serenely under a 2-to-0 lead and Walter French, first at bat, was the eighth pinch hitter of eleven in the series to strike out. But the ensuing excitement penetrated even to the presidential box, where President Hoover, Mrs. Hoover and their official party sat in on the proceedings.

BROWN'S POLICIES ASSAILED BY BYRD

Governor, in First Address of Campaign for Pollard, Reviews Progress.

TAX SITUATION SUBJECT

Special to The Washington Post.

Goochland, Oct. 14.—Gov. Harry Flood Byrd, in his first address in the gubernatorial campaign in behalf of Dr. John Garland Pollard, Democratic nominee, here today, declared that Dr. William Moseley Brown, coalition nominee for governor, is seeking to conceal his "bankruptcy of constructive suggestions for the betterment of Virginia by his cries of Raskobism."

Gov. Byrd further charged that Dr. Brown declares if elected governor he will build more roads and have better schools, while at the same time reducing the highway and education taxes. The governor inquired as to where the additional funds are to come from and "wondered," if there should be a further cut in taxation, whether the roads and schools would not suffer under Dr. Brown. The State executive also charged Dr. Brown with attacking Virginia's tax and election laws without offering any constructive suggestions of improvement.

Dr. Brown was called upon to reveal his vote on the tax segregation amendment adopted last June, the governor declaring that the people are entitled to know his stand on that policy. Byrd also assailed the coalition candidate for "voting by mail in the past, when now he condemns voting by mail as merely a convenience for absent voters."

The governor maintained that Dr. Brown voted by mail last June on the constitutional amendments. Re-

LIQUOR PURCHASER HELD LAW BREAKER

EXPLAINS COURT RULING

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—The purchaser of liquor is subject to indictment under the present prohibition laws, Federal Judge Charles I. Dawson told a grand jury which was empaneled in his court today.

The jurors were told not to hesitate to return indictments against the buyer. "Don't feel hamstrung by any fear of hampering the Government in indicting purchasers," the judge said. "They have not given us a particle of assistance in the prosecution of cases."

Not a single purchaser of liquor, outside of undercover men, has given assistance in the prosecution of a bootlegger in the Western District of Kentucky during the four years he has been on the bench, Judge Dawson asserted. On the other hand, "these citizens who talk about 'my' bootlegger encourage others to violate the law by selling," he said.

"I want to take this opportunity of correcting the impression, which seems to be general, that it is not against the law for individuals to purchase liquor," Judge Dawson said. "This misunderstanding no doubt has been brought about by the wide publicity given to a recent opinion of the Circuit Court of Appeals of the Second District.

"I have not read that opinion, but it is my understanding that what the court really decided was that one who purchases liquor is not such an aider or abettor of the seller as to

MANN BACKERS HURL GAUNTLET TO HOOVER TRIO

Southerners Have Plan to Control Imposing Unit in 1932.

LEADER SLIGHTED BY G. O. P., IS CLAIM

CONFERENCE CALL COMING IN 30 DAYS

Callaway Statement Insists Move for Recognition Will Be Heeded.

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

The feud that has existed for several months between the forces of Col. Horace A. Mann and the political triumvirate set up by President Hoover to handle the Southern political situation was climaxed yesterday with the announced determination of the Mann followers to call a convention for the purpose of capturing control of the some 250 delegates that the South will have in the next Republican convention.

The move is the outgrowth of the refusal of the triumvirate, composed of Postmaster General Brown, Walter Newton, secretary to the President, and James F. Burke, to recognize Mann and the organization he set up in the South during the campaign. Mann was the Southern Republican manager during the campaign, and four States went to Hoover.

Since the campaign, however, the triumvirate has apparently been afraid of him, or, rather, his plan of building up an exclusively white Republican party in the South, and has done everything in its power to shake Mann and his associates, Hoovercrats and Republicans alike, from its shoulders. None of the outstanding Hoovercrats has been recognized or, for that matter, any of the substantial citizen type of Republicans that the Hoover campaign drew into active politics. The patronage power, has, instead, been turned back to the old crowd.

Triumvirate Silent on South.

Although there has never been any public statement on the attitude of the three very practical men composing the triumvirate, it is presumably their belief that the Southern adventure involving the exclusion of the Negroes is too hazardous, especially when the Republican party does not need the South.

Yesterday's development would indicate that the administration will have a hard time shaking the Southerners loose.

The development was in the nature of a statement by E. E. Callaway, Republican State chairman of Florida, and it is the forerunner of a statement to be issued later by Col. Mann, calling for a convention of "new order Southern Republicans" and Hoovercrats to be held in Atlanta to form a Southern Republican organization that hopes to get what it wants, even from Mr. Hoover.

Meeting Plans Worked Out.

Plans for this meeting have already been worked out, it is understood, although the definite date has not been set. It is quite probable that it depends upon the response that Callaway's statement receives.

Mann himself did not appear in Callaway's statement or on the scene yesterday at all. There is no doubt.

SENATE SEEKS WAY TO SPEED TARIFF ACTION

Idahoan Replies Question of Justice Is Involved in Situation.

CONFERENCES HELD TO FACILITATE VOTE

No Formal Agreement Made but Step Is Taken Looking to Understanding.

(Associated Press.)

Factional leaders in the Senate tariff dispute yesterday accused each other of holding up the measure as party chieftains sought an understanding to speed debate so the issue might be disposed of at the special session.

Chairman Smoot, of the finance committee, in a formal statement, characterized as "preposterous" the constant efforts of Senator Borah, representing the opponents of the bill, "to place the responsibility for the slow progress on the majority members of the committee."

Smoot contended the majority committeemen had taken little part in the debate thus far. As for proposed rates which the Idaho senator has criticized as detrimental to the farmers, the chairman said not a single rate had been discussed because "Senator Borah and his colleagues will not even permit the Senate to reach the rates."

Borah Makes Reply.

Replying to the committee chairman, Borah, leader of the Republican independents, who is opposing the measure together with the Democrats, said a question of justice as well as delay was involved in the present situation. He contended it was "immaterial how long it takes to settle that kind of question so long as when it is settled it is settled right."

Borah said the Utah senator perhaps felt irritable about the progress being made with the bill, but added no man in his calmer moments could have supposed a bill like that reported by the finance committee majority could pass without prolonged discussion.

"The committee could have framed a bill that could have gone through within a short time," he continued, "but this bill was framed in defiance of the interests of the people, save a few special interests."

The Smoot-Borah exchange came in the midst of factional conferences looking to an arangement to facilitate action on the bill, which President Hoover would like to see passed and out of the way before the regular session in December.

No Agreement Reached.

The first of these parleys brought together Chairman Smoot and Senators Watson, of Indiana, the Republican leader; Robinson, of Arkansas, the minority chieftain, and Simmons, of North Carolina, ranking Democrat on the finance committee.

No formal agreement to speed action either by limiting debate or holding night sessions was reached, but a step toward an understanding to eliminate all possible delay was understood to have been taken.

After the conference, Robinson conferred with Borah to find out what cooperation might be expected from the independents. Borah said the method suggested for hurrying the bill was for limiting debate by understanding and not by a formal agreement and that was "perfectly all right" with him. Similar meetings are expected to be held today.

The probability of night sessions at an early date is believed to be out of the question, since Senators Borah and Robinson are opposed to them. Smoot reiterated yesterday he would like to see night meetings ordered immediately.

100 Amendments Wait.

While the talk about quicker action was proceeding, the Senate itself did little to help matters, disposing of only two amendments during the day. One of these, introduced by Senator Blaine (Republican), Wisconsin, and adopted without a roll call, would bar the importation of goods made by forced labor and indentured labor under penal sanctions, along with convict mined and manufactured commodities.

Another factor that apparently disturbed those seeking a hastening of debate was the notice served by Senator Brookhart (Republican), Iowa, that he would offer, at the suggestion of various farm organizations, 100 amendments to the agricultural schedule when these rates were reached.

Brookhart said he also would press for adoption of the debenture plan, as he did not believe the agriculture rate increases, which he believed would be adopted, would be effective on exportable crops.

BODY OF SLAIN NURSE EXAMINED; INQUIRY ON SCRIVENER IS PUSHED

Blease Says He Will Name Man Who Murdered Detective Ace.

MEMBER OF POLICE FORCE IS SUSPECTED

Lieut. Kelly Conducted Inquiry and Called It Suicide.

FATHER IS SEEKING IMPARTIAL INQUIRY

Senator Says Information on District Affairs Swamps Him.

Senator Cole Blease (Democrat), of South Carolina, yesterday promised that he soon would name the man who murdered Headquarters Detective Arthur Scrivener three years ago.

Senator Blease said he had been told that the murderer was a member of the Police Department, and Senator Heflin (Democrat), of Alabama, said he had been told the same thing. In reply to a suggestion by Heflin, the South Carolinian said he most certainly would ask for a senatorial investigation of the case.

With the Scrivener case injected into the proceedings, the forthcoming Senate investigation of District affairs and officials promises to be even more spectacular than its was expected to be at the outset.

Mystery Is Three Years Old.

Scrivener, an ace in the local Detective Bureau, was found dead in a Georgetown alley three years ago last Sunday. He was found with a bullet in his heart, a revolver at his feet, and a necktie clutched in his hand.

The popular theory was that he was murdered, and the average person needed no more than the necktie to bear out this theory. The supposition was that Scrivener had yanked the tie from his assailant's neck just before he was killed.

Lieut. Ed Kelly, who led the investigation, insisted, however, that Scrivener was a suicide. His theory was that Scrivener had used the tie as a blind to make it appear that he had been murdered.

Father Believes It Murder.

Interest in the case was revived when Turner Scrivener, the detective's father, declared over the week-end that he was convinced his son had been murdered. The elder Scrivener, a resident of Winchester, Va., appealed to Gov. Harry Byrd and Senators Claude A. Swanson and Carter Glass to have the investigation reopened.

The two senators had the telegrams which Scrivener sent them turned over to the subcommittee of the Senate District committee which, in accordance with a resolution adopted last week, is to conduct an investigation of conditions here.

Senator Sackett (Republican), of Kentucky, chairman of the subcommittee, will return to the city tomorrow, and it is expected that he will get together with the other members immediately to map out a program.

Information Pours In.

Senator Blease, who sponsored the investigation, revealed yesterday that he is being swamped with information about police and other officials, most

Scrivener Murdered, His Brother Believes

Garner Scrivener, an Akron, Ohio, detective, told The Post over the long-distance telephone last night that he was convinced that his brother, Headquarters Detective Arthur Scrivener, was murdered here three years ago.

"I am willing to go to Washington and tell the Senate committee why I think that Arthur was murdered," the brother said. "I always believed he was murdered. When I went to Washington at the time, the detectives there tried to talk me out of it. They tried to convince me that he had commited suicide, but they never shook my belief that he had been killed."

TWO DIE, TWO HURT IN PIKE AUTO CRASH

Aaron Lipman, of Baltimore, and Niece Instantly Killed at Dorsey.

PLANNED TRACK VISIT

Two persons were killed and two were critically injured yesterday, the toll of a head-on collision of two automobiles on the Washington-Baltimore boulevard at Dorsey, Md.

The dead are Aaron Lipman, 55 years old, and his niece, Elizabeth Lipman, 35 years old, both of Baltimore. Those critically injured are LeRoy Lipman and G. H. McCauley, also of Baltimore.

According to Maryland State police of the Laurel station, the Lipmans were motoring to the Laurel race track in a car driven by LeRoy Lipman. The other machine, driven by McCauley, was Baltimore bound. The machines met head-on, police said, killing the man and woman almost instantly and demolishing the vehicles.

LeRoy Lipman and McCauley, the police reported, were taken to a Baltimore hospital by passing motorists. Both were reported to have suffered fractured skulls and internal injuries.

Fire Also Sears Mother, Who Blames Light's Short Circuit.

Alexander Sivers, 3-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Sivers, of a basement apartment at 1506 R street northwest, was in a critical condition at Children's Hospital with burns about the body received at 8:50 o'clock last night in a small fire at the residence.

Mrs. Sivers also received treatment at the hospital for minor burns about the arms, suffered at the same time, when a short-circuit on a light at the side of the bed on which the baby was lying suddenly spurted a flame which enveloped the sheets in fire, according to Mrs. Sivers, who was burned while snatching the infant from the bed.

Engine Co. No. 9 and Truck Co. No. 2 responded and quickly extinguished the blaze.

Mrs. McPherson's Remains Are Taken to Town 6 Miles Away.

AUTOPSY EXPECTED TO YIELD NEW CLEWS

Nine Men Are Required to Lift Casket Filled With Water.

EVIDENCE OF DRUG IS SOUGHT BY AGENTS

Permit for Disinterment Readily Granted by County Official.

Special to The Washington Post.

Kannapolis, N. C., Oct. 14.—An autopsy over the exhumed body of Mrs. Virginia Hurley McPherson for five hours behind closed doors here ended at 10:30 o'clock tonight when Dr. J. D. Bullet, of the University of North Carolina, left here in company with three Department of Justice agents bearing three packages believed to contain organs of the slain woman.

No information was given out by either Dr. Bullet, the agents or the three other physicians present at the autopsy, all of whom departed in an automobile for Salisbury to remain overnight. The body of Mrs. McPherson was taken in another machine to the cemetery at China Grove, 6 miles north of here, for reinterment in the same grave from which the casket was taken this morning.

The body of Mrs. Virginia Hurley McPherson was removed from its grave at China Grove, N. C., yesterday morning and taken to the undertaking rooms of the H. B. Wilkinson Co. at Kannapolis, six miles away, where an autopsy was to have been performed last night or early today.

The autopsy is to determine whether the pretty nurse died from strangulation caused by the pajama cord found knotted about her neck, or whether death was due to some other cause not revealed in the cursory autopsy performed after the body was found on the floor of Mrs. McPherson's apartment in the Park Lane here on September 14.

Exhumation of the body was superintended by E. J. Connelly, F. R. Fay and J. E. Brennan, agents of the Bureau of Investigation of the United States Department of Justice, who were sent several days ago to China Grove from Washington. The only other person present was a representative of The Washington Post.

Water Fills Casket.

The heavy steel casket with which the girl's father, A. A. Hurley, of Chester, S. C., replaced the cheap pine box in which the body was shipped from Washington, was filled with water when it was lifted from the grave and the efforts of nine men were required to lift its weight.

As the body was being disinterred, Chief of Police R. A. Wike, of China Grove, patrolled the entrance to the cemetery, holding back a curious crowd that gathered at the gate. Only the Federal operatives, workmen and The Post's representative were permitted to enter the grounds.

Details as to the time and place of the second autopsy were veiled in strictest secrecy by Connelly, who also refused to divulge the name of the physician who will perform the autopsy. It is believed, however, that one of the leading physicians of Rowan County, in North Carolina, will officiate, and that the body will be reinterred at China Grove immediately thereafter.

Permission Granted Readily.

Permission for the exhumation was granted readily, after consideration, by Hurley, and in addition the Fed-

Hoover Careful to Remain Neutral at World Series

Before Leaving on Special Train, However, President Asks Mayor Mackey to Convey His Congratulations to Victorious Athletics.

(Associated Press.)

With plenty of occasion for praise on both sides, President Hoover maintained a keenly interested neutrality yesterday as the most distinguished spectator of the Philadelphia Athletics world series championship victory over the Chicago Cubs.

The President returned to Washington with a high regard for the winning team and before leaving Philadelphia asked that his congratulations be conveyed to Connie Mack and his youthful champions.

Accompanied by Mrs. Hoover and a small party, the President watched the game closely and frequently joined in the applause for a good play executed by either side. In the seventh inning, to affirm his neutrality, however, Hoover "stretched" when the Cubs went to bat, and again when the Phillies faced Pitcher Malone amid a bedlam of Philadelphia fan enthusiasm.

Just before departing for Washington, the President turned to Mayor Mackey of Philadelphia, who accompanied the Chief Executive to the train from Shibe Park, and said:

"I think I maintained neutrality pretty well, don't you, Mr. Mayor?"

The mayor assured the President he had and agreed to convey Hoover's congratulations to the victorious Athletics. Mrs. Hoover also expressed pleasure at having been able to attend such an exciting exhibition.

The trip to Philadelphia was made on the luxurious special train that brought Prime Minister MacDonald to the Capital last week. The short notice given by the White House at first caused arrangements to be made for two private cars to be attached to a regular Baltimore & Ohio passenger train but railroad officials were able to hurry the superior accommodations to Washington before the time set for Hoover's departure.

In addition to Mrs. Hoover, those in the President's party were the Attorney General and Mrs. Mitchell, Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, Claudius Huston, chairman of the Republican national committee; Walter Newton and Lawrence Richey, the President's secretaries, Mrs. Richey and Lieut. Com. Joel T. Boone, U. S. N., White House physician.

Arlington Sheriff Stops Fire Benefit

Concession Stand Woman Is Held on Charge of Gaming.

Sheriff Howard B. Fields, of Arlington County, walking in on the Sandy's shows, playing in Clarendon last night for the benefit of the Clarendon Fire Department, put the plant in darkness and arrested Margaret Evans who was taken to the county jail where she is held on a charge of running a gambling stand.

According to Sheriff Fields his telephone was working over time yesterday with calls from citizens that gambling was going on at the show which was advertised as a traveling carnival.

Going to the grounds last night he says he saw a stand on which dollar bills were tied to pegs which were to be rung with rings. One could either take the money or a watch. The sheriff claimed no one would take a watch when they could get the money.

"The fire departments of the county are not allowed to use wheels or any games of chance and I do not propose to allow any traveling show or carnival to come into Arlington County and run an open gambling game as I saw last night," said Fields.

Police Chemist Testifies Against Pantages in Trial

Last Witness for State Grilled by Defense Lawyers on Competency in Case Growing Out of Girl's Charge.

Los Angeles, Calif., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—The State today slowly approached the close of its case against Alexander T. Pantages, 54 years old, vaudeville magnate, being tried on a statutory charge. Police Chemist Rex Welch, who District Attorney Buron Fitts said would be the last prosecution witness, was subjected to a lengthy cross-examination by defense attorneys.

Welch identified clothing, presented as a State exhibit earlier in the trial and identified as that which Eunice Pringle, 17-year-old dancer and Pantages' accuser, had worn August 9, the day of the alleged attack, as garments he received for chemical examination. The chemist testified he was convinced the attack on the dancer had been made as charged.

Defense Attorney Joe Ford demanded Welch produce tangible proof of his experiment, and subpoenaed certain slides the chemist said he had used. Welch protested he could produce no additional proof than his notes and conclusions as an expert, as the materials he had used were perishable. Policewoman Hannah Beatty, who examined Miss Pringle the night of the alleged attack, and who was expected to testify, would not be called, Fitts said, as her place had been taken by Policewoman Katherine Bellus, of the juvenile bureau, who also made an examination. Mrs. Bellus described the torn condition of the girl's clothing and said Miss Pringle was hysterical and disheveled. She also described bruises she said she found on the girl's body.

Two police officers, L. F. Sitts and E. N. Lucks, testified. They said they assisted in the arrest of Pantages and Sitts said he returned to the scene of the alleged attack and picked up parts of broken beads. He identified bits of red glass beads previously admitted as a State exhibition as those he had found in the room in Pantage's theater building.

The chemist's slides later were produced and Welch identified them. Following a few brief questions, they were submitted as evidence. The re-eral operatives obtained a permit signed by Dr. C. W. Armstrong, of Salisbury, health officer of Rowan County.

Here in Washington, the Department of Justice devoted most of the day to summarizing the massive volumes of testimony accumulated from more than 100 witnesses who have been interviewed thus far.

Only one witness of major importance is known to have been quizzed yesterday. She was Miss Martha Berry, one of Virginia McPherson's closest friends. While neither Miss Berry nor any of the Federal agents would discuss the nature of her testimony, it is believed that she was questioned particularly with regard to a quantity of morphine which Mrs. McPherson is understood to have had in her possession shortly before her death.

Used Drug in Nursing Case.

According to previous testimony, which was not detailed nor specific, it was presumed that Mrs. McPherson had come into possession of the drug when it remained unused after completion of a nursing case upon which the nurse had been engaged. Mrs. McPherson had been quoted as speculating upon the quantity of morphine which might be required to cause death.

Dr. Thomas Ballard, former suitor of Virginia Hurley before her marriage to McPherson, is still in Washington, where he has remained in seclusion at the home of friends ever since he was questioned minutely at the office of the Department of Justice last Friday. Whether he will be questioned again is not yet known, and is believed to be dependent upon the results of other investigations upon which the Government operatives are concentrating at this time.

Tugs Fail to Float Liner Held on Reef

Divers Study Plan to Blast Rocks Holding Empress of Canada.

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Held in a vice-like grip by pinnacles which punctured three of its holds, the liner Empress of Canada still was aground today on the rocky shore of Somers Bay, near Albert Head, where it struck yesterday in a heavy fog. Efforts of salvage vessels to float it were futile.

The 96 passengers aboard were removed without confusion soon after the accident, but the crew of 200 remained on the vessel.

Divers inspected the hull to determine whether it would be feasible to blast or cut away the rocky points holding the liner.

The Salvage King, the Canadian Pacific Railway's powerful tug Kyuquot and two other vessels attempted to refloat the ship. Cargo is being removed to lighten the vessel.

Craft Knocks Him Off Seat and Crashes; Pilot, 17, Gets Subpena.

Curtiss Field, N. Y., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—A tractor driver engaged in planting grass seed was fatally injured today by an airplane which knocked him from his seat and crashed on top of him. The pilot, a 17-year-old student flier, escaped injury.

The tractor driver, Steven Kosoko, of Inwood, N. Y., was caught in the landing gear as the plane swooped down. He was carried 50 feet and crushed as the plane struck the ground smashing its right wing and landing gear.

Kosoko was hurried to a hospital, where he soon died.

The pilot, L. H. Green, of Yonkers, told police he did not see the tractor before the crash. He was given a subpena to appear before the district attorney tomorrow for an investigation.

Blease is sending such information to the office of Senator Sackett as fast as it comes in.

When he confers with Sackett, Blease said yesterday, he is going to suggest that the subcommittee first turn its attention to Chinatown. The South Carolina senator wants to inquire into the last tong murder there as well as the alleged selling of opium and the issuance of gun permits to three leaders of the larger of the two Chinese tongs.

Saturday Blease charged that an agent of his had purchased $3 worth of opium in Chinatown three days before. Yesterday he said that the purchaser was ready to go before the grand jury with his evidence any time he could be assured he would get action.

The debate in the Senate about the Scrivener case came yesterday after Senator Heflin had denounced the trial of Albert B. Fall as a "farcical performance."

Heflin Deplores Conditions.

Drifting into a discussion of conditions in general, Heflin said:

"My God, if these things continue, if criminals can go free as they have been going and murder continues rampant in the Capital, it will not be a safe place in which to live very long.

"We have got a terrible condition in the Capital. The President owes it to the Nation to have a housecleaning; he ought to go through these courts, ransack them and clean them out. The Police Department needs investigation.

"Now we are confronted this morning with a suggestion from an old man, whose son, a bright, fine policeman, Scrivener, was murdered in this city, and the same bunch that covers up crime so rapidly, said he committed suicide. His old father comes and asks them to investigate the death of the boy, and he is told by the same group as they told this fine Policeman Allen and the others who wanted to investigate the McPherson murder, to forget it."

Blease Agrees With Heflin.

In agreeing with Heflin that the Scrivener case should be reopened, Senator Blease said:

"I wish to say to the senator from Alabama that I do not think anybody doubts Scrivener was murdered except the man who murdered him and I think that there are certain people connected with the Police Department who know absolutely who did murder him."

At this point, Heflin declared that "it is said" that the murderer was in the Police Department, and Blease said he had been told the same thing.

Blease promised to name the murderer in a statement made off the floor after the debate was over.

Policeman Robert J. Allen, whose private investigation into the death of Virginia McPherson led the grand jury to find that it was a murder instead of a suicide, visited the Capitol yesterday to see Senator Blease and Senator Copeland (Democrat), of New York. Both senators, however, were busy and could not talk to him.

Court of World Appeals Is Seen

International Law Group to Make Special Study of Proposition.

Briar Cliff Manor, N. Y., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—The eventuality of a world court of appeals was visualized by the Institute of International Law at its thirty-sixth conference here today.

Possibility of establishing such a tribunal to take cognizance of appeals against decisions of international arbitral courts where conflicts arise over rules applicable to international law will be studied by a special committee of the institute during the coming year.

General satisfaction over the growing tendency of all nations to confide their disputes to an impartial tribunal was expressed by the institute, whose members include many of the leading jurists of the world.

DOCTORS CLASH OVER HOSPITALS

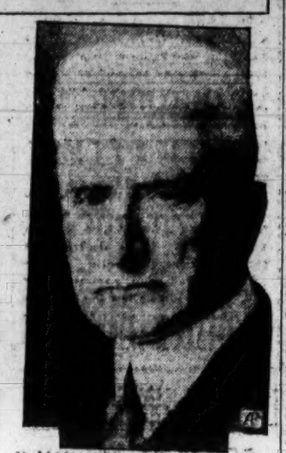
DR. W. J. MAYO.



DR. FRANKLIN H. MARTIN.

HOSPITALS RAPPED BY MAYO IN SPEECH

Surgeon Charges Too Little Humanity Is Used in Institutions.

DR. MARTIN DISSENTS

Chicago, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Dr. W. J. Mayo, surgeon and chief of staff of the Mayo Clinic, at Rochester, Minn., adversely criticized hospitals today in addressing the twelfth annual Hospital Standardization Conference, which prefaces the Clinical Congress of American College of Surgeons.

Dr. Mayo charged the hospitals with two much salesmanship and too little humanity. Supersalesmanship in management of some hospitals often resulted, he said, in the patient being placed in surroundings which, however they might appeal to his esthetic sense, were above his means.

"My own experience has been that patients in a well-planned ward, given moderate degree of privacy, on the whole will make a quicker recovery than in a private room with two attentive nurses who unobtrusively, in caring for the physical needs and increasing the happiness of the patient, may suggest a mental state in which the diseased condition is exaggerated sympathetically," he said.

Defends Trained Nurse.

Dr. Mayo defended the trained nurse, declaring that at present her fine training was wasted in scrubbing floors, making beds, giving patients baths and other tasks a hospital maid could be trained to do in six months.

Dr. Franklin H. Martin, president of the congress, came to the defense of hospitals. He said the average cost of hospital bed and board, which included general nursing, was lower than the cost of similar room and board at a respectable hotel.

Dr. Martin suggested it would be fair to give the patients in advance a probable estimate of the cost which would include hospital nursing, laboratory and operating room expenses. This would give patients who demanded the best of care an idea of the cost ahead of time, he said.

Average Incomes Cited.

The average income of physicians was low in comparison to the incomes of other professions, he said. "Twenty-five years ago an average income of an independent doctor in this country was less than $1,000. Today it is about $2,000."

Dr. Malcolm T. MacEachern, associate director of the college, reported that greater skill and better equipment have so greatly increased the efficiency of plants devoted to restoring human health that the average stay of patients in hospitals today has been cut to half what it was ten years ago. "The stay of most hospital patients today ranged from eight to fifteen days," Dr. MacEachern said.

Further, the mortality rate in hospitals has been cut in half in the past decade, he added.

Two Ministers Are Fined For Contempt of Court

Los Angeles, Calif., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—The Rev. R. P. Shuler, pastor of Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and the Rev. Gustave A. Briegler, prominent Presbyterian minister, today were adjudged in contempt of court by three superior court judges sitting en banc, and fined $75 and $25, respectively.

Contempt citations, brought by Superior Judge Carlos S. Hardy, who presided at the trial of Mrs. Lois Pantages on a second degree murder charge, alleged the ministers delivered addresses attempting to influence the course of the trial.

Plane Pilot Held For Fatal Crash

Manslaughter Is Charged When Passenger Dies; License Doubted.

Pontiac, Mich., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Frank Wrede, 32, of Detroit, pilot of an airplane which crashed 10 miles south of here yesterday, today was charged with involuntary manslaughter as a result of the death of Joseph Kel, 25, Detroit, passenger, who was fatally injured in the wreck.

Assistant Prosecutor Charles L. Wilson, of Oakland County, announced that as far as he could learn Wrede held only a student pilot's license and that he was acting contrary to Federal regulations when he took Kel up as a passenger.

The pilot was not seriously injured. Wrede said he lost control of the plane when his safety belt became unhooked as the ship was in a loop and that the plane went into a tail spin at an altitude of 2,000 feet while he attempted to keep from falling out.

300 Armagh Raiders Bomb Hibernian Hall

Loughgall, Northern Ireland, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—A new hall built by the Ancient Order of Hibernians in County Armagh, near here, was blown up Sunday by a party of nearly 300 armed men. The hall replaced an old frame building which had been maliciously destroyed by fire eight months ago.

The raiders arrived in the early hours of the morning, marching in military formation and carrying rifles. After removing the caretakers, a man and a woman, to safety, they laid about 20 charges of gelignite. When the charges were exploded, the cement walls of the building were wrecked. The raiders were not identified.

SHOW GIRL IS HELD IN MYSTERY DEATH

Steward Also Grilled When Slug Is Found in Corpse of Adventurer.

BODY TAKEN FROM RIVER

New Orleans, La., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—A New York show girl and a ship's steward were questioned today by the district attorney for light on the death of Jack Kraft, adventurer and sometime newspaperman, of New York, whose body was found in the Mississippi River today with a bullet hole in the chest.

The questioning only served to deepen the mystery; and the girl, Miss Ione Ord, listed as Kraft's foster sister, was held pending an investigation tomorrow. The steward, Sam Epstein, was released with instructions to appear at the hearing.

Kraft disappeared from the steamer Creole while steaming up the Mississippi River through Plaquemine Parish.

Jumped in River, Says Captain.

When the vessel docked here Friday, the captain reported that Kraft had leaped overboard, and the crew had been unable to recover the body. He said Epstein and the girl were the only persons to witness the leap.

Miss Ord, a tall, stylish brunette, who said she was on "a bumming trip" with Kraft from New York to Hollywood, went to a hotel. She was questioned later by Federal authorities, and they were satisfied with her explanation. But the finding of the body today with a bullet wound brought in the State authorities.

Epstein said he had known Kraft a long time, as he had made frequent sea trips, and expressed amazement at the bullet wound. He explained that he and Miss Ord were sitting on deck around midnight when Kraft came up the stairs from below, waved his hand, shouted "So long," and dived overboard. He was wearing a bathrobe, he added.

Bought Steerage Passage.

Kraft and the girl, he said, had bought steerage passage from New York to New Orleans, but the captain later gave them two deckrooms. They told him, he continued, they planned to spend a short time in New Orleans doing sketching and some writing and then hitch-hike to Hollywood.

The girl was a nervous wreck when she confronted the district attorney. She had no explanation for the bullet wound or of Kraft's death. She fainted once, but quickly recovered. Asked to describe Kraft, she took a pencil and drew a sketch, saying "That's like him."

Cracksmen Rob Safe Of $86, Money Orders

Safe robbers broke into the offices of the Lincoln Memorial Corporation at 1351 Wallack place northwest over the week-end and made off with $86 in cash and money orders and two cigarette lighters, valued at $10 each.

The robbery was discovered yesterday morning by Benjamin P. Edwards, manager of the firm. Police reported that the crackamen gained entrance by forcing open a side window of the office and smashed off the combination dial of the safe.

Ship Owners Balk At Geneva Parley

Delegates Withdraw From Maritime Talk in Labor Office.

Geneva, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Representatives of ship owners in 30 countries stood far apart today from the work of the international labor office conference on maritime questions, although they postponed execution of their declared intention of formally withdrawing. Their plan of action tonight remained undisclosed.

They had failed to have the conference instruct governments concerned to appoint as representatives of workers delegates from the seamen's union in similar conferences hereafter, but it was understood there was much division among them as to the practical wisdom of completely retiring to support their stand.

It was called to their attention today by a representative of the British government that the ship owners, having accepted appointment to the conference by their governments, had not the technical right to withdraw, but might only ask their governments to relieve them of the status of delegates.

Lindberghs Land At New York Field

Colonel and Wife End Trip From Capital After 5-Hour Flight.

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh landed here at 5:30 p. m. today after a flight from Washington. They stopped first at Curtiss Field, at Valley Stream, where the colonel left his own plane. They made the short hop from Curtiss Field in a smaller plane.

Although Lindbergh took off from Washington approximately five hours before he landed here, he gave no explanation of the unusual length of the flight. Asked whether he had stopped in Philadelphia to see the world's series game, he had nothing to say.

Alighting from the small plane, Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh went at once to their waiting automobile and drove from the field.

FALL FIGHTS DATA ON SINCLAIR DEALS

DAUGHERTY ON STAND

(Associated Press.)

Attempts of Government counsel in the bribery trial of Albert B. Fall to introduce testimony showing his dealings with Harry B. Sinclair, oil operator, now in the District of Columbia Jail, are awaiting a decision of Justice William Hitz on whether such evidence is admissible.

Defense counsel opposed its presentation and Justice Hitz took the question under advisement until court opens today. The Government told the court that such testimony would require only a short time and that, except for this, its case against Fall was complete. The former Interior Secretary is charged with having accepted $100,000 for the Elk Hills, Calif., lease.

The defense contended that to open the Sinclair case would require all the evidence of that transaction to go before the jury, if it were permitted. Frank Hogan, chief defense counsel, said the defense would require five or six days, bringing the end of the case into next week. Otherwise, he said, Fall's defense would be completed in from two to four days.

Held to Show Intent.

Owen J. Roberts, special Government counsel, argued the testimony was admissible to show Fall's intent, the different versions of stories he told as to where and how he received the money from Sinclair, and to prove that he had told the Senate oil committee that he had never received money for oil lands, or any other reasons, from either Doheny or Sinclair.

Fall, he said told the Senate committee that he and his son-in-law and his daughter's estate owned equal parts in the Tres Ritos Ranch in New Mexico but that at Sinclair's trial evidence was introduced to show that $233,500 Fall received from Sinclair was for one-third interest in the ranch.

Hogan maintained that what Fall had done in 1921 when he received $100,000 from Edward L. Doheny could not show in any way his intent in May of the following year, when his son-in-law received $233,500 from Sinclair.

The Government's case moved fast yesterday, testimony concerning the actual lease of the Elk Hills Naval Reserve to the Pan-American Petroleum & Transport Co. going into the record together with documents to show that the company resold the oil to the associated company, intended to show that the company received the lease at low royalties which enabled it to resell the oil at a profit.

Others Tell of Dealings.

Paul Shoup, president of the Southern Pacific Railroad, who was president of the Pacific Oil Co. and the Associated Oil Co. in 1921 and 1922; J. N. Atwill, manager of the Standard Oil Co. of California, and H. L. Westbrook, treasurer of the Belridge Oil Co., in turn told of their dealings with the Government about the time the Elk Hills lease was negotiated. They identified correspondence regarding the Elk Hills oil wells and Shoup pointed out his company's holdings on a map.

Harry M. Daugherty, former Attorney General, was on the stand for a few minutes and testified that his department had not rendered any opinions on the Elk Hills lease.

Auths Victorious In Injunction Suit

Construction Firm Is Loser in Action Regarding Stock Issue.

Justice Wendell P. Stafford in District Supreme Court yesterday dismissed the suit for injunction brought by the Loehler Construction Co. against Henry J. Auth, of 5201 Thirty-eighth street northwest, and John N. Auth, of 405 Sixth street southwest.

The suit was brought against Henry J. Auth, as treasurer of the construction company, and John N. Auth, as vice president. It was alleged that the Auths had not paid for certain stock in the construction company which had been issued to them. It also was alleged that the defendants had been collecting rents on property belonging to the company and had made loans from funds of the company and had retained commissions thereon. In addition to seeking an injunction the plaintiff also asked damages in the sum of $250,000.

The Auths did not answer the suit, merely filing motions for dismissal. Justice Stafford dismissed the suit after hearing arguments on these motions. The Auths were represented by Attorneys Tobriner & Graham, while the plaintiffs was represented by Attorney Alfred Cerceo.

Smoot Arraigned In Police Attack

Case Is Continued Pending Result of Injuries to Policeman.

Thomas Edward Smoot, 24 years old, of Ballston, Va., pleaded not guilty yesterday in Police Court when arraigned on a charge of felonious assault on Policeman Benjamin F. Houze, of the Eighth Precinct, in connection with the same affray in which the policeman shot and killed William Douglas, 40-year-old boilermaker, employed at the Navy Yard.

Judge John P. McMahon continued the case until October 22 pending the recovery of Policeman Houze, who is undergoing treatment for injuries at Emergency Hospital. Bond was assessed at $5,000.

Smoot is alleged to have assaulted the policeman when the latter attempted to quiet a party in an apartment house. Douglas is alleged to have struck the policeman with his night stick, an act, which it is said, caused the policeman to shoot and kill him.

Gunshot Wound Kills Boy of Five at Play

Detroit, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Elliott Gust, 5 years old, died here late today of a gunshot wound in the chest, presumably inflicted while he played with other children near his home.

The mother said she found her child wounded on returning from a grocery store after leaving him only a short time before playing with two other children. Police are investigating.

DAY IN CONGRESS

SENATE.

Met at 11 and recessed at 5:10 to 11 today.

Adopted an amendment to bar the importation of any goods made with enforced labor or with indentured labor under penal sanctions.

Chairman Smoot of the finance committee branded as "preposterous" the charge of Senator Borah (Republican), of Iowa, that the Republican majority was responsible for the slow progress of the tariff bill.

Borah said the majority was disregarding the interests of the consumer and the country generally.

Senator Heflin (Democrat), Alabama, and Sentor Blease (Democrat), South Carolina, said tthey had heard a member of the Police Department had murdered the late headquarters detective, Arthur Scrivener.

Senator Bratton (Democrat), New Mexico, introduced a bill to put air commerce under the Interstate Commerce Commission.

HOUSE.

Met at noon and recessed at 12:30 to noon Thursday.

Decided to extend the agreement not to transact any business until November 11 in anticipation of further delay in Senate action on the tariff bill.

Adopted a resolution of regret over the death of Representative Kvale (Farmer-Labor), of Minnesota.

GREAT LAKE MOVES ON TOWARD MIAMI

Water Covers Millions of Acres; Many Homes in Hialeah Flooded.

BIG DITCH WILL BE CUT

Miami, Fla., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Millions of acres of water, forming a gigantic lake slowly across country toward Miami and the country to the south, were seen late today when G. Carl Adams, engineering head of Glenn H. Curtiss properties, made an aerial survey of the section north of Hialeah.

The entire section was covered by a silver sheet, Adams said. In the center the Miami Canal raced into Hialeah and Miami, overflowing in many places.

The flood condition in the residential and business sections of Hialeah remains the same, with many stores and homes flooded. No general evacuation of the city had been reported tonight. Relief work was being administered by the American Legion.

The Miami City Commission this afternoon appropriated an emergency fund of $21,000 for cutting a drainage ditch in the southwest section of the city to reduce the high water. A fund of $1,000 also was appropriated by the city for relief purposes.

The object of the aerial survey was to determine if the west dyke, some distance north of Hialeah, had broken. Adams discovered a break in one place and the water was seeping over the top at two other spots.

Ernest Graham, superintendent of the Pennsylvania Sugar Co., said last reports showed the water was approximately two feet higher than sea level.

Funds for Expansion Asked by Library

Increased appropriations to permit needed expansion of its quarters and service was urged in the annual report of the trustees of the Public Library submitted to the District Commissioners yesterday.

Establishment of an increased number of branches, larger book and binding funds and increased personnel were listed among the needs of the library. The report declared that Washington lags behind other cities in its per capita expenditure for its Public Library service. George F. Bowerman, librarian, reported book circulation last year as 1,561,521. The number of new borrowers was given as 24,491, making the total number 74,950.

German War Pilot Is Now Missionary

Flier Plans Expedition to Christianize Pagan Lands of Africa.

New York, Oct. 14.—A German war pilot, who has become a Catholic missionary, arrived aboard the liner Deutschland today and announced plans for an expedition to bring Christianity to Pagan lands of Africa. He said the two living members of the crew of the Bremen, the first airplane to fly the Atlantic east to west, were associated with him in the enterprise.

The missionary is the Rev. Paul Schulte, of the Oblate Brotherhood of Cologne. He came to this country to seek help of Catholics in America for an expedition which, he said, would take him and Capt. Herman Koshl and Col. James Fitzmaurice, pilots of the Bremen, to Amboland, in southwestern Africa.

Amboland remains one of the least known places on the globe, Father Schulte said, adding that the natives have never heard of Christianity and their state is one of complete paganism.

Law Enforcement Unit Meets Today

Largest Group Attendance Since Formation Is Anticipated.

(Associated Press.)

With the selection of experts to help them investigate prohibition and five other divisions of their inquiry still before them, the Hoover Law Enforcement Commission today will begin a two or three day discussion of their progress and problems.

Although no definite information has been given concerning the commission's agenda, it is likely that expert assistance will hold an important place. All members except Judge William S. Kenyon are expected to be present—the largest group attending any monthly meeting since they organized.

Preliminary reports may be heard from the five experts gathering available information of the volume of crime; causes of crime, particularly psychiatric aspects; police; prosecutions; Federal courts, and foreign-born and criminal justice.

The commission may have before it today responses of a number of governors to chairman Wickersham's letter asking for their suggestions. Many have been received.

R-101 MEETS TESTS IN 300-MILE FLIGHT

World's Greatest Airship Sails Over London on First Trial.

AVERAGES 55 MILES

Cardington, England, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Taking advantage of perfect flying weather, the much-criticised British dirigible R-101 slipped away from her mooring mast today and made a 300-mile trial flight over southeastern England.

She cruised over London giving the city a chance to see the largest airship in the world, which cost England $5,000,000 to build.

Maj. G. H. Scott, aeronautic expert who commanded the R-101, said the flight had been "very satisfactory."

"The whole handling of this big airship proved much easier than we hoped," he said. "The noise of the engines was slight in the passenger cars. It was comfortable indeed.

Flies Over London.

"We passed over Buckingham Palace, Westminster, then over the city and straight back home. The ship handled very well and answered her controls with the greatest ease. We went easy at first and worked up to something over 50 miles an hour. We will have the speed trials later."

The airship made an average speed of 55 miles an hour, covering the 300 miles in five hours and 34 minutes. Experts had disputed about the speed of which she is capable, most of them maintaining that the best she can do is much less than the 85 miles an hour which she was designed to do.

One novel feature of the cruise was a parachute drill, corresponding roughly to lifeboat drill aboard an ocean liner. This was held at an altitude of 2,000 feet.

The drill, which was for the purpose of acquainting passengers and crew with their aerial life stations, followed the procedure of lifeboat drill. Parachutes were distributed in various parts of the airship, some in the control rooms and some in the gondolas. This exposed the unpleasant fact that for 52 persons aboard there were only 50 parachutes.

Another Giant Ready.

After the R-101 had completed her trial flight, it was announced that the other giant dirigible, R-100, now was finished and ready for trials. She is expected to leave Howden Hangar next week, proceeding direct to Cardington. There is no mooring mast at Howden.

Maj. Scott said, after the R-101 had been safely moored, that it might be necessary to carry out some slight adjustments in her. It is probable that another test flight will be made on Wednesday.

The airship's commander announced that the R-101 had reached a speed of 58 miles an hour with three engines.

Hot Metal Blast Kills Four Men

Explosion Caused by Ladle Tipping Its Contents Into Water.

Pittsburgh, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Four men were killed and seven others burned today in an explosion of hot metal at the plant of the National Tube Co., McKeesport. The blast occurred when molten metal overflowed from a ladle into water.

Julius Burtasky, 45, McKeesport, was killed almost instantly and Carl Hoofman, 30, and Philip Sandmeyer, 49, both of Greencok, and John Hando, 19, died later in a hospital from burns.

Hot metal was showered over a considerable area in the plant. The blast was heard over the McKeesport district. An investigation was started at once to fix responsibility.

MARRIED MAN HELD AS GIRL STRANGLER

'Model Husband' Confesses to Slaying Companion at Road House Party.

SECOND WOMAN FLEES

Chicago, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—John E. Preston, an interior decorator, whose wife believed him a "model husband," was held to the Dupage County grand jury today without bail on a charge of murder.

He confessed, authorities said, to assaulting and slaying Miss Agnes Johnston, 26, with whom he had a clandestine meeting Saturday night.

Preston, at first denying he had killed the young woman, finally admitted strangling her to death. He waived a preliminary examination. The grand jury is now in session and probably will consider his case this week.

Preston confessed to Sheriff Lawrence Hattendorf that with Miss Johnston and her companion, Miss Mathilda Murphy, he drove to a roadhouse near West Chicago, using a rented car. He had told his wife he would have to work late.

During the evening, Preston drank considerable liquor and the girls asked to be taken home. Miss Murphy said he became offensive and they jumped from the car. He gave chase, catching Miss Johnston. In his confession Preston told of assaulting her and finally killing her as she resisted his advances. He hid her body under some weeds and brush, abandoned the rented car and started for home. His disheveled and unsteady condition aroused suspicion and a street car conductor notified police who arrested him even before the crime had been discovered.

It was not until Miss Murphy, alarmed by the absence of her friend, called the police and told them of the affair that the slaying became known. They found the body and Preston broke down after at first maintaining that robbers had taken the girl from him.

Explorers Club Names Lindbergh

Three Others Are Voted Honorary Memberships in Organization.

New York, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—The Explorers Club today announced it had voted honorary memberships to Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and three others whose achievements have been in the field of exploration. The other three are Brig. Gen. David L. Brainard, one of the two surviving members of the Greeley Arctic expedition of 1882-84; Capt. Sir Hubert Wilkins, Arctic and Antarctic explorer, and Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews, curator of the New York Museum of Natural History, who has led several archeological expeditions into the Gobi Desert.

The certificates of membership are to be presented at the club's annual dinner January 18. The award to Col. Lindbergh was made for his work in opening new air lines to South America in the Pathfinder.

Gen. Brainard, one of the seven survivors of the 25 original members of the Greeley expedition, who were marooned on Cape Sabine for two years, was a sergeant at the time and rose from the ranks. Last year he was presented with the club's medal for outstanding achievement.

BURNS PROVE FATAL TO RANDOLPH SCION

Members of Virginia Family Is Victim of Fire Caused by Cigarette Butt.

DRANK BEFORE TRAGEDY

New York, Oct. 14 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Charles Randolph, 25, a member of the socially prominent family of Virginia and New York, was found burnt to death in his room at the Hotel Belmont today, his charred body lying on unscorched sheets.

Cigarette butts studding the bedroom floor, two empty gin bottles, fragments of burnt pajamas scattered over the bathroom and a black sink in which the faucets were opened wide, indicated to the police how he had met his death, which was recorded as accidental.

Bessie McKeon, a maid, went to room 123 of the hotel today at noon to make up the beds. No answer came to her knock. She opened the door to find all the lights on and a dark body lying on top of one of the twin beds.

Charred Body Is Found.

When police came to the scene twenty minutes later they found that only a piece of pajama sleeve clothed the body and that there was no sign of a fire in the bedroom. The ashes of pajamas in the bathroom, a half-burnt towel, and the black marks on the sink showed that Randolph after setting himself on fire, probably with a cigarette butt, had tried to put out the flames in the bathroom and then, stupefied with pain and drink, dragged himself back to bed where he died, the police and Medical Examiner Norris said.

His physician, Dr. H. A. Osserman, told the police Randolph had developed some insensitiveness to pain in his arms and legs through disease and might not have realized how badly he had been burnt. An autopsy will be performed tomorrow morning.

Charles Randolph is a brother of Edmund Randolph, a broker of Livingston & Co. of this city, and a son of Mrs. Edmund Randolph, of New York.

Drank Heavily, Police Say.

Randolph had been drinking heavily for the past eight years, Capt. John Griffith of the detective division, told reporters after questioning Edmund Randolph and Dr. Osserman.

For the past four and a half months he has been under the care of Dr. Osserman, first staying at the Neurological Institute and then going to the Blackstone Hotel. An inveterate smoker in bed, he burned his sheets at the Blackstone, later repeating the incident at the Plaza Hospital.

Asked to leave the Commodore only a week ago because of his drinking, Capt. Griffith said, Randolph registered at the Belmont Hotel on October 11.

Nurse Was Dismissed.

He dismissed his nurse over the past week-end, but Miss Margaret St. John came to visit him on Sunday evening, filling a prescription for him, and taking care of him until he fell asleep at about 9 o'clock that evening.

No smoke or disturbance from Randolph's room gave any indication of the accident until the maid found him today, dead for several hours.

The Randolphs of Virginia, of which he was a member, form one of the most noted families socially and historically in the country. Before living in New York Charles Randolph had made his home in Grenewich, Conn., the town under which he registered at the Belmont.

The Listening Post

By CARLISLE BARGERON

IT IS doubtful if Premier Ramsay MacDonald has a counterpart in this country. Certainly there is none in public life.

Alfred E. Smith is the nearest approach but his magnetism lies in his understanding of and sincere feeling for his fellow man. About MacDonald there is still something else.

He is a man that would be happy and hungry at the same time. His mind is right with the world. One can not imagine any hatreds or prejudices entering that mind of his. It is happy and eloquent all the time.

Such is his mind, in fact, such are his thoughts, that one can visualize his being stoned, being tortured, yet feeling no physical pain.

* * * *

APPARENTLY no worries over hard economic facts, no fears of the shortcomings of his fellow man, or other problems of this mundane sphere that bring wrinkles to the ordinary man's brow, ever enter to perturb his thoughts. He thinks, he sees, he hears and talks in terms of poetry. Such is the cleanliness of his mind.

And it is this mind that has sustained him in the dark moments of his life, when he was but a minor politician in an infant political movement, again when he was being figuratively stoned for opposing his country's entrance into the war.

It can not be that he suffered at any of these times. Physical woe may have been all around him, there was quite likely physical pain. But his mind was so happily at ease that it could have received nothing but a dull impression at worst.

* * * *

ANYONE who talked with him when he was here for even a brief time must have felt the mystic something about him; the mystic utterances with which he was wont to dismiss what seemed insupersible obstacles to other men. At no time apparently, does he suffer the mental whirl of confused, ponderous things. It is doubtful if he ever had a headache, if there has ever been a beating and surging under his skull.

The sun must always be shining there, with the flowers in full bloom, and withal a clearness of course for the thoughts that flow incessantly to and fro.

Certainly, his is a mind wholly unlike that of President Hoover. It would have been interesting to observe the two of them when they met by the Rapidan log fire, the one a mind that has always dealt with economic practicabilities, the other steeped in the poetry of life. And yet their rise has been virtually the same.

* * * *

ONE thing about a man like the British premier. There can be no turning back. His mind is not the kind that ponders the personal consequences of his action. One feels that it matters not to him whether he is repudiated by the electorate for his present peace undertaking. His mind sees clear ahead.

He would be looking that way should utter political adversity overtake him, just as happy, indeed, as he ever was. Because he would still be living in that happy mind.

Such is the steadfastness of a man like this to a cause, in fact, that it is impossible to conceive him in the United States Senate, swapping a 50 per cent tariff increase with another senator in order that he would be able to go home and show a 25 per cent one. A mind like MacDonald's does not worry about a job.

MANN GROUP PLANS PARLEY TO CAPTURE SOUTHERN UNIT

however, that Callaway's statement was part of the prearranged plan.

Asserting that "Abraham Lincoln issued a proclamation which freed the physical South," Callaway's statement declared, "there will be issued within the next 30 days a proclamation which will emancipate the South politically. It will be issued by one of the South's most beloved sons, a man who is a true and loyal Republican and an unquestioned friend of President Hoover and the administration.

South's Desires Described.

"The South supported Mr. Hoover because he personified all that the South believes in. * * * He has rendered to the South already something of inestimable value."

Then asserting that among the "better people of the South" there has always existed a "latent or dormant" desire for the two-party system and that Hoover's candidacy brought this desire out last November, the statement expresses the determination that this "desire" shall continue to manifest itself, whether Mr. Hoover or Messrs. Brown, Newton and Burke are keen for it or not.

"After the election," the statement continues, "the old forces and old influences which had commercialized the Republican party since the Civil War and which were overthrown last year, began to again assert itself and to seek control of the party machinery. This influence knew that it could not reach the President except through some of his friends in whom he had confidence. This adverse influence found a sympathetic ear in Messrs. Brown, Newton and Burke. They have sought to restore the old order of things in the South and have used the power of patronage to accomplish that result. In doing that, they have either intentionally or unintentionally betrayed the best interests of the President in the South."

New Republicans Above Patronage.

But the new Republicans in the South that Hoover brought out are above patronage, Callaway insists, "and within the next three months the South will be as a unit in the hands of outstanding men and women who will control and influence public opinion throughout the South, standing behind the President and his administration for all constructive measures.

"Florida and some other of the Southern States already have such an organization, and similar organizations will be built throughout the entire South in spite of the power and influence of the patronage controlled by the three gentlemen above named. This leadership will then unite in the building of a great Southern organization, united together under a common bond, determined to accomplish that which is best for the people of the South, under the leadership of the South's most beloved and most capable Republican leader."

Asserting that this Southern organization is in no wise to work against the President, but with him, the statement nevertheless points out:

200 G. O. P. Delegates Claimed.

"At the same time it will be in position to secure for the South that to which it is justly and fundamentally entitled. We will have within this organization more than 200 delegates to the next Republican national convention and we will then be in position to talk some practical politics."

The seriousness of the threat made by the Mann forces lies in the fact that because of the increased Republican vote in the South last November it will have some 100 additional delegates in the next convention, that, all told, it will have nearly a third of the convention strength.

"The South was disappointed," the statement continues, "because no Southern man was appointed to the Cabinet and no man from the far South was made a member of the Federal Farm Board, but some of us have come to understand that it is hard to keep practical politics out of the operations of the Government, and that we need not expect much representation in the administration of the Government until we have two or three hundred Southern delegates, intelligent, capable men and women united together and in position to demand their rights. We will have that at the national convention in 1932."

Callaway Worked for Hoover.

Callaway is quite an orator and was, in fact, one of the main spellbinders that the Hoover forces relied upon in the contests before the credentials committee at Kansas City during the convention. He is an example, in fact, of the new type of Southern Republicans that Mann developed for the campaign, not that he has not always been a Republican, but he was like a needle in a haystack until the unsual campaign which Smith's candidacy developed.

There is every reason to believe that Mann approved his statement.

Its issuance and the inauguration of the move to capture the Southern delegates is an admission of Mann's failure to get recognition even at the hands of the new Republican national chairman, Claudius C. Huston.

The Mann forces were prepared at the time of the recent meeting here of the Republican national committee, with Callaway and Glenn B. Skipper, Republican national committeeman, acting as the field lieutenants, so to speak, to bring their feud with the triumvirate to a head. But they were given to understand that Mann was to be recognized, that Mann, in fact, was to take an office in the Barr Building, to sit at the right hand of Huston. The weeks have passed and this has not developed. The Mann forces have come to the conclusion that they were soft-soaped. That is the explanation of their present move

MONTGOMERY UNIT PLANS NEW ROAD

Council, Civic Federation Has Massachusetts Avenue Extension in View.

AUTO TAX BILLS READY

Discussion of the plan to extend Massachusetts avenue to River road and Conduit road was the feature of the meeting last night of the Montgomery Council Civic Federation in the Bethesda School, Bethesda, Md.

As proposed by the Maryland Park and Planning Commission, the extension would take over River road and would meet Conduit road at the eastern edge of the Bannockburn Country Club. If the plan is fully executed the name—River road—will be changed to Massachusetts avenue.

Definite action on the proposal is expected at the meeting of the federation next month.

Federation Plans Dinner.

Coincident with the opening of the new highway between Silver Spring and Bethesda the federation plans to hold a dinner. Members of Congress and District officials will be among the guests.

Edward Hege, president of the Inter-Federation Council, proposed that the organization ask the Maryland Gas Co. to lengthen the period of grace for paying gas bills from ten to fifteen days after issuance of the bill. His proposal received no action.

At the next meeting, November 11, officers will be elected.

Auto Tax Bills Ready.

Automobile tax bills for Montgomery County for the fiscal year which began July 1, are being prepared in the office of the county treasurer, J. Forrest Walker, at Rockville, Walker announced yesterday, but will not be mailed until automobile license applications are received from the commissioner of motor vehicles at Baltimore.

The tax must be paid before the application for 1930 license tags can be returned to the motor vehicle commissioner's office and, as evidence of payment, must be perforated by the county treasurer. It is planned to mail both the tax bills and the application blanks for license tags at the same time in order that automobile owners of the county can pay their bills and have the card perforated at the same time, in order to avoid trips to Rockville.

Walker said yesterday that approximately 12,000 tax bills and applications for license tags will be mailed about November 25, in accordance with an agreement with the motor vehice commissioner.

Girl, 23, Poisoned, But Life Is Saved

Face and Lips Are Badly Burned; Questioning Proves Futile.

Attracted by a woman's screams, Traffic Policeman E. S. Grumptill, stationed at the street car intersection at Dupont Circle, last night found Catherine Sheen, 23 years old, writhing in pain on a bench in the circle. Beside her lay a partially empty one-ounce bottle containing poison.

The traffic officer removed the girl to the Emergency Hospital, where Dr. L. Lewis, of the hospital staff, treated her. Her condition was reported to be not serious, though her face and lips are badly burned.

Persistent questioning failed to elicit any reason for despondency.

Miss Sheen told the policeman she lived on New Hampshire avenue northwest, between O and Corcoran streets. At the address given the officer was told that she was not living there, but had some of her clothing at the house.

Education Board Election Opposed

Piney Branch Citizens in Favor of Retaining Present System.

After an informal discussion of the District school system generally, the Piney Branch Citizens Association last night reiterated its opposition to the election of Board of Education members at its meeting in Hamline Methodist Episcopal Church, Sixteenth and Allison streets northwest. Only one dissenting vote was cast on the motion, and all participants in the discussion expressed belief that the present system of appointing Board of Education members was superior to their selection by referendum.

The water department and its methods of operation also were discussed in a perfunctory manner. Several of the association's members questioned the advisability of continuing the use of meters, since an ample supply of water is now available. They suggested that a flat water rate should be used. Opinion also was advanced that the Federal Government should bear a part of the expense of the water system, since it uses about one-third of the entire supply.

Stray Dog Bites Boy, 4.

While playing in front of his home at 4506 Forty-ninth street northwest, yesterday, 4-year-old William Arrington was bitten on the upper lip by a stray dog. He was removed to Emergency Hospital in a passing car, and after receiving treatment returned to his home.

Dairy Show Officials Greet Air-Minded Calf

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—A feature of Arkansas day at the National Dairy show was arrival this afternoon by air of Count Pulaski, a 3-month-old Guernsey calf, the property of Capt. Hugh Barclay, of Pulaski, N. Y., who recently took him 1,250 miles by air for a dairy development program at Little Rock.

The flying calf arrived at Lambert-St. Louis Flying Field after a four-hour trip from Little Rock in a monoplane with a stall behind the pilot's seat. Count Pulaski was received by a committee of dairy show officers, escorted to the city hall for an official greeting by Mayor Victor Miller and placed in a stall at the dairy show arena.

LABOR CONVENTION RECORDS POLICIES

Green Dissents From View of Legion on Wealth Conscription in War.

AGE PENSION PENDS

Toronto, Ontario, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Between intervals of sharp-edged debate, the American Federation of Labor convention made considerable progress today toward recording union labor policies and programs for the coming year, and took in a set speech or two as well.

Maj. C. L. Bodenheimer, newly elected commander of the American Legion, brought delegates the greetings regularly exchanged between veterans and the trades union central body and drew an official response from William Green, president and convention spokesman, touching the Legion's position in favor of conscription of capital and man power in time of war.

Though always willing to unite with the Legion, Green said, the federation could not consider it consistent in a nation working for peace to advance conscription in time of peace, and doubted also the constitutionality of the capital conscription suggested.

Acts on Coal Legislation.

Setting to its official work, the convention quickly and without question assented to an expression of opinion favoring enactment of Federal legislation to meet the coal industry's difficulties; and after some argument accepted also a proposal for voluntary national registration of aliens residing in the United States.

It reaffirmed opposition to the "equal rights" Constitutional amendment put forward by some feminine organizations, on the ground that it meant abrogation of legislation limiting hours and conditions of work for women in industry.

It approved, without debate, a resolution urging State legislation to confine use of convict labor to articles of State and local government consumption, and it likewise voted, without a single negative, a series of resolutions relating to civil service employes of the Federal Government.

Support for Wage Raising.

These included support for wage raising acts, and for bills proposing increased pension, and half-day work throughout the year on Saturday. One referred the question of how best to support preference for war veterans to the federation's executive board.

Another of more general nature, appealed to the Postoffice Department to alter its accounting system, so that $150,000,000 per year, alleged to be the value of franking and other public welfare service, should not be allowed to swell the national postal deficit.

Congress was urged to abolish the sea service bureau of the shipping Board, which has incurred the disapproval of the seamen's union, and likewise enforce a requirement that ships collecting postal subventions should have at least 50 per cent of American citizenship in crew. The Navy Department was asked to keep its sailors from performing maintenance work on Navy vessels in American ports, and the Government was asked to set up an appeal board to hear the case of any Government employe discharged by a supervising officer.

Unanimity ceased to be the rule only when Matthew Woll, vice president of the federation and chairman of its resolutions committee, came forward with the preliminary report favoring State old-age pension systems, on which topic two resolutions were left pending.

Attacks Strike Injunctions.

John P. Frey, secretary of the metal trades departments, attacked the program on the ground that labor should be centering its entire attention on curtailing use of injunctions in labor disputes. Andrew Furuseth, president of the seamen's organization, supported Frey, though John H. Walker, president of the Illinois federation, and Victor Olander, secretary of the seamen's organization, stood by the chairman.

Adjournment was taken before the old-age pension resolutions came up, the question having arisen merely on the favorable report of the committee on the subject.

Citizens Group to Hear Yaden.

James G. Yaden, prominent in local civic affairs, will address the meeting of the Southwest Washington Citizens Association at 8 o'clock tomorrow night in the Fairbrother School, Tenth and E streets southwest, on the topic, "The Elective School Board." W. Worthington Bowie and Principal John Thomas, of the Jefferson School, will also speak.

SPEEDBOAT OWNERS PROTEST SHOOTINGS

Representative R. M. Clancy Lodges Two Complaints Against Coast Guard.

DETAILS ARE RECITED

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Representative Robert M. Clancy made public here late today the complaint to him of two speedboat owners that Government agents had unwarrantedly fired upon their craft Saturday. The complainants were F. H. Burke, of Detroit, and Herbert W. Lancashire of Toledo, Ohio, whose protest came through an intermediary.

A request for an investigation of the incidents was sent by the congressman to Rear Admiral F. C. Billard, chief of the Coast Guard service with headquarters in Washington. Government officials here declined to discuss the complaints with newspapermen.

Representative Clancy said Burke reported to him that the agents fired without warning on his craft after dark Saturday as it neared a dock near Wind Mill Pointe on Lake St. Clair, a short distance from Detroit. At least five shots were fired before the Government boat, which Burke said bore the number of 5553, drew alongside the Burke boat and two agents, who gave their names as Hunter and McGuire, came aboard.

To a protest which came from one of Burke's three guests, one agent is accused of having retorted:

"You are lucky we didn't kill you."

Burke also claimed that the agents said they were firing at him.

The Toledo man's report was that Government agents fired upon him his wife and her sister, Saturday, as the three were struggling to keep their course during a blow on Lake Erie. They were en route from Putinbay to Toledo. Rather than risk the swamping of his boat in the trough, Lancashire outdistanced the Government boat, the congressman said he was informed.

Last week representative Clancy sent to Washington a protest of the reported firing by Government agents upon a speedboat belonging to Lawrence Fisher, vice president of the General Motors Corporation. The captain and a friend of the automobile man were aboard the craft.

HYATTSVILLE PLANS PAID POLICE FORCE

Council Disclaims Intention of Reverting to Bailiff and Fee System.

OLD CHIEF SEEKS POST

Denying that it had any intention of returning to the bailiff and fee system, the town council of Hyattsville, Md., last night adopted a police department reorganization plan proposed by the police committee which provides for a full-time paid policeman and two part-time paid policemen. Members of the council declared that one of the first things accomplished by the present council when it took office was abolition of the fee system.

The council apparently had abandoned any idea of having the policeman become a janitor in addition to his police duties and had bowed to the demand of the town's population that police protection be provided. Following the announcement several weeks ago that the office of chief of police had been abolished, and that bailiffs would be appointed, residents and business men of the town have besieged members of the council with demands for better police protection.

Caesar L. Aiello, prominent lawyer and member of the Chamber of Commerce, appeared before the council last night to oppose any return to the bailiff and fee system. He told the council that they might as well return to the burgher system.

Lawyer Expresses His Views.

"I believe it is within the province of the mayor and council to hire and fire the police chief without giving any reason," Aiello said, "but when they do give reasons they should be good reasons.

In this instance, the reasons given were that the change was to be made in the interest of economy and because the police chief was unpopular.

The chief of police has been self supporting. I believe court records will show, and I believe the best evidence of this worthwhileness is that he has paid his own way. As for his being unpopular, that is evidence that he has been doing his duty and stepping on somebody's toes.

"I have heard that the council intends substituting the bailiff on fee system and if this is true I'd like to caution the mayor and council that such a system is entirely unconstitutional. The Supreme Court of the United States threw out a number of cases recently where the bailiff profits by the arrest of a person. I believe you should have a chief of police and an assistant chief and that the town should be patroled day and night," Aiello declared. He further recommended that Chief of Police Carl M. Blanchard be reappointed to the force as policeman if the council adopted such a plan.

Committee Disavows Plan.

The police committee of the council then disclaimed any plan of reverting to the fee system and presented a recommendation providing for the appointment of a town policeman at $125 per month to be on duty at all times and two part-time policemen to be on duty between the hours of 7 and midnight each evening and at such other times as the council should feel necessary, for which they are to receive $25 per month each.

The wording of the resolution which said: "Also to do such other duties as the mayor and council may require," in reference to the office of full-time policeman, was questioned by council members, but the police committee declared that it merely meant "in the line of public safety."

Members of the police committee are: A. C. Moon, chairman; W. T. Conners, Thomas E. Hume and E. B. Hilley.

Blanchard Files Application.

The committee will receive applications for the new offices and will ask for a special hearing as soon as their plans are complete, at which the new appointees will be named. Chief Blanchard is the only one to have filed an application as yet.

Councilman Harry Boswell presided at the meeting. Dr. Hilleary T. Willis, mayor, having been summoned at the beginning of the meeting by a patient. The doctor returned toward the end of the meeting.

J. C. Higgins, of Philadelphia, assistant division attorney; J. A. Rose, of Philadelphia, chief engineer, and J. N. Jackson, field engineer at Laurel, all officials of the American Telephone & Tlegraph Co., appeared before the council to secure a permit for the construction of a new conduit to carry cables between Washington and New York which will pass through Hyattsville. The matter was referred to a special committee.

Tobacco Graders' Work Reported

Federal - State Operatives Sort 186,835 Pounds at Richmond.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Federal-State inspectors graded 186,835 pounds of tobacco the first week the official service was inaugurated at South Hill, Va., according to a report released here by J. H. Meek, director of the division of markets, Virginia State department of agriculture. This total represents more than one-third of the amount graded by State inspectors in the 1927-28 season, when the official service first was inaugurated.

The average price of the tobacco graded at South Hill during the week was $14.97 per hundredweight, it was stated in the report.

The commencement of the Federal-State official grading service at South Hill marks an expansion of the system started in Lynchburg two years ago. This year official graders will be on the floors of warehouses in Farmville, South Hill and Lynchburg.

Traffic Jam Laid To Road Workers

Maryland Inspectors Say Equipment Blocked Way Saturday.

Baltimore, Oct. 14.—Inspectors of the State Roads Commission today reported that the congestion on the Baltimore-Washington boulevard Saturday afternoon, which seriously delay traffic, was caused by failure of contractors engaged in widening the road in Howard County between Baltimore and Laurel to remove their equipment from the road when the rush hour began.

Beginning at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, an unusual crush of traffic resulted on the road from the combined rush to the Notre Dame-Navy football game in Baltimore, the Maryland University game at College Park an dthe races at Laurel. The inspectors found that the congestion was caused by the road work and ordered the contractors to remove their equipment from the road, which resulted in clearing up the situntion to some extent.

A traffic survey made on the section involved last week showed that between 4,000 and 5,000 machines passed a given point between the hours of 6 a. m. and 6 p. m., and on Saturday between the same hours the figure checked was 12,000 vehicles, of which about 9,000 passed between the hours of noon and 6 p. m., according to arry D. Williar, jr., chief engineer of the State Roads Commission.

Danville to Establish Child Guidance Clinic

Danville, Va., Oct. 14.—A series of child guidance clinics will be held next month, according to City Health Officer R. W. Garnett, who said that they would be conducted by the State Welfare Association. Children who present behavior problems are to be studied physically, psychologically and psychiatrically.

Those to be treated will be largely boys and girls whose appearance in Juvenile Court has suggested that they are fit subjects of the clinic.

GOV. BYRD ASSAILS POLICY OF BROWN; UPHOLDS POLLARD

plying to Brown's ridiculing of the progress the Old Dominion has made during the past four years, the governor asserted that the coalition candidate "does not make it clear how a State with oppressive taxes and bad government could have attracted $265,000,000 of new capital in one year and led all States of the Union in industrial development in that year."

Referring to Col. Henry W. Anderson, Virginia Republican leader and bitter foe of the governor, as the "discoverer of Dr. Brown," Byrd said that Anderson and Brown have charged the governor with singing an ungrounded "hymn of praise of Virginia." He added that he would rather sing "hymn of praise" of his State than a "hymn of hate," which he charged is being sung by the coalitionists.

Anderson and Brown have declared, according to Gov. Byrd that "the Democratic Party should be defeated" because "we don't possess the magic power to build concrete roads without money and to improve the schools without paying living wages to the teachers."

In discussing the Virginia tax situation, Byrd pointed out that 82 cents of every dollar collected by the State goes to schools and roads, 62 cents to roads and 20 cents to schools. "This leaves 18 cents of the tax dollar for all other purposes of government," added the governor. "If we were to abolish altogether the collection of this 18 cents, it would give a saving to each individual Virginian of exactly $1.62 per annum, but, of course, no one could abolish this 18 cents altogether without abolishing the State government."

Gov. Byrd pointed out that Virginia expended $16,336,302 for highways in 1927, while in 1912 only $389,429 was spent; he asked if Virginia wanted to return to the "mud roads" of 1912, simply to cut the gasoline and automobile license taxes.

Special to The Washington Post.

Orange, Va., Oct. 14.—In an address delivered at Madison Courthouse today, in which he briefly reviewed the history of Virginia since the Civil War, Ashton Dovell, member of the House of Delegates from Williamsburg, appealed to the voters of Madison County to support the Democratic nominees, declaring: "The Democratic party has conserved the resources of Virginia during its control until the State can pay its entire bonded debt and still have a surplus of $3,000,000 in the treasury."

Dovell spoke to a large audience. He was introduced by George L. Browning, attorney, Commonwealth's Attorney Norman G. Payne presided.

Col. Daniel L. Porter preceded Dovell on the program and in a brief address urged his constituents to support the Democratic ticket and at the same time thanked them for the honor conferred upon him by returning him to the Legislature without opposition.

AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

With the introduction of machinery man-power feared it was to be supplanted. By the force of AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE this ancient prejudice disappeared. Our modern "machine age" brings happiness and prosperity.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

Ficklen, who has announced himself as an independent candidate for the House of Delegates, has published an advertisement in the county press in which he states that he is "in special opposition" to L. A. Bryant and Maitland Bustard, Democratic nominees, and B. F. Carter, another independent candidate.

Daily O'Currences

By JOHN DALY

LUELLA went window shopping.

In all this broad land there is no better window shopper than Luella. Of course, there hasn't been a window shopping contest this year, or any other; but some day some enterprising advertising manager is going to institute a sort of world series in window shopping. When that happens, I'm going to enter Luella in the contest. She will, by the very nature of her expertness, come out ahead of all other window shoppers—the champion window shopper of this or any other country. Champion of the world, in fact.

It was on Sunday that Leulla last went window shopping. Personally, that is the day I enjoy to see her window-shop. The doors to the shops are all securely fastened and there is not a chance any wild-eyed salesman can come out and entice Luella away from me—and from our hard-earned coin of the realm.

* * * * *

'TWAS a beautiful day, Sunday, for window shopping. We struck the F street trade routes, a favorable wind blowing abaft. As we meandered down that celebrated thoroughfare, people were coming from church, some were going to church, and many of them had neither been to church nor were they on their way to church. The world is like that. Some do and some don't; can take it or leave it alone, in other words.

At almost every show window Luella stopped—to admire this, that or the other thing. Sometimes, as she parked herself, lost in admiration, in front of windows filled with filmy things—lingeries and launderies—I had to walk over to the curbing, turn my back on the windows, to preserve my self-respect. There are some sights a man should not see in public, so I've been told. Anyway, it struck me that Luella spent more time than usual in front of the windows. She'd first throw a professional glance over the haberdashery, or whatever it is women call their fineries, and then—well, then she'd step back out of the shadows of the window glass and powder her nose. Aha! Luella and her women friends have discovered a secret. A certain distance away from these great plate glass window panes, the sun shining just right, and they become open air looking glasses. Thus sided, women arrange their toilettes on the public marts.

"Luella," I said, "why don't you stop this business of powdering your nose, pencilling your eyebrows and rousing your lips in public?"

"Why don't I do what?" she asked, her lip stick poised aloft.

"You heard me," I responded, impatiently. "Why don't you stop window shopping? Or is it window dressing?"

* * * * *

JUST then President Hoover and his family hove in sight, out on a window shopping expedition.

"Say," said Luella, "who are you to say anything against window shopping, an innocent out-door sport sanctioned by the President of the United States?"

"Who am I?" says I to myself, and answered aloud: "Merely the manager and backer of the world's champion window shopper, Luella, the Great."

Bank Cashier Indicted On Charge of Forgery

Staunton, Va., Oct. 14.—A grand jury in Highland County Circuit Court today indicted John E. Slaven on five counts in connection with alleged unlawful manipulations of funds of Farmers' Bank of Highland, located at Doe Hill. Mr. Slaven was cashier when the institution was closed two months ago by a representative of the State Banking Commission.

The indictments charged Slaven committed forgery, made false statements to the State Banking Department, received deposits with knowledge that the bank was insolvent, with embezzlement and with larceny.

Slaven has been at liberty under bond since his arrest a few days after the bank was closed. The bond was continued after his indictment until such time as the case is set for trial. The extent of the alleged shortage has not been announced. At the time it was closed the president said a hasty examination indicated the loss would be about $18,000.

Pair on Farm Held On Liquor Charge

Man and Wife Escape at First but Are Taken Later On.

Frank Raymond and his wife, Edmund Raymond, both colored, were arrested at their home on a farm at Accokeek, Md., yesterday afternoon, on charges of possessing liquor with intent to sell, by V. M. Nichols and Harry Robinson, of the Prince Georges Police Force, and Constable John Wilson, of Prince Georges County, Md.

According to the three, they staged a raid at the house shortly before noon and placed Raymond under arrest, the woman escaping out a back door when they entered the dwelling. They said they granted Raymond's request to release him for a few minutes "to take my horse out of the green corn," but that the man made his getaway.

Hiding in a nearby clump of trees, the trio a short time later swooped down on the house and arrested both Raymond and his wife, who had returned in the meantime. The police also reported the seizure of five gallons of alleged liquor, 24 bottle of beer and apparatus used in a liquor still.

"Wash your face carefully with a rich warm lather of Palmolive Soap. Massage it, with your two hands, into the pores, to free them of their accumulation of dust and dirt—of powder and rouge and make-up.

"Then rinse—first with warm water, then gradually colder. That is all. But you must do this before you start any treatment—before you put your make-up on for the day—before you retire for the night."

Ask your own beauty specialist. Learn of this great rule for natural beauty. And today begin this simple habit which the authorities of the world urge you to practice twice daily—to protect natural loveliness.

Leblanc, of Nice

Albert Leblanc, of the Hotel Negresco, Nice, says:

"The soap I recommend is Palmolive. I know of no other soap which meets all the requirements of complexion care, acting at once as a cleanser and a valuable and soothing emollient."

Salvino, of Venice

In Venice, when women of the social world and of the stage consult Salvino of the Via XXII Marzo, he tells them "Soap and water (pure Palmolive Soap and water, that is) play an important part in all my courses of treatment."

"A famous prima donna came to me recently. In this case, as in so many which I see in my salon, the pores of the skin had become blocked by dust absorbed from the air. The skin became dull, lifeless and irritable. The underlying tissues were flabby.

"I prescribed a course of treatments and a regular massage twice a day with water and Palmolive Soap.

"The client was delighted with her progress."

M. Joseph recommends one soap and one only, Palmolive. "To my mind," he says, "Palmolive is one of my most valuable allies. The olive and palm oils of which it is made cleanse the skin as nothing else can—and they also rejuvenate and tone up the tissues."

SHOOTING FOLLOWS STRIKE IN NEW YORK

Two Thousand Police Guard Big Gasoline Tanks to Prevent Blasts.

STATION MEN MAY QUIT

New York, Oct. 14 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—After a day marked by minor acts of violence in several parts of the city and the shooting of a bystander in an attack on strike breakers in Brooklyn, it was announced tonight that striking gasoline truck drivers were preparing to call out the oil station attendants throughout the five boroughs.

Organizer William Collins, of the American Federation of Labor, said 2,500 of the 5,000 station men were ready to form a union and would meet tomorrow night to take a strike vote.

The strike has become a fight to the finish between the American Federation of Labor and the Standard Oil and other companies on the principle of union recognition, in the belief of the strikers. The oil companies tonight accepted that issue.

Refuse to Meet Strikers.

Peter P. Prunty, general sales manager for the Standard and chairman of the strike committee of all the oil companies, told Thomas J. Williams and William Lillier, Federal labor mediators, that the companies will flatly refuse to deal with the union. Prunty said he was willing to meet the men as individuals and on that basis alone.

Two thousand policemen are guarding storage tanks and tank wagons of the companies and Police Commissioner Whalen, after stating that some of the companies were employing gangsters as guards, notified all companies that civilian guards must be removed and that only uniformed policemen would be permitted to ride with the drivers.

One thousand of the policemen on duty are riding trucks of the oil companies. Three hundred mounted men and 275 motorcycle men are acting as escorts.

In addition to these, 40 patrolmen were assigned to guard the great tanks and other property of the companies in the Williamsburg and Greenpoint sections.

Points to Blast Perils.

Michael J. Cashal, vice president of the Truck Drivers' Union, when told of Prunty's refusal to recognize the union, said: "With the growing menace of guerilla tactics and danger to life and limb from a possible disastrous explosion of oil trucks driven by inexperienced drivers, some of whom have already been removed as unfit, this union suggests that an investigation by some impartial committee be made of the entire controversy."

The companies professed to be undisturbed by the situation. Standard officials said the delivery system was rapidly being restored to normal. The Warner-Quinlan Co. said the men were remaining out only because they were afraid to return. The Beacon Co. said half its men were still at work and that those who quite did so because of intimidation. The Sobol Co. said it was doing a 100 per cent business.

The shooting took place in Williamsburg. William Tuffy, 18, was the victim. He was shot in the back in an exchange of shots between guards and the strikers.

Petty Thefts Solved By Plain Clothes Men

By the use of plain clothes men, Capt. R. C. Montgomery, superintendent of the United States Park Police, has been able to reduce the number of petty thefts among the Government employes.

The most recent case resulted in the dismissal of a young man from the Navy Department who was caught putting slugs into slot machines. As many as 70 slugs were taken in one day from the various machines stationed throughout the Navy Building. Capt. Montgomery assigned his plain clothes men to the case several days ago and they were able to catch the offender in the act. The men's activities recently brought about the return of $8 that one employe had stolen from another's purse. A finger-print was found on the clasp. A threat to reveal the identity had immediate results.

Inmans Reach Agreement In Their Divorce Tangle

Wife to Get Alimony of $750 Monthly for Life.

Reno, Nev., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—A new agreement between Walker P. Inman, son of Mrs. James B. Duke, and Helene Garnet Patton Inman, daughter of a Kokomo, Ind., clergyman, in their divorce troubles was reached here late today and plans called for Inman to go into court just before the hour of closing and obtain a new divorce decree.

While Inman is expected to get the decree, based on sensational testimony offered in the trial of his case last April here in Reno, the new agreement provides that Mrs. Inman shall receive $1,250 a month until December 1, 1932, and from that time on for the remainder of her life, and whether she remarries or not she is to receive $750 a month.

The agreement also provides she shall receive $5,000 cash to pay part of her costs of the trial of the divorce case last spring and that her attorneys shall receive a fee of $25,000.

The court awarded Inman the decree on the grounds of extreme cruelty. When the case was reopened today it was, as in the first instance, held behind closed doors. At the conclusion of the hearing Mrs. Inman herself requested that the records be sealed and this was ordered by the court.

At today's hearing, Mrs. Inman and Inman came face to face for the first time since the hearing last April.

MRS. HELENE INMAN.

"How are you Walker?" Mrs. Inman inquired, smiling.

"I am fine," Inman replied. "You're looking good."

This apparently closed the conversation. After the hearing was over Mrs. Inman emerged from the courtroom smoking a cigarette and seemed in high spirits.

Inman declared he would remain in Reno for the next several months.

Mont Pelee Eruption Puts Natives to Flight

Fort de France, Martinique, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Mont Pelee, famous Indian volcano which overwhelmed the town of Saint Pierre in a disastrous eruption in 1902, burst into eruption at 4 o'clock this morning.

The volcano's activity was stronger than in the eruption of September 16. Some of the inhabitants of Saint Pierre, Morne Rouge and Pecheur left their homes. The governor of Martinique has taken all precautions for safety of the people.

Flood Perils Homes Of 10,000 at Hialeah

Miami, Fla., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Complete evacuation of Hialeah's 10,000 population will be ordered if flood waters rise another six inches, Joe Franks, American Legion official in charge of relief work in the Miami suburb, announced at 3:15 p. m.

Franks said the gauge under observation by the legion relief unit showed a rise of two inches since 6 p. m. Sunday. Most of the town is now partially submerged by water from the flooded everglades.

UNION CHIEF DENIES KILLING POLICE HEAD

Fred Erwin Beal, Accused in Gastonia Slaying, Is Calm on Stand.

DISAVOWS RED LEANINGS

Charlotte, N. C., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Fred Erwin Beal, one of the seven men accused of murder of O. F. Aderholt, Gastonia chief of police, denied on the witness stand today any knowledge of the killing and also denied that he favored the overthrow of the Government by force and violence.

Asked a number of prepared questions by E. T. Cansler, who is assisting Solicitor John G. Carpenter in the prosecution, the 33-year-old organizer for the National Textile Workers Union, concluded a five-hour cross-examination by insisting he did not subscribe to Communist doctrines.

He was still on the witness stand when court adjourned, with the prospect of a brief redirect examination to add to his all-day tenancy of the witness chair.

Although he was subjected to the most grueling questioning of the trial as the prosecution threw its full force at him, he remained calm, and when Judge M. V. Barnhill adjourned court he was apparently as fresh as when he started. He not only denied he had advocated the use of force in the overthrow of government, but he denied he had ever sought to use violence during his stay in Gastonia, denied that he was in charge of the strike there and said he knew nothing of the shooting of the chief of police on June 7.

Permission to ask questions tending to show that the defendants subscribed to Communist doctrines was granted by Judge Barnhill this morning after a prolonged argument in which the jury was excluded from the courtroom. Judge Barnhill, however, would not permit questioning regarding party affiliation, Communist or otherwise, and denied the prosecution the right to inject the question of an alleged Communist teaching, the social equality between the whites and the Negroes. The State contends Communistic teachings of Beal led to violence resulting in Aderholt's death.

British Hear Musical Composition by Dawes

London, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Musical talent of United States Ambassador Charles G. Dawes was displayed to the British public tonight for the first time. A melody for the cello and pianoforte he had composed in his youth was played at a concert in Wigmore Hall.

Newspaper critics were kindly in their comment.

"It is melodiously and diplomatically written and if it is not great music it is pleasant from the point of view of the listener," said one. Another described it as "a pleasant and elegant trifle."

It was said the Ambassador himself had intended to hear the performance by the Harrison sisters, but his visit to the United States prevented it.

Sale Will Benefit Hospital in Alaska

A sale for the general hospital in Ketchikan, Alaska, under the auspices of the Guild of the Little Flower, opened yesterday at Connecticut avenue and L street. The proceeds will be used in improving the condition of the sick natives of Alaska and to prevent the repetition of the distress in that region, which was widespread during the last winter.

The Right Rev. Joseph R. Crimont, S. J., Bishop of Alaska, has made a special appeal to the women of Washington. Among the members of the guild who are actively interested in the sale are Mrs. Milton E. Alles, Mrs. Frank Avery, Miss Burgoyne, Mrs. J. Davis Brodhead, Mrs. D. J. Callahan, Mrs. John Cammack, Mrs. C. M. Drake, Mrs. John Gower, Mrs. S. A. W. Gleason, Mrs. R. L. Graves, Mrs. S. J. Henry, Mrs. John Heffernan, Mrs. J. T. Noonan, Miss Amy Powell, Miss Marie Redfern, Mrs. C. P. Neill, Miss Terese O'Sullivan and Mrs. B. F. Saul.

NEW CONDEMNATION STATUTE IS INVOKED

Jury of Five Citizens Named to Assess Parcels on Thirteenth Street.

CASE SET FOR HEARING

For the first time since it was enacted into a law the new Federal condemnation statute was put into effect yesterday when Justice Alfred A. Wheat appointed a jury of five citizens to assess the value of two parcels of land in square 256, which the Government claims it has been unable to purchase. Under the old law a jury of three citizens would have made the assessment.

The property which the Government seeks is in the square occupied by the old Southern Railway Building, which the Government recently purchased and which now houses certain Governmental agencies.

Acting under provisions of the new condemnation law, United States Marshal Edgar C. Snyder conducted the jury to the property in question immediately after it was sworn in. Under another provision of the law, Justice Wheat set aside other business of his court scheduled for today and set the condemnation case for hearing. The property involved is designated as premises 408 Thirteenth street northwest and 1309 D street northwest.

The five jurors are Richard W. Wheat, Robert W. Neely, John H. Small 3d, Gardner P. Orme and Lewis E. Talbert.

The proceedings are being handled by Assistant Attorneys General H. H. Glassie and A. Leftwich Sinclair and Assistant United States Attorney Arthur G. Lambert. Attorneys Joseph I. Weller, Arthur Peter, John A. Davis, L. H. King and Edna J. Sheehy represent the property owners.

Outselling all previous Packard models

THE NEW PACKARD STANDARD EIGHT

NO CAR in Packard history has met with such instant sales success as the new series Packard Standard Eight.

August deliveries of Packard cars were greater than in any previous month. And when the new series Standard Eight models were introduced in mid-September, sales continued to increase in such gratifying measure that Packard is assured a record-breaking Fall season.

It was inevitable that today's Packard Standard Eight would win new thousands to Packard Eight ownership. This distinguished car is so outstandingly more advanced, more beautiful, more luxurious that it is already establishing itself as the most popular Packard of all time.

Improved in Engineering —Refined in Details

In the new series Standard Eight, Packard has surpassed all previous achievements—both in engineering and designing—and in addition has given particular attention to the refinement of incidental comforts and conveniences.

Notable among the body refinements are improved-vision pillars; adjustable sun visors; newly perfected shatter-proof glass; dash-board Jockers; adjustable steering gear and driver's seat—together with greatly enriched fittings and upholstery.

Engineering advances include the improved powerplant with its new four-speed transmission and still further refined straight-eight motor. Packard performance—noted the world around—is greater, more brilliant than ever in the new series Standard Eight.

Packard Ownership Costs No More

We cordially invite you to see the new Standard Eights—to ride in one and drive it. You will find it luxurious beyond your expectations—and no more expensive to own than your twelve or fifteen hundred dollar car.

Operation and maintenance costs of the Packard Standard Eight are not greater because first cost is more. Even if first cost is twice as much, final cost is no greater if the Packard is driven twice as long!

Analyze ownership figures in the light of these facts and you will find that you, too, can enjoy the luxury of Packard transportation at your present motoring expense. Thousands of motorists have found that Packard ownership costs no more. Two out of three who buy Packard Standard Eights give up other makes of cars to do so!

You are paying for a Packard—why not have one? Your old car will be accepted as cash, and you may buy out of income if you prefer.

TODAY'S WOMEN

By EARL MINDERMAN

OCTOBER 15.

THIS is the birthday of four famous actresses.

Ina Claire, the beautiful and popular American star, was born this date, 1892, in Washington, D. C. She was the star of "The Gold-Diggers," which ran for two years, beginning in 1919; and "Grounds for Divorce," "The Ziegfeld Follies," "The Quaker Girl," "The Honeymoon Express," "The Girl From Utah" and "The Belle of Bond Street," the last two of which were produced in London. She made her first appearance in moving pictures in "Folly With a Past."

Elizabeth Inchbald, the English actress, dramatist and novelist, was born this day, 1753. Some of the plays she wrote still keep to the stage. Her greatest literary success was the novel, "A Simple Story," which was translated into many languages.

Phyllis Neilson-Terry, the English actress, was born this day, 1892; Helen Ware, American actress, was born this day, 1877.

NEED FOR CLARIFICATION.

President Hoover and Premier MacDonald will be spared needless embarrassment and will greatly improve the preliminary atmosphere of the coming disarmament conference if they will permit their recent joint statement to be clarified and put in such language that suspicious foreign governments can better understand its scope and meaning. At the same time the ambiguities should be eliminated from the British invitation to the conference in order to check the development of an unfavorable atmosphere at the outset.

No one can fairly expect a detailed account of the informal discussions which Mr. Hoover and his distinguished guest indulged in at the Rapidan camp. The value of such a discussion would have been lost if a verbatim report for public scrutiny had been made while it was in progress. Neither the President nor the prime minister would have been free to exchange views or discuss commitments before a world audience. Privacy or secrecy in its legitimate sense was obviously necessary to permit the informal discussions to proceed at all.

But now that President Hoover and Mr. MacDonald have exchanged views and reached certain understandings designed to affect the destinies of the American and British people as well as France, Italy and the rest of the world, there is a natural desire on the part of those whose destinies are involved to know more than can be found in the joint statement. There is a growing and persistent demand for clarification and there are forebodings of mischief if further light is not shed on the real significance and purport of the understandings or commitments, if any, that have been made.

The phrase in the joint statement most likely to cause trouble is the one which refers to active Anglo-American cooperation and adds:

> each of our governments will direct its thoughts and influence toward securing and maintaining the peace of the world.

In so far as this suggests joint Anglo-American action to secure and maintain peace it necessarily embodies the suggestion of an entente—not to use the word alliance—between Great Britain and the United States to at least pool their moral forces in support of each other whenever a peace problem presents itself. And as every international intrigue or threatened controversy, every danger of uprising whether from India, Egypt, China or elsewhere constitutes a problem of preserving peace, it requires little imagination to see how important such an Anglo-American entente to preserve peace might appear to the British. There is an immediate temptation to claim that this pooling of moral forces in the interest of peace aligns Great Britain and America as coworkers in the carrying out of an international policy of fathomless potentialities.

There are already signs of this interpretation. The editor of the Sunday Observer in London writes that Mr. Hoover and Mr. MacDonald have worked out "a solid Anglo-American agreement" which he regards as "the sheet anchor of civilization."

Efforts to counteract this impression are proving difficult in the absence of more light of the Hoover-MacDonald conference. The London Post correspondent here reflects the opinion of some of the diplomats when he states:

> American susceptibilities are satisfied by its noncommittal character and lack of anything of a concrete nature while the British are able to read into it a number of implications, &c.

Why should the British be encouraged to read into the statement implications of an entente or alliance if no such implications are warranted?

The London Times refers to the danger of an unfavorable atmosphere for the naval conference as a result of the lack of proper understanding of what has really taken place. The Times says:

> Despite the scrupulous care of President Hoover and Mr. MacDonald to emphasize the contingent nature of their proposals, despite repeated denials of any attempt to present other nations with a fait accompli or any suggestion or hint of any alliance or entente France and Italy persist in harboring suspicions as to the scope and intention of the Anglo-American discussions.

Meanwhile the French foreign office has expressed surprise at reports from Washington that the coming London conference is to have immediate and separate validity and to make binding agreements independent of the preparatory commission of the League of Nations. The French interpret the British invitation to state just the opposite. Both the French and Italian Ambassadors called on the Secretary of State yesterday. Reports from Paris and Rome say the meaning of the British invitation must be clarified before it can be replied to. The desire for clarification is practically unanimous.

PHILADELPHIA WINS.

With two out in the ninth inning of yesterday's world series game in Philadelphia, Bing Miller, of the Athletics, smashed a clean drive to right center scoring Simmons and giving the Philadelphia team the run needed to win the game and the world championship. Thus was concluded what must be considered one of the most unusual world series on record.

The Philadelphia Athletics and the Chicago Cubs won the championships in the American and National Leagues, respectively, hands down. They came to the world series rated as equals, but of the five games played the Cubs won only one. Twice it seemed that the Cubs had games "on ice," the first time last Saturday when their eight-run lead was overcome in a one-inning, ten-run rally and again yesterday when they held a two-run lead securely until the final inning. It seems hard to believe that a team that had battled through a major league season should have gone to pieces so thoroughly on two separate occasions.

There is much food for discussion in the record of the series now concluded. The Hot Stove League will echo with it all winter. Numerous theories will be advanced as to the cause of the breakdown of the Cubs, but the one that seems most logical is the simple explanation that the Athletics' batters were too much for the Cubs' pitchers. The series was won by the timely stick work of the Philadelphians.

With the conclusion of the world series, a curtain is drawn over the departed summer. Autumn has formally arrived. Let football have the stage!

OFFICE OF EDUCATION.

Special attention for the Bureau of Education was assured by the appointment of Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, an educator by profession, as Secretary of the Interior. One of the first acts of Secretary Wilbur was to order an investigation as to how the interests of education can be served best by the Government. It is assumed that the present movement to reorganize the bureau, under the title of the office of education, is a result of that survey.

The chief objective of the department is to relieve the bureau of administrative functions, so far as possible, and to concentrate its activities on fact finding, research and surveys in the many fields of education. Such administrative duties as supervision of the educational system of Alaska will be turned over to other agencies. The staff will be left free to render to American schools and colleges the kind of service that was originally intended in creation of the bureau.

This is the administration's answer to the demand for a separate department of education. Secretary Wilbur is convinced that there is a legitimate field in education for Federal activity, but that that field is confined to research and the formation of general principles. It is a step in advance to relieve the department of administrative functions and extend the facilities for achievement of its original aim.

An official statement in connection with the reorganization says that the office never has been provided with an adequate staff. Additions have generally been made at the behest of organized groups who come to regard the experts thus provided as their special servants. Such a state of affairs is detrimental to constructive research and should be abandoned. Now that the Government has decided to confine its educational activities to research an adequate staff of experts especially qualified for that work should be provided. By limiting its work to this one field the Federal office will avoid duplication of work carried on by the States, and render a much greater service to the cause of education.

NEW ROLE FOR TALKIES.

It is generally agreed that the motion picture has potential fields of usefulness that have not been extensively opened up and in which its future development will be noteworthy. Thus far it has been used principally as an entertainment medium. In the future it can not be doubted that it will be utilized extensively in the field of education. Its development in the new field unquestionably will be hastened by the program of future activity announced by William Fox on the occasion of the twenty-fifth anniversary of his entrance into the motion picture business.

Briefly, Mr. Fox proposes to institute a system of visual-oral education through the medium of talking motion picture in every school in the land; he hopes to fill every vacant seat, through the same medium, in church and parish house in the United States and he means to assist in the dissemination of medical knowledge by having hospitals equipped with apparatus to photograph major operations, which would be accompanied with a lecture by a specialist, the film of which would later be distributed throughout the world for the use of medical students, physicians and surgeons. To further this project, Mr. Fox stands ready to devote one-fourth of his personal fortune, an amount estimated to be in the neighborhood of $9,000,000. Although allowing 25 years, he hopes to complete the program within 5.

There is a well-defined tendency toward use of modern inventions for educational purposes. The phonograph, the motion picture and the radio find places in the schools and in adult educational projects already, and Mr. Fox merely proposes to carry forward the tendency on a comprehensive scale. Prominent educators, for example, will make talkies films for exhibition to classes; prominent clergymen will make talkies for exhibition in churches and parish houses, and world-famous surgeons will pass on their art through the film. It may be doubted, however, that the revolution described by Mr. Fox can be completed in 5 or 25 years, or, for that matter, that the time ever will be reached when canned talk and images will be acceptable substitutes for personalities. The talkie will be useful in the field of education as an adjunct, not as a substitute.

THE LOBBY COMMITTEE

By THEODORE G. JOSLIN,
In the Boston Transcript.

Quarter will not be asked or given by the subcommittee that will conduct the lobby investigation for the Senate. Its personnel proves this fact beyond any doubt. None other than Senator George W. Norris, of Nebraska, made the selections. Being anything but a party man, he saw no reason why he should consider party regularity. With complete disregard of precedent and apparently without thought that the party with which he professes affiliation—but not allegiance—is supposedly in control of the Senate, he made a Democrat chairman of the subcommittee.

This post goes to Senator Caraway, he of the bob-tongue, who happened to be the author of the resolution which the Senate adopted. Mr. Caraway may be fully expected to conduct the proceedings in his own inimicable way, meaning that each and every individual called upon to testify will have a mighty uncomfortable time in the witness chair, even though he is only suspected of having perhaps occasional connections with the "interests" whatever those interests may be. On the right hand of Chairman Caraway will be Senator Walsh, of Montana. Not far removed will be Senator Borah, who has something of a reputation, not only as an orator but as a lawyer. Last on the list is Senator Robinson, the only fledgling in the group.

Stalwart Republicans will rub their eyes as they read the list, not because hyphenated Republicans and out and out Democrats won't do as good a job as the members of their own party will do, but because it is supposed the party in power will have the majority of the places on any body whatever it may be. In this particular, the Republicans can be sure of one member—no more, no less. Senator Robinson, the fledgling, is this member. No one would think of even intimating that Senators Caraway and Walsh were anything but stanch Democrats, and, by the same token, no one would ever accuse Senators Borah and Blaine of being regular Republicans. The one is a law unto himself, and the other is a follower of the late Robert M. La Follette.

It will be interesting to observe how a committee of this kind functions and what subjects it will take up. A foregone conclusion is that the tariff lobby will be in for a hard time, particularly in view of the fact that the tariff is about the only domestic question that has been discussed since agricultural relief was temporarily disposed of last spring. Whether the wet and dry lobbies that have been operating here practically from the time the eighteenth amendment was ratified will be dealt with as sternly. This point is raised because all but one member of the investigating committee are classified as drys. Some of them are very dry indeed. However, there is one out and out wet in the group. It is almost needless to mention his name—Blaine. If the dominantly dry majority should decide to investigate the association against the prohibition amendment, then Blaine would be expected to roar for an investigation of the Antisaloon League. But it is the tariff lobby that will command immediate attention, this on the authority of Senator Norris himself.

EUROPE HAS PLENTY.

Lord Robert Cecil has never been an astute politician, so his speeches are apt to be interesting, says the Boston Post. He is not afraid to speak out. He performed a useful service at Geneva by reminding an audience that the United States is not the only nation with professional patriots and armament paid propagandists. If he had said that Europe has a good many more of them than this country, he would presumably have been speaking the truth, although these gentlemen who are patriots for profits are so secretive and so clever that it is only by chance that we discover where their money comes from.

Europe can not afford to throw any stones about the Shearer case. Her glass houses are not made of unbreakable glass.

THE BAKED BEANS GENIUS.

I sing, whatever be her name,
The woman of lowly fame
Whose glorious service is to cook
Without the aid of rule or book;
That rare and lovely genius who
Occasionally comes to view;
That most superb of kitchen queens
Who has the knack of baking beans.

But few there are upon this earth
Whose dish of beans man's praise is worth.
Not hotel chef, not French cafe,
Can serve them in the proper way.
Unnumbered cooks attempt the feat;
They may have skill with fowl and meat,
With soups and all the early greens,
But few can bake a dish of beans.

Some serve them pale and pasty white,
Some think a yellow tinge is right,
Some cook them after they are browned,
And then like shot they rattle round.
Others too long will let them boil,
And most contrive the beans to spoil,
But now and then upon the scene
Enters the genius of the bean.

Let others sing the voice divine
And give to art some sculptured line,
I choose a rarer gift, and one
Which thrills man's soul to come upon.
Whate'er her name, where'er she dwell,
I sing to her and wish her well,
Though be she old or in her teens,
Who has the knack of baking beans.

If the Tumblebug Could Appreciate a Lever, He Wouldn't Be a Tumble Bug

By ROBERT QUILLEN

If you were rich and should buy a tract of land and begin the erection of a million-dollar tower, numbers of people who never had built so much as a chicken coop would volunteer criticism and inform you that they wouldn't build the thing that way if they were doing it.

The world contains many people who function that way. Most of them never have made a success of anything. And one who has succeeded is privileged to answer their gratuitous criticism by saying: "Of course you wouldn't build as I am building, for your mind isn't like mine. Yours is the mind of a failure. If you were able to appreciate my way of building, you would be able to earn the money for a building of your own."

Environment and training do much to determine the way a man's mind shall function, but the blood that is in him does more. He thinks as he does because he is born to think that way.

Whether his mind functions well or ill, he deserves no more praise or blame than he deserves for the color of his eyes. To berate him because he is stupid is as unfair as it would be to berate him because his vision is defective.

If a man is born with clear vision and your vision is clouded, you do not see the things he sees. But your inability to see them does not cause you to doubt their existence, nor does your stubborn vanity insist that your little vision is equal to his.

Why, then, do you so stubbornly maintain the superiority of your opinion?

The relative ability of men can be determined, as a rule, by the degree of success they attain in the same field.

If Bill Jones has succeeded in everything and you have succeeded in nothing, you can not criticize him without making yourself ridiculous.

If you say you would not do as he is doing, you say in effect: "I, the failure, would not act as Bill Jones, the success, is acting, for my mind isn't capable of seeing the things that he sees."

To criticize an inferior is to make a comparison that flatters you; to criticize a superior is to make a comparison that reveals your inability to comprehend him.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

THE CONGRESSIONAL STOCK MARKET PROBERS.

First Senator—I'm for a sweeping inquiry into the stock exchange. The orgy of speculation tolerated and encouraged by Wall street is a disgrace to the country.

Second Senator—It's a crying shame. Funds needed for legitimate business are being converted to stock market purposes, prices are being boosted to fabulous heights without rhyme or reason and the people of America are being deceived into thinking that the path to fortune lies through a few flyers in the market.

First Senator—It is outright gambling. Unscrupulous big operators are enabled to manipulate prices at will. Pools are sending stocks far beyond true values. Look at the crazy fluctuations in Radio, for instance.

Second Senator—What is the last quotation on Radio, by the way?

First Senator—Around 87, I think. I hear it's good for 200.

Second Senator—I've got some I bought at 82.

First Senator—As I was saying, the time is ripe for a complete investigation into the whole market situation. The country has gone Wall street crazy. Millions of wage-earners are risking their savings in the hope of quick profits. People who should be putting their money in banks are dumping it into the automobile stocks. Take General Motors . . .

Second Senator—I took some last week.

First Senator—What did you pay for it?

Second Senator—I got it at 66⅞. It is good for 150.

First Senator—You're crazy. I'm playing 500 shares short.

Second Senator—A very good friend of mine tells me it will go up 100 points inside of a year.

First Senator—Personally, I like the outlook for the oils.

Second Senator (looking at his watch)—Oh, we've got to hurry to that conference.

First Senator—What conference?

Second Senator—The conference on drawing up suitable measures to stop stock speculation.

SEAWAY FACTS.

Objection to the St. Lawrence seaway because it would be closed for four and one-half months a year, is without force says the St. Lawrence Seaway News. With the exception of a regular liner trade to the larger ports of the world, all the general ocean trade is seasonal. The freighters and the passenger vessels which operate from Montreal and Quebec during the open season transfer their activities to ports in the Maritime Provinces of the North Atlantic ports of the United States, during the winter season.

The great volume of the world's commerce is not carried by the Leviathans, or the Majestics, or the Berengarias, but by the cargo or tramp steamer vessels up to 7,500 tons and on a draft of 25 feet and under. A 27-foot St. Lawrence seaway would accommodate 80 per cent of these types.

Fast regular service is essential for certan classes of cargo, just as it is for passengers, and it appears certain that the ports which now have such traffic will retain it. The St. Lawrence seaway will be used mainly by freight liners and tramps, or by unit cargo vessels for whom there is abundant cargo available both outbound and inbound.

The Suez Canal, for one-half its length, is 50 feet narrower than the narrowest part of the proposed St. Lawrence seaway.

On the same basis as used by Senator Ransdell in calculating the savings in freight charges to the people of this country on the freight transported via the Great Lakes in 1925, it so works out that the saving in 1928 alone amounted to approximately $284,500,000—to date the total Government expenditures in the Great Lakes amount to about $174,000,000.

Expenditures for operation and care of the United States locks at the "Soo" in 1928 were $251,813 or three and four-tenths mills (.0084) per ton of freght passing through.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Washington Becomes Dirtier as Other Cities Are Awakening to the Smoke Evil—Cooperation in Attacking the Problem Is Called for.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I am happy to note in your recent excellent and forceful editorial entitled "Smoke and Soot," that The Post has taken up the cudgels to abolish the local soft coal smoke nuisance.

It is peculiary ironical to have Washington growing each winter increasingly sooty and dirty at the very time that Chicago and New York, having come to a realization that smoke is not only ruinuous to property values, but a menance to health as well, are making effective efforts to abolish it.

Washington has heretofore enjoyed the reputation of being a clean as well as a beautiful city, these two appeals drawing visitors here by the thousand during the winter and early spring months.

It would seem highly important for the Board of Trade, Hotel Keepers Association, real estate boards and similar bodies concerned in maintaining this very considerable factor in the business prosperity of Washington to cooperate in every way in the efforts to insist upon the enforcement of the smoke prevention law.

What a Saturday Half Holiday Means to at Least One Government Worker.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I am thinking of Sunday and realizing that I can not go to church again until June, 1930, when the Saturday half days are available. You will note that I do not say "half holidays." I have not had a holiday in the accepted sense of the word in ten years. During those years I have been a widow "in the Government" with two sons to take care of in the full sense of the words. The boys are now 12 and 14 and doing well in school.

For six years my salary was $1,680. It was later $1,860 and with the Welch bill was raised to $1,920. We live in a room and a half and a small porch. The boys are getting too large for such crowding and intimacy. No privacy for any of us, but car fare is an item and I must live near my job and the boys not too far from school.

I leave the house at 8:20 in the morning, after getting three breakfasts and fixing three lunches. The boys make the beds and wash the dishes.

I reach home at 5:30 o'clock, having done the marketing and brought it home and between that time and the next morning I must do the cooking, mending and cleaning, necessary for the three of us. The boys are careful of their things, but they cannot help growing. And as to my own things, my annual leave goes in to that.

Those extra three hours on summer Saturdays gave me daylight for my marketing, and for my cleaning and got out of the way the heaviest of the jobs which now must be done on Sundays. All summer I had the church hour free.

Old Paper Currency a Public Annoyance.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: According to the Chicago Tribune, "the country is universally annoyed by the persistency of the old paper currency. The failure to remove the old currency more completely from circulation and replace it with the new is not a tribute to the management of the Treasury."

Why the failure to remove the old currency from circulation? Is it because the banks and the people do not want it? Or is it for lack of a sufficient amount of all denominations of the new currency? If the latter is the cause, why the furloughs in the Bureau of Engraving and Printing?

VOX POPULI.

Words of Advice to E Pluribus Unum.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Once in a while some one writes a letter to The Post under the nom de plume of "E Pluribus Unum," addressed to those of us who do not believe in prohibition. This individual now approves of the suggestion that a new crime be manufactured by law and that the purchaser of liquor be held subject to the same punishment as the seller. Another twenty or thirty millions of Americans are to be placed in the criminal class at one fell swoop.

How sad and bitter must be the heart of E Pluribus to think up all those awful things! Is he the offspring of some old covenanter obsessed by a mad rage to redeem the world, or is she some unmarried maiden of ripe years whose life has been made empty through unrequited love?

The purpose of this letter is to assure E Pluribus that it is only the first drink that hurts. After several imbibings of "wine, the noblest cordial in nature," as John Wesley used to call it, E Pluribus would probably become just as sweet-tempered, just as kindly and just as human as the rest of us. He might even join our party and tell a witty story and try to bring a bit of cheer into our lives. And then, having done so, a miracle might happen and he might find that an unwonted joy and hitherto unknown happiness had entered his own saddened soul. Who knows but that under this uplifting and ennobling influence he might become so bold and so sure of his convictions as to sign his own name to those cross letters he writes from time to time?

The list would make a great all-American team just as it stands.

EVENTS OF INTEREST IN SOCIETY CIRCLES OF CAPITAL

Mr. Churchill Coming Friday To Spend Day

Former British Official to Return Later for Longer Visit.

By JEAN ELIOT.

WITH memories of the British prime minister's visit still fresh in our minds, preparations are being made for the entertainment of another distinguished Britisher, Mr. Winston Churchill, who will arrive in Washington Friday morning. This time he is to be with us only for a day, but a longer visit is promised after he has kept some engagements in Richmond and other cities.

A call upon President Hoover will be the first event on the program of this celebrated statesman, who has held a dozen important posts in the British government and whose most recent service was as chancellor of the exchequer. And immediately after this he will be entertained at luncheon by Mr. Ronald Ian Campbell, counselor of the British Embassy and Charge d'Affaires of Great Britain, in the absence of the Ambassador, Sir Esme Howard, who has sailed for the West Indies on a brief holiday.

A group of distinguished men, some of them of high official rank, have been asked to meet Mr. Churchill. The place where this party is to be held will be named later, for Mr. Campbell is moving from an apartment at 2100 Massachusetts avenue into a charming little house at 1830 Jefferson place and is hoping that by Friday his new home will be in readiness for entertaining.

Most of the time since he has been in this country Mr. Churchill has spent in California, visiting Mr. William Randolph Hearst on his ranch in the foothills of the Sierras, but more recently he has been in New York, whence he will come to Washington.

Mr. Churchill, it will be remembered, is half American, his mother having been Miss Jennie Jerome, of New York. His father, the late Lord Randolph Spencer Churchill, was one of the striking personalities of the Victorian era—and certainly the son is one of the striking personalities of our own time. He is distinguished as a traveler, adventurer and artist, as well as war correspondent, soldier and statesman.

Col. and Mrs. Hurley Going to Canal Zone.

Mrs. Patrick J. Hurley will accompany her husband, the Assistant Secretary of War, when he goes to the Panama Canal Zone to make an inspection of the canal and to make a study of problems of administration. Col. and Mrs. Hurley left Washington last evening and expect to be absent three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Duncan Phillips have joined the ranks of those who are building houses in the country near Washington. They have picked a charming site on the Ridge road, near the place which Mrs. Borden Harriman has purchased, and their house, a red brick structure with wings on each side, is already in course of building. The place boasts a fine view of the Potomac.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillips' town residence at 1600 Twenty-first street has a notable private art gallery, which is thrown open to the public on certain days. The collection was begun by Mr. Phillips' father and augmented by the present owner, a discriminating critic. Mrs. Phillips, who was Miss Marjorie Acker, is not only an excellent judge of art, but is an artist whose work has won enthusiastic comment.

Maj. Gen. and Mrs. George Barnett have leased their home at 1622 Rhode Island avenue to the Minister of Honduras and Senora de Argueta, who recently came to Washington.

Representative and Mrs. Sol Bloom and Miss Vera Bloom have returned after passing several days in New York, where they went to attend the dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. William May Wright in honor of the newly appointed Ambassador to Cuba and Mrs. Harry Guggenheim. The Cuban Ambassador and Senora de Ferrara were also among the guests, having arrived from Europe last Thursday.

The Ambassador to Mexico and Mrs. Dwight Morrow, with their daughter, Miss Elizabeth Morrow, have arrived in Mexico City after a several weeks' visit in the United States.

As her contribution to the cordial entent between the United States and Mexico, Miss Morrow has chosen the task of teaching English to Mexican children. She will begin with the fifth grade pupils in one of the schools in Mexico City and later proposes to establish a school of her own there.

Senator Felix Hebert Expected Back Thursday.

Senator Felix Hebert is expected to join Mrs. Hebert and their daughters at the Wardman Park Hotel Thursday, after a trip to Providence R. I., and Vermont.

Mr. Adrien Hebert has been passing a week with his parents at the hotel and has now returned to their home in West Warwick, R. I.

Representative and Mrs. Richard S. Aldrich have returned to Washington after spending a few days in New York.

Senor and Senora de Prada, who have been abroad since Senor Prada resigned his post as Counselor of the Peruvian Embassy in Washington, have taken an apartment in Paris, where they propose to make their headquarters for the next year. Senora de Prada's mother, Mrs. Emerson Howe, is also in Paris and will remain for some time.

Mrs. Edward Stafford and her son Peary, who have been visiting Justice and Mrs. Wendell P. Stafford for several days, have left for New York. Mr. Stafford will join them there at the end of the week when they will sail for the Pacific Coast via Havana and the Panama Canal. While on the Coast, Mr. and Mrs. Stafford will be the guests of Mrs. Stafford's mother, Mrs. Robert Edwin Peary, for the formal opening of the new highway bridge across the Columbia River at Longview, Wash. Robert E. Peary, jr., is the assistant engineer in charge of the building of the bridge.

Mrs. Thomas W. Symons, of Washington, is visiting her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Symons, jr., in Spokane, Wash.

After staying a few days in New York, Mrs. Dorsey Richardson will go to San Francisco with her sister, Mrs. William Houghteling, who has been visiting her in Paris. They crossed on the Leviathan, landing a few days ago. Mrs. Richardson will stay with her sister in San Francisco until Christmas. She hopes then that Mr. Richardson will be able to join her and they will pay a visit in Washington before returning to their home in Paris.

Mrs. Richardson, who was Miss Helen LeSeure, and Mrs. Houghteling, formerly Miss Virginia LeSeure, granddaughters of the late Speaker Cannon, spent much of their girlhood in Washington with their aunt, Miss Helen Cannon. During her nieces' absence in Europe, Miss Cannon has been in San Francisco with Mrs. Houghteling's children.

Miss Bertha Frances Wolfe will receive this evening at the Hotel Roosevelt, when her guests will be entertained with "an hour with great story tellers," presented by Mrs. Florence Jackson Stoddard. Mrs. Stoddard was formerly editor of Pictorial Review, McCall's Magazine and the Overland Monthly.

Envoy Attends Luncheon Given by Lieut. Col. Zarobabel Galeno.

Lieut. Col. Zarobabel Galeno, military attache of the Chilean Embassy, and Senora de Galeno, who arrived in Washington Saturday, after spending the summer in Europe, entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Carlton, the party being arranged as a farewell to Capt. and Mrs. Ralph H. Wooten. The latter will leave soon for Santiago, Chile, where Capt. Wooten will take up his new duties as military attache of the United States Embassy.

The Ambassador of Chile and Senora de Davila attended the luncheon, with Senorita Madelina Petite, who is their guest. Others in the company were Col. and Mrs. Robert C. Foy, Capt. and Mrs. Alfred W. Johnson, Senor Blanco Viel, first secretary of the embassy, and the Chilean Naval Attache and Senora de Polich.

Senorita Petite, who accompanied Senora de Davila on her return from Chile, will visit at the embassy for several weeks. The Ambassador and Senora de Davila entertained informally at luncheon for her on Sunday. On that occasion they had among their guests Mr. Nelson T. Johnson, Assistant Secretary of State; Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Thaw, jr., Senor Mariano de Amoedo, counselor of the Spanish Embassy, Capt. and Mrs. Wooten and members of the Chilean Embassy staff, with their wives.

Mr. Alexander P. Moore, former Ambassador to Spain, is at the Willard for a few days.

Mrs. Warren Delano Robbins, wife of the United States Minister to El Salvador, is at the Mayflower and later in the week will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Coffin while her house at Twenty-eighth and Q streets is being made ready for occupancy. Mr. Robbins will arrive in the Capital about the middle of November and will remain here until after Christmas. Their children also will spend the holidays in Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Leiter To Entertain at Dance.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Leiter will entertain at a dance on the evening of January 5 for Mrs. Leiter's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Huston Rawls.

The Military Attache of the Cuban Embassy and Senora de Prieto will be hosts at a debutante tea dance for the latter's daughter, Senorita Lucia Tesaada-Guzman, on November 23 at the Mayflower.

Mrs. Robert Henderson, with her son, Mr. Robert Henderson, and her daughter, Miss Carroll Henderson, will leave Sunday for California, where they will join Capt. Henderson, who has been in the West since he retired from the Navy last spring. They will make their home in California and Mr Henderson, who for some time has been active in newspaper work here, will continue in his profession.

Mrs. George Akerson, wife of a member of the President's secretariat, is chairman of the committee of patronesses for Jean Gros' "French Marionettes," which the Wellesley Club will present here on October 25 and 26. Other patronesses for the presentation are Mme. Claudel, wife of the French Ambassador; Mrs. William DeWitt Mitchell, wife of the Attorney General; Mrs. Ray Lyman Wilbur, wife of the Secretary of the Interior; Mrs. James E. Freeman and Mrs. Thomas W. Sidwell.

Dr. Katheryn McHale will be the speaker for the section of education of the Twentieth Century Club on Thursday, in place of Mrs. Bickerell, who will be absent on account of illness. Dr McHale is the new secretary of education of the American Association of University Women and was formerly professor at Goucher College in Baltimore. Her subject will be "Future Educational Possibilities of A. A. U. W."

Mrs. J. Upshur Moorhead, accompanied by Mrs. R. Morison Henry, of Baltimore, has left by motor for Natural Bridge and White Sulphur Springs and will stop en route to visit Mrs. Edward Tayloe at Shadwell, Va.

Mrs. Wallace C. Burnet has returned after a year's absence in Europe and has taken an apartment at Stoneleigh Court.

Dr. and Mrs. Albert Livingston Stavely and Miss Caroline Haralson have returned to their residence at 1744 M street after a prolonged absence. They have been at Bleak House, their country home at Lahaska, Pa.

The Theta Pi Sorority will celebrate its twenty-fourth birthday at a founders' day banquet at the Mayflower this evening.

Europe Bound

MISS ANNE JOHNSON, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hubert Johnson, who has sailed for Europe and will spend the next few months abroad.

Gen. Helmick's Son Marries Miss Booth

Chaplain Weds Couple at Home of Bride's Parents Here.

The wedding of Miss Jessie Isabel Booth, daughter of Lieut. Col. and Mrs. Alfred James Booth, to Mr. George Randall Helmick, son of Maj. Gen. Eli Helmick, took place last evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents on Nineteenth street, Chaplain Alfred A. Bruden officiating.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a gown of white satin, fashioned on long, princess lines, with a veil of tulle edged with Brussels lace falling from a cap of lace. She carried a bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Betsy Bygate Booth, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and wore a frock of lavender crepe, made with a high-waisted bodice and a long, full skirt. She carried yellow roses. The bridesmaids were Miss Anne

IN THE PLAY HOUSE

By JOHN J. DALY

The Theater Guild of New York presents, at the National Theater, the Theater Guild Acting Company, in "Volpone," Ben Johnson's comedy, adapted by Stefan Zweig. Translated by Ruth Langner.

THE CAST:

Leone, Captain to the Fleet (the Lion) ..... Albert Van Dekker
Captain of Sbirri ..... Philip Foster

Rare old Ben Jonson ran riot, in the long years ago, with a comedy contrived to show the ends to which men go in their search for that precious little thing called gold. 'Twas, in the original, a dirty bit of linen—as all good students of literature must know.

Now comes the New York Theater Guild with what it calls a cardonic farce based on Benny's old-line comedy. Forsooth, 'tis not much to get excited about; although the good ladies and gentlemen devoted to art for art's sake will immediately take up the cudgels and the outlasses to wreak vengeance on the man who says it. Well, there is blood in these veins yet, me lads—"Volpone," and his leeches, notwithstanding.

Personally, in the day of the movietone, as bad as that is, and the day of the allt-alkie, with sounds and simmerings enough to wear out the tympannum of the average mortal, this bit of doggeral set to so-called fast tempo is deadening. It is saved only by superb acting and setting—as if those two alone would suffice for good entertainment in the theater.

By the eternal gods, the play, after all, is the thing, stars and satellites coming after.

They do say that the Theater Guild, being in the position to engage actors and actresses at prices below the Broadway standard—by the simple expedient of promising and assuring longer engagements than the ordinary commedcial manager can even surmise—is in a position to run on indefinitely by catering to the so-called high-brow. Well, then, if this be the fare the high-brow likes, let it be for him the piece de resistance. Once seen, by the average theater-goer, or low-brow, 'twould never call for a return visit to the theater. In the library "Volpone" is good reading. On the stage, it is just so much fuss and furbelow.

Understand, there is some good acting in "Volpone"—the man who comes to the fore in noble style is Sydney Greenstreet, as "Volpone," the fox, around whom all the action centers. He is superb, as the avaricious old scoundrel who tries everything but first-hand murder to make his enemies bow before him. Playing back and forth with him are: Earle Larimore, the gadfly, the toady, who does his master's bidding unto death, or near-death—and a masterly job Mr. Larimore makes of it. Frederick Roland, as Voltore, the vulture; Earnest Cossard, Corvino, the crow, and Henry Travers, as Corbaccio, the craven, hungry men all.

The ladies who scintillate are Miss Sylvia Field and Helen Tilden in roles exactly opposite, with Albert Van Dekker running riot as Leone, captain of the fleet—in other words, the lion. He is the king of the beasts in "Volpone."

It seems rather outrageous, in view of all contrary opinions, to say that this play by the Theater Guild is just so much balderdash; but, after all, aside from stately settings, superb costumes and much sweat and sweltering in the presentation, that's about all it rates in the terms of modern theater. Any number in the first-night audience will probably say the same thing. Translated in terms of everyday theatricals "Volpone," as done in the Guild manner, is just so much Rennaissance horse play.

NATIONAL

Lionel Atwill in "Stripped," a new play by Jane Murfin. Play staged by Mr. Atwill. Settings by Rollo Wayne.

THE CAST.

Caroline, wife of Austin Goodwin. ..... Jessie Royce Landis
Jefferson, a butler ..... J. H. Brewer
Austin Goodwin, junior member Graves Co., jewelers.. Vernon Kelso
M'sieu Lazov, representing ex-Crown Prince of Ga ..... Lionel Atwill

M'sieu Orlando, friend and adviser of M. Lazov ..... Mario Majeroni
Mrs. Pringle, housekeeper for M. Lazov ..... Christine Compton

With first and second acts that are smashing successes and a third act that neds considerable tinkering, 'Stopped" is a piece which has tremendous possibilities. The author has attempted to do a daring thing, to wit, to popularize a Grautarkian prince—in this case the crown prince of the Kingdom of Georgia, which the program makers abbreviate like the America State—without the aid of the usual shapely chorus in hussar uniforms. It can be done, as last night's performance demonstrated, and if the limping third act can be worked over the effort may live long in the bright lights.

There is also an ambitious combination of drama forms. It is a little difficult to decide whether the production should be billed as a comedy, a mystery play, a melodrama, or a farce. The producers call it "a play." Whatever it is, it offers a medium fora very entertaining evening.

The plot has many elements which have been heard of before. There is the crown prince traveling incognito and falling in love, but there is a variation here in the belated disclosure that he really isn't the crown prince proper, but only a left-handed tional crown jewels that are to be edition. Then there are the tradisold, which opens the way to the introduction of the love interest in the person of the wife of the ambitious young jeweler who sells the jewels. Later he finds that another love interest of his own has palmed off some imitations on him. The business of straightening out this tangle is a full three-act task.

It is to the credit of the author that the unwinding of the plot does not terminate in the usual sugar-coated ending. The heroine remains in love with her quasi-crown prince and does not return to the arms of her husband for the final curtain as she should in deference to the story books. Which once more brings up the subject of that third act. The idea back of it is quite the thing, but the execution is jerky and there is a considerable superfluity of saccharine in the final love scene.

Honors must go to Lionel Atwill, as the almost-crown prince, and to Jessie Royce Landis, in the role of the wife, who finally throws her husband overboard in favor of the prince. Her motive is that the husband "has spent several nights at home without committing any serious indiscretion," which may have a moral to those versed in matrimony.

J. H. Brewer does an excellent bit of character work as the butler, and Thelma Hardwick is a vampire who makes the vampire business sound plausible.

W. C. MURPHY, Jr.

GAYETY

Presenting an array of burlesque stars, "Sporty Widows" made its debut at the Gayety Theater yesterday

Headlining this show are Flo DeVere and Vic Plant, well-known comedian. Assisting them in the different scenes were Bob Eugene, Allan LeRoy, Lee Fellow, James Clayton, Buster LeRoy, Virginia Dare and Irene Santley.

Flo DeVere, actress, singer and dancer, truly deserves the high place which she holds in this cast, for her work is to the liking of the crowd.

Vic Plant, by his humorous antics produces much humor and appears in the different scenes with Bob Eugene.

Man Sues Street Car Line in $50,000 Action

Asserting that he was struck down by a street car as he crossed the Union Station plaza on March 24, last, Clarence G. Lee, of Thirteenth street northwest, near Massachusetts avenue, filed suit in District Supreme Court yesterday against the Washington Railway & Electric Co., seeking to collect $50,000 damages.

Lee alleges that he was transferring from a south loading platform to a north loading platform when struck by the street car. He alleges negligence on the part of the company, and declares that he was permanently injured. He is represented by Attorneys Fred A. Woodis, John C. Kramer and Claude A. Thompson.

Canadian to Hibernate In Frontier Woodshed

Malone, N. Y., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Arthur Plante, a Canadian, who had resided in the United States for nearly 30 years, is preparing to spend the winter in his woodshed, because that part of the residence, just north of Malone, which he purchased recently, is in Canada.

The dwelling, attached to the woodshed, is in United States territory, and Plante is prevented by United States immigration authorities from again entering this country.

Plante is now busy making the woodshed weatherproof for the winter.

CHEMIST WITNESS AGAINST PANTAGES

maining hour of the session was spent in grilling the police chemist, with the result that his cross-examination was not completed when adjournment was taken until tomorrow.

Ford attacked the chemist's knowledge of chemical analysis and the accuracy of his methods and observations. The grilling was replete with medical and technical terms, much of which required detailed explanations for the benefit of the six men and six women jurors.

Welch was required to make blackboard sketches of various germs to establish his qualifications as a chemist and witness in the trial. Indications were that the cross-examination would be completed in the morning, following which the defense will call the first of nearly a score of witnesses.

make him guilty as a seller under the Federal law.

"To that extent I agree with the opinion, but if that opinion holds it is not an offense against the national prohibition act for one to purchase liquor without a permit and not on a prescription then I disagree with it, because I have no doubt whatever but that the Volstead act intended to and does, in express terms, make it illegal for individuals to purchase liquor for personal consumption for beverage purposes.

"Section 6 of the national prohibition act, among other provisions, declares: 'No one shall manufacture, sell, purchase, transport, or prescribe any liquor without first obtaining a permit from the commission so to do, except that a person may without a permit, purchase and use liquor for medicinal purposes when prescribed by a physician, as herein provided * * *.'

"If the language just read does not prohibit the purchase of liquor by individuals for personal consumption for beverage purposes without a permit, then I am incapable of understanding the meaning of language," Judge Dawson said. He then quoted penalties provided in section 29 of the act, among which was $500 for the first conviction, and added:

"And these penalties apply to persons purchasing liquor for beverage purposes."

Irish Linen Men In U. S. for Survey

Delegation to Be Received by Hoover Tomorrow; 21 in Party.

New York, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Twenty-one leading Irish and Scottish textile manufacturers arrived today on the liner Laconia to begin an industrial tour of the United States as an official delegation suggested by the Prince of Wales.

The group is known as the Irish-Scottish line industry delegation and includes proprietors of the principal linen mills of northern Ireland and Scotland, who have come to this country to study modern American merchandising methods with a view to applying them to British industry.

The delegation will be received tomorrow by Mayor Walker and on Wednesday will go to Washington to be received by President Hoover and to be conducted on an inspection tour of the Department of Commerce by Dr. Julius Klein, Assistant Secretary.

Elephant, Doomed to Die, May Be Killed by Own Kind

Strangulation by Other Pachyderms or Death by Firing Squad Awaits Killer That Ran Amuck, Slaying Woman and Injuring Trainer.

Bay City, Tex., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—The circus drums that once stirred Black Diamond, a 9-ton brute engine of destruction, into jovial elephantine performances under the big top beat out a tattoo of approaching death for him today.

Through the elephant's brain there darted Saturday a primeval urge to kill, and when it had run its course the broken body of Mrs. Eva Donohue, 52, was tossed aside by the huge trunk and the mighty beast's former trainer, H. D. Prickett, 38, lay seriously hurt. Black Diamond was sentenced to die, perhaps to have his own kind as executioners.

Circus officials are planning to put an end to the killer tomorrow or the next day, when they will have left the populous country en route to another stand. They fear an attempt to kill him here might endanger other human lives.

Meanwhile Black Diamond is chained fast to his car, sprawled in a stupor, the jungle craze still reflected in the mad gleam of his eyes as his stolid contemporaries go about their accustomed duties unmindful that the role of fratricidal executioner may be thrust upon them.

Two methods of taking Black Diamond's life are under consideration—one by firing squad, the other by strangulation.

If the latter is adopted, a chain with free ends will be wrapped about the killer's neck and three elephants will be attached to each end. Then a strange death march, with the victim still, will begin with the signal which sets the animals to move in opposite directions.

The circus moves on to Corpus Christi tomorrow and to Kenedy Wednesday. On one of these hops Black Diamond will be slain.

Lack of Family Camps Deplored

Speakers Tell 'Y' Council Such Resorts Are Need Near Capital.

Lack of camping facilities for entire families was deplored by Miss Bertha Howell, of St. Louis, in her report on camping and recreation for the Washington district before the Council of Social Agencies yesterday at the Y. W. C. A., Seventeenth and K streets northwest.

Camps for children and mothers, as well as pay camps, conducted by the Y. W. C. A., Y. M. C. A., and Boy Scouts, were praised by Miss Howell but she said she found a great need for places where families could go as an entity and enjoy an outing.

Thomas S. Settle, former official of the Playground and Recreation Association of America, indorsed Miss Howell's statement regarding the lack of camping facilities for entire families, and also called attention to a need for facilities for working mothers, who could afford to send their children to a part-pay camp during the summer months, but who can not afford a full-pay camp for their children.

THE UNIFORM TRUSTS

of the

offer an individual trust participation in a group investment administered by a fiduciary organization.

Increasing need is felt for expert help in investment. This is not surprising in this day of expansion, mergers, shifting economic currents. Upon the small investor the problem presses with special force. How for example can he diversify $5000 or even $50,000? How can he safely follow the example of the large investor and buy common stocks? Furthermore, how can he afford the constant attention required to keep in touch with changing conditions, fluctuations, reorganizations, new issues—to exercise or sell rights when offered—to rearrange the list from time to time?

To do all this and do it well is practically impossible for the busy man of affairs. It is to solve this problem and to render a type of trust service hitherto available only for very large estates that our Uniform Trusts were devised.

We accept responsibility for your own particular fund, under a revocable trust. You authorize us to mingle your fund with other similar funds. The large capital thus assembled is spread over a wide range not only of bonds and preferred stocks, but also of selected common stocks. These investments are made and constantly examined by a committee of principal officers of the trust company, and are reviewed frequently by a committee of the directors. Thus are maintained the high standards which have always marked our trust service. The aim is protective, not speculative. Any increase in the aggregate income and value of the total fund is shared proportionately by each person whose funds are mingled.

Forms of application and information as to completing arrangements for the creation of a Trust may be obtained from any office of The National City Bank of New York, the City Bank Farmers Trust Company or through the office of The National City Company in your city.

The One Place Where It Pays to Play with Fire

They'll build you a huge fire at a certain place in Chicago—they'll heat a door or wall red-hot and turn a hose on it—they'll do all sorts of striking and ingenious things to see how long a certain device will stand up under punishment or how soon it will burn up or blow up or break.

It's a dramatic place—the great buildings of Underwriters' Laboratories—where they "play with fire" in testing building materials, electrical devices, gases, chemicals, hose, extinguishers, home utilities, and endless other things—all for the purpose of safeguarding your life, protecting your property, and reducing the cost of your insurance.

Symbols of Safety

Here is the largest testing laboratory operated by any business or profession. Everywhere its exhaustive tests are accepted as authoritative and its labels of approval recognized as Symbols of Safety.

This invaluable and unique engineering service is one of the great contributions by the Stock Fire Insurance companies to the protection of life and property in the home, in the factory, and wherever you may be in town, city or country.

Service . . . Not Profit . . .

is the underlying purpose of this work. The comprehensive equipment maintained by the Laboratories, and its corps of experienced engineers afford unequaled facilities.

Educators, engineers, scientists, underwriters and others journey far to study the equipment and the unusual tests that are always under way. The public is always welcome at Underwriters' Laboratories.

Recognized Standards

The long experience of the Laboratories in this work, and the methods employed for keeping in touch with manufacturers, users, and all other sources of information, have resulted in a general recognition of its standards and recommendations.

This work for the conservation of life and property is but one of the many contributions for the benefit of the American public made by Stock Fire Insurance companies which transact the great bulk of the fire insurance business of this country.

SHERIFF AND MAYOR QUIT IN BORGER ROW

Martial Law Is Climaxed by Resignations of Texas Chiefs Under Fire.

GRAND JURY CONVENED

Borger, Tex., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Martial law in Hutchinson County was climaxed today by announcement of the resignations of Sheriff Joe Ownebey and Mayor Glenn Pace of Borger.

In making the announcement, Brig. Gen. Jacob Wolters, in charge of Texas National Guard troops, said that in view of this move he expected the county to be freed of military rule Wednesday or Thursday.

No successors were immediately appointed, but Gen. Wolters said he expected the county commissioners and the Borger city commissioners to fill the places of Ownbey and Pace within the next day or so. The general announced he expected the city commissioners, J. W. Crabtree and J. E. Higgins, to resign after they had appointed a mayor with the approval of Clem Calhoun, new district attorney.

The resignation of Ownbey, Gen. Wolters added, would oust automatically from office all of the sheriff's appointees.

Gen. Wolters' announcement came on the heels of the convening of the county grand jury by Judge E. J. Pickens. In a 45-minute address, the jurist told the inquisitorial body that its investigation would enumerate every crime in the penal code of Texas, and asked the jurors to use every lawful means available to rid the county of its criminal elements.

Martial law was declared for Hutchinson County September 30 after Texas Rangers, sent here by Gov. Dan Moody to investigate the slaying of John A. Holmes, had alleged there existed in the county a conspiracy between certain county and city officials and a criminal element.

On the day troops arrived in Borger a military court of inquiry was set up and scores of witnesses gave testimony which officials hoped would result in conviction of alleged leaders in the county's underworld. A large number of arrests also were effected, some of whom were still held for further investigation.

Today's resignations brought to four the number announced since rangers first arrived in the county. The others were those of Walter Broomhall, justice of the peace in Borger, and C. A. Mitchell, a constable.

Mayor Pace was arrested shortly after troops arrived, and later released under $3,000 bond on a charge of having a witness in a murder case leave Borger.

VISIT the new Crane Exhibit Rooms for Washington

An interesting display of beautiful design in plumbing fixtures and a striking visualization of the progress in comfort-giving and labor-saving appliances

New and completely equipped Crane Exhibit Rooms are now open to you at 1018 Connecticut Avenue, N. W.

Placing on public view splendid examples of the new and more beautiful designs for plumbing fixtures, the recently developed fixtures in color, and new art-designs for fittings, these rooms are full of suggestions for greater beauty, comfort, and time-saving in bathroom, kitchen, and laundry.

Here house-planners, architects, realtors, builders, decorators, contractors, can keep in touch with the many recent developments and obtain information not only on equipment, but on decoration and arrangement in the modern mode.

They can also familiarize themselves with the growing array of mechanical improvements; automatic gas water heaters that need almost no attention from one year to another; water softeners that are this century's wonderfully improved version of the old unsatisfactory cistern; farm water systems that have placed all the benefits of plumbing at the service of isolated dwellings.

Crane representatives, experienced and helpful to the public and contractors alike, are on duty and ready to give any information and assistance in their power.

You are cordially invited to pay an early visit and to return as often as you please for further study and additional information. Because Crane materials are sold only through responsible plumbing contractors, you will not be asked to buy. When, in building or remodeling, you do wish to purchase, it is well to come in with your contractor and let him advise you as you select the materials that he will install.

ALWAYS DEAD TIRED?

How sad! Sallow complexion, coated tongue, poor appetite, bad breath, pimply skin and always tired. What's wrong? Chances are you're poisoned by clogged bowels and inactive liver. Take this famous prescription used constantly in place of calomel by men and women for 20 years—Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. They are harmless yet very effective. A compound of vegetable ingredients. They act easily upon the bowels, help free the system of poison caused by faulty elimination and tone up liver.

Rosy cheeks, clear eyes and youthful energy make a success of life. Take Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets, nightly. Know them by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 60c. All druggists.

The Seven Dials Mystery

AGATHA CHRISTIE.

A Cooked-Up Tale.

"Well, as I say," went on Supt. Battle, "we got Mr. Thesiger fairly on the run, badly rattled over this Seven Dials business and uncertain just where the danger lay. That we got him in the end was solely through Mr. Eversleigh. He knew what he was up against and he risked his life cheerfully. But he never dreamed that you would be dragged into it, Lady Eileen."

"My God, no," said Bill, with feeling.

"He went round to Mr. Thesiger's rooms with a cooked-up tale," continued Battle. "He was to pretend that certain papers of Dr. Devereux's had come into his hands. Those papers were to suggest a suspicion of Mr. Thesiger. Naturally, as the honest friend, Mr Eversleigh rushed round, sure that Mr. Thesiger would have an explanation. We calculated that if we were right Mr. Thesiger would try to put Mr. Eversleigh out of the way, and we were fairly certain as to the way he'd do it. Sure enough, Mr. Thesiger gave his guest a whisky and soda. During the minute or two that his host was out of the room Mr. Eversleigh poured that into a jar on the mantelpiece, but he had to pretend, of course, that the drug was taking effect. It would be slow, he knew, not sudden. He began his story, and Mr. Thesiger at first denied it all indignantly, but as soon as he saw (or thought I saw) that the drug was taking effect, he admitted everything and told Mr. Eversleigh that he was the third victim.

"When Mr. Eversleigh was nearly unconscious Mr. Thesiger took him down to the car and helped him in. The hood was up. He must already have telephoned to you unknown to Mr. Eversleigh. He made a clever suggestion to you. You were to say that you were taking Miss Wade home.

"You made no mention of a message from him. Later, when your body was found here, Miss Wade would swear that you had driven her home and gone up to London with the idea of penetrating into this house by yourself.

"Mr. Eversleigh continued to play his part, that of the unconscious man I may say that as soon as the two young men had left Jermyn street, one of my men gained admission and found the doctored whisky, which contained enough hydrochloride of morphia to kill two men. Also the car they were in was followed. Mr. Thesiger drove out of town to a well-known golf course, where he showed himself for a few minutes, speaking of playing a round. That, of course, was for an alibi, should one be needed. He left the car with Mr. Eversleigh in it a little way down the road. Then he drove back to town and to the Seven Dials Club. As soon as he saw Alfred leave, he drove up to the door, spoke to Mr. Eversleigh as he got out in case you might be listening, and came into the house and played his little comedy.

Bill's Story.

"When he pretended to go for a doctor, he really only slammed the door and then crept quietly upstairs and hid behind the door of this room, where Miss Wade would presently send you up on some excuse. Mr. Eversleigh, of course, was horror-struck when he saw you, but he thought it best to keep up the part he was playing. He knew our people were watching the house, and he imagined that there was no immediate danger intended to you. He could always 'come to life' at any moment. When Mr. Thesiger threw his revolver on the table and apparently left the house it seemed safer than ever. As for the next bit——" He paused, looking at Bill. "Perhaps you'd like to tell that, sir."

"I was still lying on that bally sofa," said Bill, "trying to look done in and getting the fidgets worse and worse. Then I heard some one run down the stairs, and Loraine got up and went to the door. I heard Thesiger's voice, but not what he said. I heard Loraine say: 'That's all right—it's gone splendidly.' Then he said: 'Help me carry him up. It will be a bit of a job, but I want them both together there—a nice little surprise for No. 7.' I didn't quite understand what they were jawing about, but they hauled me up the stairs somehow or other. It was a bit of a job for them. I made myself a dead weight, all right. They heaved me in here, and then I heard Loraine say: 'You're sure it's all right. She won't come round?' And Jimmy said—the damned blackguard: 'No fear. I hit with all my might.'

"They went away and locked the door, and then I opened my eyes and saw you. My God, Bundle, I shall never feel so perfectly awful again. I thought you were dead."

"I suppose my hat saved me," said Bundle.

"Partly," said Superintendent Battle. "But partly it was Mr. Thesiger's wounded arm. He didn't realize it himself—but it had only half its usual strength. Still, that's all no credit to the department. We didn't take the care of you we ought to have done, Lady Eileen—and it's a black blot on the whole business."

"Tough and Lucky."

"I'm very tough," said Bundle. "And also rather lucky. What I can't get over is Loraine being in it. She was such a gentle little thing."

"Ah!" said the superintendent. "So was the Pentonville murderess that killed five children. You can't go by that. She's got bad blood in her—her father ought to have seen the inside of a prison more than once."

"You've got her, too?"

Superintendent Battle nodded.

"I daresay they won't hang her—juries are soft-hearted. But young Thesiger will swing, all right—and a good thing, too—a more utterly depraved and callous criminal I never met."

"And now," he added. "If your head isn't aching too badly, Lady Eileen. What about a little celebration? There's a nice little restaurant round the corner"

Bundle heartily agreed.

"I'm starving, Superintendent Battle. Besides," she looked round, "I've got to get to know all my colleagues."

"The Seven Dials," said Bill. "Hurrah! Some fizz is what we need. Do they run to fizz at this place, Battle?"

"You won't have anything to complain of, sir. You leave it to me."

"Superintendent Battle," said Bundle, "you're a wonderful man. I'm sorry you're married already. As it is, I shall have to put up with Bill."

* * * * * * *

Lord Caterham Approves.

"Father," said Bundle, "I've got to break a piece of news to you. You're going to lose me."

"Nonsense," said Lord Caterham. "Don't tell me that you're suffering from galloping consumption or a weak heart or anything like that, because I simply don't believe it."

"It's not death," said Bundle. "It's marriage."

"Very nearly as bad," said Lord Caterham. "I suppose I shall have to come to the wedding, all dressed up in tight, uncomfortable clothes, and give you away. And Lomax may think it necessary to kiss me in the vestry."

"Good heavens! You don't think I'm going to marry George, do you?" cried Bundle.

"Well, something like that seemed to be in the wind last time I saw you," said her father. "Yesterday morning, you know."

"I'm going to be married to some one a hundred times nicer than George," said Bundle.

"I hope so, I'm sure," said Lord Caterham. "But one never knows. I don't feel you're really a good judge of character, Bundle. You told me that young Thesiger was a cheerful inefficient, and from all I hear now it seems that he was one of the most efficient criminals of the day."

"The sad thing is that I never met him. I was thinking of writing my reminiscences soon—with a special chapter on murderers I have met—and by a purely technical oversight I never met this young man."

"Don't be silly," said Bundle. "You know you haven't got the energy to write reminiscences or anything else."

"I wasn't actually going to write them myself," said Lord Caterham. "I believe that's never done. But I met a very charming girl the other day and that's her special job. She collects the material and does all the actual writing."

"And what do you do?"

"Oh, just give her a few facts for half an hour every day. Nothing more than that." After a slight pause, Lord Caterham said: "She was a nice looking girl—very restful and sympathetic."

"Father," said Bundle, "I have a feeling that without me you will run into deadly danger."

"Different kinds of danger suit different kinds of people," said Lord Caterham.

He was moving away when he turned back and said, over his shoulder:

"By the way, Bundle, who are you marrying?"

"I was wondering," said Bundle, "when you were going to ask me that. I'm going to marry Bill Eversleigh."

The egoist thought it over for a minute. Then he nodded in complete satisfaction.

"Excellent," he said. "He's scratch isn't he? He and I can play together in the foursomes in the autumn meeting."

Behind the Screens

With NELSON B. BELL

AS I sat and watched Charles Farrell making his first personal appearance in Washington at the Fox Theater Sunday afternoon, I was impressed with his total freedom from affectation and his perfect naturalness—no pompous egotism, no straining for effect, no false assumption of counterfeit dignity just an excited youngster being wholly himself before a crowd of some 3,500 total strangers, except as his splendid costellar screen work with Janet Gaynor had created a bond of friendship between them.

Chas. Farrell.

That impression was completely substantiated and strengthened many fold yesterday during an intermittent interview that occupied some two hours or more and included luncheon at the Press Club and a considerable period at the theater both before and after his first afternoon appearance. Here is probably Hollywood's solitary exhibit of a totally unspoiled popular idol.

Charlie Farrell is a "small town fellow" and proud of it. Born in Walpole, Mass., in 1905, he received his education in Onset Bay, Mass., and at Boston University and pursued comparatively humble callings until in 1924 he crashed the M-G-M studios as a participant in a mob scene. There is no need to go into what has happened since then.

But it is important, I think, that Charlie's career and his personal popularity have both been founded upon the simple doctrine that finds full expression in, "Be yourself." In one of our snatches of conversation yesterday he admitted frankly enough that when he first began to get about, the big flashy hotels, the smart restaurants and the other haunts of those who long had been accustomed to the more extravagant of the metropolitan luxuries, awed him no little. So he took it gradually and grew into these concomitants of successful stardom little by little—always being himself.

Now that he is engaged in making the first tour of personal appearances he has ever been called upon to undertake, he is finding that he has a bit of background after all and is getting a tremendous kick out of it.

In New York, for example, he renewed an early acquaintance with Mickey Cochrane, catcher on the world champion Philadelphia Athletics, who was one of his classmates at school and with whom he used to play ball and box—confiding, bashfully, that in those days he could "handle" Mickey with the gloves. When he was playing Philadelphia last week, he was guest of the A's at the world series and had the time of his life sitting in the dugout with Connie Mack and kidding the boys in the showers.

Saturday, in Baltimore, he got another thrill when he was an honored guest at the Notre Dame-Navy game and dropped a small wager on the Navy.

Yesterday at lunch, he spied another old school mate half way across the dining room and was shaking hands with him before any one knew where he had disappeared to so suddenly. That's the kind of a lad he is.

When another opportunity offered—he is one of the most hand-shaked kids I have ever known—I asked him how making talking pictures compares with the work to which he had formerly been accustomed in the silent studios and learned that talking pictures are infinitely more exacting, require concentrated study of lines and business and cause the silent movies, in retrospect, to seem "a push-over." There is the advantage, however, of less work per picture. That is to say that if the intention is to produce an eight-reel talking film, dialogue and business to the approximate length of eight reels are prepared and that is all that is shot—in contrast to the 80-odd reels that sometimes have been exposed to be cut to eight in the old silent days.

Outside of the confidence that might be inspired by habitual singing in the bath, Charlie was not sure whether he could sing or not when Winfield R. Sheehan, in charge of all Fox production, broached the matter of "Sunny Side Up," the talking-singing-dancing hit in which he and Miss Gaynor are packing them in at the Gaiety Theater in New York at the $2 scale—but he could learn. So he went to a voice culturist and in a few weeks again visited Mr Sheehan all primed to do the "Vesti la Giubba" aria from Leoncavallo's "Il Pagliacci" for him. He never even got started on that threadbare number, but was turned over to De Sylva, Brown and Henderson, the ace tunesters on the Fox lot, and taught to apply his newly developed talent to the gentle art of crooning love ballads more or less dripping with sentiment. How well he mastered the knack has been demonstrated these last two days at the Fox to the complete satisfaction of capacity audiences. So thoroughly demonstrated, in fact, that Charlie gladly consented to do four shows yesterday instead of the scheduled two, in order not to disappoint all those of the overflow who wished to see and hear him.

He and his traveling companion, Jack Francis, that noble excursionist, who also accompanied Victor McLaglen on his recent transcontinental jaunt that embraced Washington last midsummer, left the Capital last night for Pittsburgh, whence they journey to Cincinnati for Wednesday to go on from there to St. Louis and then back to the Coast for more pictures.

The off hours yesterday, what few there were, were spent in a tour of the city, an audience at the White House having been disrupted by the absence of the President at the final world's series game in Philadelphia.

Is Mr. Farrell downhearted over the recent marriage of Janet Gaynor?

DEAREST GENEVIEVE:

Isn't it the most amazing thing, the way the styles have changed almost over night? Short skirts now look positively old fashioned, and any girl with temerity to wear them seems utterly passe.

The new long lines must be cleverly made, and so the indifferent copyists are finding it hard to achieve their ends in cheaper clothes. This is certainly the season for authentic copies, or important originals.

With the Weather Continuing So Fair

—you may still have children's pictures taken out doors by Underwood & Underwood. This famous studio has always specialized in children's portraiture, but now since they have the new fast camera, when they can take two expressions at once, the results are almost unbelievable.

If you have seen the window full of children's pictures now shown at Underwood's you will be interested to know how such effects could be achieved. This is the only studio in the city which has the double exposure camera, and needless to say, the demand for pictures is very great.

While it is still posible to take outdoor pictures, mothers are making appointments to have Underwood & Underwood photograph their youngsters. In a natural setting, such as one usually sees children in, a photograph means so much more than with an artificial background, or even an interior.

Inexpensive Little Daytime Frocks

—should be as pretty as any others. Schwartz, in their new shop at 1325 Connecticut avenue, has such charming models as low as $19.75. There are travel silks in such nice combinations of greens and browns and all the rich, autumny shades.

One of the best things about shopping in Schwartz is the fact that there are all imaginable sizes. Really, you would hardly think it would be possible to find ready-made dresses which have the out-size features so important.

Lucky You Are If Still Undecided

—on where you will live this winter. The Cavalier Apartments, 3500 Fourteenth street, have so much to offer. They have hotel service, a fine cafe, a roof garden, unlimited parking space, and apartments of so many sizes that any one and every one could be pleased.

The one, two and three room apartments are furnished. The four, five and six room apartments are unfurnished, which gives you a wonderful opportunity to carry out your own ideas of decoration.

The moderate tariff is one of the attractive features of the Cavalier.

Herron's On The Second Floor

—at 1735 Conn. Ave. has so many little inexpensive frocks for you to fill in with. Several models at $25, you would expect to be much more. A tweed in lavender has a purple leather belt and is most attractive. A brown wool crepe with a coat effect in front has an eggshell blouse. You will like a rosewood crepe with a pleated skirt and a knitted top. This is only $16.50. You will also like a navy blue and white mixed, loosely woven wool crepe, amost like a tweed. In fact, there are so many nice frocks to choose from that you will want several at the small prices which prevail. Remember Herron's, 1735 Connecticut Avenue, on the second floor.

Children's Clothes At Nealon & Co.

—are being sold out at less than cost. This shop in the Barr Building is going out of business. Many of the garments had been purchased for fall selling, and to have a chance to buy them at such a reduction, right now, when the children need them most, is an opportunity you would hardly find again.

Sizes are in such a range that many grown-up people can use some of the frocks and coats, just depending on the age they can wear. A number of little sweaters are in the lot, which are tremendous bargains.

Russina Says That Women

—should not go on blindly using cosmetics, without some expert information on how to keep their complexions in proper condition, in spite of it.

It is entirely possible to use cosmetics, regularly, and still keep the bloom of youth, which will not fade away with the first added years. However, Russina thinks it is necessary, if one wishes to think ahead, to the time when one's complexion will begin to be a consideration, to give the greatest care to cleansing the skin properly before and after the application of powder and rouge. Not one woman in twenty knows how to do this properly. Go up today and see Russina, 1609 Conn. Ave.

Two Young Ladies Who Like Travel

—are wanted to join a party of four sailing for Europe in November. They will take the southern route to Naples, will visit Spain, Algiers, Morocco, Sicily, Italy, Austria, Germany, Switzerland for winter sports and Christmas holidays, the Riviera, stopping for some time at Cannes, during the season, then on to Biarritz, going to Paris in the early spring, when the chestnut trees are blooming in the Bois. Finally they will go to England for the prettiest part of the spring there.

Two girls between the ages of 16 and 22 will enjoy the party the most. Go in the C. C. Drake Travel Bureau, in the Willard Hotel, and ask more about it.

Adorable Hats From Pasternak's

—have all the season's newest features, which proclaim them distinctly the last word. Hats, like everything else, are totally different than anything we have had in years. The small cap-like hats framing the face and showing the forehead, with flared cuffs and shirred effects at the sides, are perfect for youthful faces. For everybody past 16, so to speak, they must be modified a little to suit the individual. In the great number of lovely hats of soleil, and satin and velvet, are models for everybody.

Furs and costumes for day and evening are shown at Pasternak's, 1219 Conn. Ave., in great profusion.

Betty Hanna Has New Things

—for you to see, which just came in yesterday. A black jersey sleeveless frock with a bolero jacket trimmed in bands of black astrakhan, is too quaint! A tweed one-piece dress, so well cut, has a wide belt of brown leather, but the frocks you will perfectly love are the black flat crepes with touches of pure white at the neck and wrists. These are so chaste looking, but fashioned so subtly that they could not possibly be imitated by an indifferent dressmaker.

A brown wool crepe in this new shipment has odd flares in the skirt, and bands of summer ermine at the V-shaped neck and around the wrists. Betty Hanna, 1613 Conn. Ave.

Place Plates in Rare Porcelain

—are to be fond now in Martin's, in designs different than anything you have ever seen before. They are in sets of varying colors or entire sets of uniform pattern, but in every case too, lovely.

The Dresden figures in groups or in single figures are exquisite in their daintiness. Have you seen a group of a court lady leaning out of a sedan chair, with two courtiers attending her?

Martin's, 1317 Conn. Ave., has more interesting things now than they have ever had, as Mr. Martin personally selected such quantities of beautiful art objects and glass and china on his trip this summer through the cities of Europe.

If you are in doubt about a wedding present for any one, you won't be long after a visit to this lovely shop. Everything to choose from, makes it easy to decide. Then, too, Martin's have the faculty, or shall I say genius, for making up the most luscious packages that ever were seen or heard of. They use great chous of tulle in many colors, and delicate satin ribbons, until the packages look good enough to eat.

The Wilson-Greene Artist Course

—is to be more wonderful than ever this year. Perhaps you have seen the list of artists who will give concerts this season.

The series of five concerts opens on Monday afternoon, November 4. Vladimir Horowitz, "the greatest pianist of the rising generation," is to give the opening concert. He is a young Russian, whose astonishing technique has earned him, appropriately, the above sobriquet. Those who heard him last year are entranced at the possibility of hearing him again.

The concerts are to be given this year in Poli's at 4:30 on designated Mondays.

Tickets are on sale now at the Wilson-Greene Bureau in Droop's, 1300 G street. The prices for season tickets are $16 for orchestra seats for the five concerts. Other orchestra seats are $13.50. Balcony seats for the series are $11 or $8. There is such a range of prices that all music lovers can afford to enjoy this wonderful series.

The dates are November 4, November 19, January 13, February 4, February 28.

Affectionately,

Edison Will Be Honored Over Radio

Magic Fire of Electricity to Figure in Broadcast Tonight; Willard Robison on WMAL at 8; Theater Reviews.

Al Jolson, Bebe Daniels and Ann Pennington, famous stage and screen favorites, will be heard during the special one-hour broadcast of the Pure Oil program through the National Broadcasting Co. system, headed by WJZ and including WBAL and WLW but not WRC, at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

The presentations of these artists will be picked up from Los Angeles studios and broadcast to radio listeners. The band, under the baton of Edwin Franko Goldman, will be heard from the East coast. Al Jolson will sing "Mammy," "Little Pal," "Sonny Boy" and "Why Can't You?" while Miss Daniels will be heard in "When Love Comes Along."

The Eveready Hour will be dedicated to Thomas Edison on the fiftieth anniversary of the electrical wizard's discovery of the secret of incandescent light. A musical program of symphonic proportions, with the central theme of the magic fire of electricity, will be the feature of the broadcast. The program follows:

"Electricity March," Shilkret; "Hymn to the Sun," Ancient Inca; "Hymn to the Sun," Rimsky-Korsakoff; "Magic Fire Music," Wagner; "Scheherazade," Rimsky-Korsakoff; "Edison the Wonder," "Torch Dance," German, and "Sparks," Moskowski.

Edward A. Stinson, a pioneer in aviation and formerly a coholder of the world's endurance flying record, will talk on "Learning to Fly; Yesterday and Today," when the Roads of the Sky program on aviation is broadcast at 7 o'clock.

A local program will be sponsored by Goldenberg's in connection with the thirty-fourth anniversary of this department store at 7:30 o'clock.

The R-K-O Hour will feature George K. Arthur, screen comedian, in a short skit; Olsen and Johnson, comedians; Peter Higgins, tenor, and Healy and Cross, harmony singers. Edward Thorgersen will announce the program.

Wagner's prelude to "Tristan und Isold" and his "Zug der Frauen" from "Lohengrin" frame the program of operatic excerpts which Ludwig Laurier and a string ensemble will broadcast at 11 o'clock. Other selections are from "The Pearlfishers," Bizet; "Hansel and Gretel," Humperdinck, and the "Meditation" from "Thais."

Willard Robison will be heard as guest artist of the Blackstone program to be broadcast from WMAL at 8 o'clock. He will play three of his own compositions, "The Devil Is Afraid of Music," "A Letter From Dixie" and "We'll Have a New Home in the Morning."

A one-step medley will be played during the Old Gold-Paul Whiteman Hour to be presented from WMAL at 9 oclock, while other orchestral numbers include a group of Kern hits, "Shoo-Shoo-Boogie-Boo," "Lonely Troubadour," "I Get the Blues When It Rains," "True Blue Lou" and "Where the Shy Little Violets Grow."

R. Leonard Stokes, barytone, will be heard in two selections during the program to be broadcast by the Fada Orchestra under the direction of David Mendoza at 10 o'clock.

Massenet's "Angelus," Aucliffe's "Nights of Gladness" and Schumann's "Traumerei" will be played by Jesse Crawford at 11 o'clock via WMAL.

The Dream Boat program includes "The Bells of St. Mary's," "L'Amour, Toujours, l'Amour," "To a Water Lily," "The Voice of the Chimes," "Lisetta," "Indian Wall" and "Serenade Espanol."

Another of the theater reviews featuring Peggy and Mack will be broadcast over WOL at 7 o'clock this evening. Estelle Hunt Dean, soprano, will be featured at 7:15 o'clock.

What Today Means to You

"LIBRA."

If October 15 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:50 a. m. to 11 a. m., from 3:40 p. m. to 5 p. m., and from 9:30 p. m. to 10:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 7 a. m. to 8:50 a. m. and from 7 p. m. to 9 p.m.

This date will be full of small worries and difficulties. Little appreciable progress will be made, but time will prove that "a point is the beginning of a magnitude." Profitable seeds will be sown.

Children born on this October 15 will have positive natures, will be abrupt and sometimes precipitous in their actions. They will have retentive memories, and will learn readily. They will have personalities that draw others to them, and will make a host of friends.

You have a very exacting nature, and unless everything is just so, you fret and worry, and for this reason, you at times make every one about you uncomfortable. If a woman, you are not only overly particular about large things, but you are panicky about small matters. Your insistence on the little things of life may lose you the big things, and cause you to suffer from an emotional shipwreck, especially if you are married. You pounce upon every omission and petty neglect and turn them into grievances. You set great stock upon sentimental values, and do not realize that they are not worth much from a masculine standard. Invisible devotion does not impress you. There can be beauty and fitness in small attentions, but you must not allow them to usurp more than their right place in the relationship of human beings. Seek more satisfying food than flattery!

If a man, you are so strongly endowed with the desire to reason that you often stand in your own light. Once you have reached a decision, you seldom change your mind. You carry through your plans at any cost. Your sense of logic and reason fit you for the study of law. You are a very intelligent conversationalist. You seldom display your emotions.

Successful people born October 15:

Albert L. Rawson—Artist and author.

Denman Thompson—Actor.

Herbert W. Ladd—Merchant and Governor of Rhode Island.

Frank V. Van Der Stucken—Musician and famous conductor.

Ernest Peixoto—Artist.

William S. Sims—Admiral, United States Navy.

Couple Allowed to Change Name.

Justice Alfred A. Wheat, in District of Columbia Supreme Court, yesterday signed an order permitting Sterling Ely Abrams and his wife, Helen Tompkins Abrams, to change their respective names to Sterling Abrams Ely and Helen Tompkins Ely. The couple filed a joint petition asking leave to change their names, setting out that the surname of Abrams gave an erroneous impression of racial origin.

Huge Radio Corporation Is Formed

General Motors Directs New Concern Backed Also by Radio Corporation and Two Foremost Electric Companies.

As a result of negotiations which have been widely discussed during the past few weeks, General Motors Corporation has concluded an agreement with the Radio Corporation of America, General Electric Co. and Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Co., under which it proposes to enter the radio business in a large way, according to a joint statement made in New York late yesterday by Alfred P. Sloan, president of General Motors Corporation, and David Sarnoff, executive vice president of the Radio Corporation of America.

"Not only do we believe that there is a great opportunity for the development of the radio business as an adjunct to the automobile, but the radio field in general is one that is closely related to the automobile and electric appliance business in which the General Motors is engaged," the statement continued.

"New Cadillac and LaSalle cars have been designed for radio installation and thousands of installations already have been contracted for by dealers," Mr. Sloan said. "As quickly as possible the same facilities will be available for other makes of General Motors cars."

Financing of Project.

The new corporation will be known as the General Motors Radio Corporation and has been organized with a capital stock of $10,000,000 preferred and $1,000,000 common shares of no par value. The radio group is to contribute $4,900,000 in cash and to grant licenses under all their patents covering radio sound and picture receiving and reproducing sets for use in homes and automotive vehicles. General Motors Corporation is to subscribe $5,100,000 in cash ang to assume the management of the new enterprise.

The radio group, consisting of Radio Corporation of America, General Electric Co. and Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Co. will own 49 per cent and General Motors 51 per cent of the total stock.

The Radio Corporation of America will continue independently as heretofore, both as to the manufacture and distribution of its products, and the General Motors Radio Corporation will develop its business along separate lines.

Concerns to Cooperate.

"The Radio Corporation and the General Motors Corporation will cooperate to make the new arrangement a success," the statement concluded.

The board of directors of the General Motors Corporation follows: John Thomas Smith, vice president and general counsel of General Motors Corporation, chairman; R. J. Emmort, president General Motors Radio Corporation; Gen. James G. Harboard president Radio Corporation of America; John L. Pratt, vice president General Motors Corporation; Andrew W. Robertson, chairman of the board, Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Co.; David Sarnoff, executive vice president Radio Corporation of America; Alfred P. Sloan, jr., president General Motors Corporation; Gerard Swope, president General Electric Co., and C. B. Wilson, vice president General Motors Corporation.

Terrible Floods of the Past.

RIVERS have been useful to mankind from very early times. They have served as an easy means of carrying goods from one point to another. At present the auto truck and the railroad have taken the place of rivers to a large degree, but there is still a great deal of river commerce.

Before and after a Tennessee flood.

Rivers have also been dangerous to mankind. Two years ago the Mississippi rose in a terrible flood, claiming 350 lives and destroying property worth about $250,000,000.

That flood is within recent memory, but it does not compare with many floods which have taken place in other countries at other times. China has suffered many terrible floods. In 1911 the Klang River overflowed its banks, forming a lake 80 miles long and 35 miles wide. In the Klang flood 100,000 persons lost their lives and 3,750,000 were made homeless.

Other floods have been caused by inrushes of the sea, most often in Holland, which is largely below sea level. Five hundred years ago 72 Dutch villages were covered by sea water, and there was a great loss of life. In 1646 another great invasion of the sea caused the drowning of 110,000 persons in Holland.

A tidal wave swept up over the shores of India in 1876, around Bengal, and snuffed out 200,000 lives. The worst flood France has experienced during the present century came about in 1910. The Seine overflowed its banks, causing a loss in property of $200,000,000. The loss of life in that flood is unknown.

From these facts we see the danger which water brings to the people of the earth. There is a constant "war" going on between sea and land. Even when there is no flood, waves and tides are eating away at the land. In the course of a century, many changes take place in the lines of the seashore. Were it not for the rising of land here and there, because of pressure from under the earth, the seas would surely cover everything.

Rivers are also doing their work of fighting the land. Streams from mountains carry soil to rivers, and the rivers carry it to the sea—sometimes forming deltas where the soil is "dumped."

It seems to be a favorite pastime of people who write about fashions and all things pertaining to the fragile sex to revert from time to time to the matter of long or short tresses. Personally, I think it is a lifesaver in times of mental drought—because it is so universally and continually interesting.

L'le Poke.

Long hair or short hair, that is the question.

And the answer is, whichever you wish, my dear!

Long hair, of course, has loveliness on its side, and graciousness—but you will be considered quite as modish and up-to-date with either. It will never be a style matter again, but a matter of personal choice.

• • • •

Many, many women have been brought to the realization that shorn tresses rob one of one of the most valued weapons of individuality, and this, coupled with the belated admission that all heads and figures are not at their best in short coiffeur, are causing them to let their hair grow. There is an increasing demand for hats with large head sizes. The barber chairs are no longer full from morn till night with patient ladies clamoring for a neck-shave. Many clever and lovely ladies, indeed, did not cut their hair at all, and many who did are letting it grow.

The way to definitely make up your mind about this is to study the contours of your face, and your silhouette—that is, your general outlines from head to foot. Decide whether your appearance is improved with a bobbed coiffeur or not, and whether you wish to undertake the trouble and expense of keeping it bobbed. (Loud protests from the bobbed ones!)

If your hair is short and you wish to let it grow, here is a secret. You need not go through that horrible "intermediate stage" when the hair is so untidy at the back that, in despair, you have it trimmed again! Simply have what are called "side pieces" made to match your hair when you decide to let it grow, and wear this in a soft braid or roll pinned from ear to ear around the back. By the time your hair has grown long enough to arrange it this way, you can discard them—and, oh, the agony of untidyness it saves one!

• • • •

Personally, I am much in favor of long hair for most types, and approve bobbed heads only on the jeune fille and on very petite women. Large women, womanly women, lose much by it; tall, slender women of boyish contours can wear short hair successfully. And I wouldn't bob my hair for—ask me! Well, anything short of an imminent trip to the guillotine. (Me 'n Therese de Stainbille).

How to make masquerade costumes—and more suggestions in this week's illustrated leaflet! Better send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post. A masquerade today, tomorrow or a month from now, but all of a sudden you'll want an utterly original idea for a costume and you'll be so-o-o-o-o glad you sent in for this week's leaflet!

• • • •

Redfern elegance again reasserts itself, quietly and unmistakably, in the lovely afternoon gown we were privileged to illustrate for you today. White chiffon velvet has novel incrustations of black velvet, and a separate sash of the black velvet falls over the softly swirling side panel of the skirt.

• • • •

No, we decided we wouldn't swat very hard today, just a little poke, as it were. Because this is going to be a long drawn out battle and whatsa use of wearing you out? "Hasta-swatta"!

• • • •

Lo-o-oh! Are you reading the weekly Dare fashion letter in The Washington Post each Sunday?

HOW TO KEEP WELL

DO NOT BURN LEAVES.

THIS experience happened on a Sound boat between New York and Boston in the month of October. The boat left New York, went up the Sound and through the canal. It was due in Boston about breakfast time and the man concerned had a somewhat important engagement soon thereafter.

When he awakened, expecting to be near the dock, he found the boat had been tied up for several hours at the entrance of the canal because of fog and smoke, and it was not likely to dock until the later afternoon. The fog was occasioned by the smoke and that in turn was due to burning grass and leaves. The principal cause of the peculiar atmospheric conditions which have come to be associated with Indian summer is the smokiness of the air, largely the result of burning leaves.

Since smoke begets cloud and fog and industry is slowed down by lack of light during this period of the year, the business interests have some right to even up some scores. All the balance of the year householders complain that the air is made hazy, light is obscured and fogs and clouds are caused by the burning of leaves and grass.

In addition there is even a more important cause for complaint. Summer has gone and most of the people have taken in a big dosage of sunshine. Many have taken too much and been tanned thereby. Some of this sunshine has been converted into vitamin and stored away in the reservoirs of the body. Now the lean days are approaching. By January there will be but little effective sunshine even on clear days. There is little enough during the early winter. It will not be long before we will be raiding our reservoirs for vitamins to help us fight off colds and pneumonia. We need all the light and sunshine we can get during the Indian summer season lest we run short of stored vitamins between February and May.

The moral is—do not burn leaves.

CELEBRATING INDEPENDENCE.

Mrs. G. C. T. writes: I hope you will write repeatedly on lockjaw after Fourth of July injuries. I knew of two deaths this year from such fireworks injuries. In neither case did the burns seem severe.

1. Just how severe must the burn be to cause lockjaw?

2. Does the wound that causes lockjaw appear to heal or does it show infection?

3. If so, how soon after the injury?

4. Would the application of any home remedy prevent infection with lockjaw?

REPLY.

1. While deep wounds are more dangerous than shallow ones, and narrow wound tracks than open wound surfaces, it is dangerous to rely on shallowness of wound as a protection against lockjaw. Infection with lockjaw bacillus may take place in an open wound.

2. When you speak of infection you mean infection with pus bacteria, causing redness, heat, swelling and pus. Infection with lockjaw bacillus may cause none of these symptoms. The wound may appear almost free from local reaction.

3. The incubation period varies from less than one week to more than three weeks. Cases with a short incubation period are very severe. Those with a long one frequently recover.

4. Probably not, or to a very limited extent at best. Closed dressings promote lockjaw. If the wound is dressed "open" the chance of lockjaw is decreased. However, the only safe prevention procedure is inoculation with antitoxin at the time of dressing. In the World War the dose of antitoxin given was small but it was repeated in one week.

WORK ON BRIDGE

PARTNERS WHO HAVE SADDENED MY LIFE.

In the following hand I occupied the North seat. The cards were distributed as follows:

The Auction Bridge bidding would be: South one Heart, West pass, and North either pass or a pre-empting bid of three or four Hearts. North has such strength that pre-emption seems unnecessary. East would pass; so South in Auction would play with a contract of one Heart unless North thought pre-emption advisable.

The deal was played at Contract. With the South holding my partner bid one Heart. He did not have much side strength to support his five-card Ace-Queen-Jack suit; but a King—even a singleton—is an asset, and as he also had a Queen the bid was thoroughly justified. West passed, and I, sitting North, jumped to four Hearts. In Contract, in addition to normal support, a count of 13 is needed to jump partner's one-bid to two; four more (17) to three; and four more (21) to four. I had normal support in Hearts. My Spades counted 7, my Diamonds 6, and my Clubs 8; so I just had the 21 required to bid for game. There was no further bidding.

I did not expose any of my cards until West led, as the laws do not require dummy to do so and it would have been very silly to give West gratuitous information. An absurd idea has become prevalent that dummy should place his trumps on the table before the first lead is made—no such custom is followed where the game is properly played.

West led originally his fourth best Diamond, dummy ducked, East won with the King and returned the suit. My hand won the second trick and the Heart finesse was tried. This lost to West's King, who led a third Diamond; East ruffled and, as we had to lose a Spade, we were defeated.

Why did I regret that I held a fine hand with a punk partner?

THE CORRECT PLAY.

Playing to trick 1, my partner should have seen that unless he played the Ace he would go down if the Kings of Diamonds and Hearts were wrong and if East held only two Diamonds; but by playing the Ace of Diamonds on trick 1, and then leading the Ace of Clubs from my hand (sacrificing his own King), and next the Queen of Clubs on which he would discard a Diamond he would ensure the game. If West had led from the King of Diamonds, the play my partner made might have produced a small slam; but in Contract unbid slams do not count and in neither Contract nor Auction do we consider extra tricks when trying for them jeopardizes the game.

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES M'DONALD

"SHE WAS KIND."

DEAR Miss McDonald—Please help me through your column.

I went with a man for some time, and on account of his infatuation for another girl we drifted apart. Since then he has broken up with this girl and has been keeping company with a third. This winter she was away. He called me and wanted to see me. I consented, as I still care for him. I rather thought I'd give him another chance. He called twice and seemed the same as ever, and talked of what we would do this summer and where we would go. We made an appointment, but he failed to keep it. I wanted to have some kind of an understanding with him, so I wrote and asked him to call a certain night. He didn't come and he didn't let me know his reason. Two weeks ago his girl came back. I attended a dance where he was present. I couldn't really put myself out to speak to him. I felt so terribly hurt. He didn't seem to like my being there. He seemed to do everything possible to hurt me. I was sick in bed over it, but I attended a ball this week to see if he wouldn't feel hurt at treating me the way he did; but again he didn't seem at all pleased to see me there. I tried my best not to show how I felt. I can't seem to realize he doesn't care for me any more, but his actions seem to prove that he doesn't.

Would it be possible for him to do this if he cared for me? What I would like to know, Miss MacDonald, is this. I know or I feel that some time again he will feel inclined to want to see me. How will I go about it to refuse, as I love him dearly? I can't have words with him. It would be hard even to refuse, I'm afraid if I consented to see him, after his treating me as he has—it would look as though I didn't have much respect for myself. In all the time I went with him he often said that I was the kindest person he ever knew. How could he treat me as he has if he really thought that? Do you think it's because I have given him so many times? You may not be able to print all my letter, but I do hope you will just tell me how to handle the situation. I try to act as though I didn't care when my heart is nearly breaking, but it doesn't seem to work. If he does not see me at all, or if I look down and out he seems more pleased.

Sincerely, "MARY B."

Don't be a doormat, Mary. And do not build up a reputation for being "kind." Men seldom put themselves about to buy orchids for the "Old Dog Tray" type of woman. Be pleasant if you must, but never be kind. It is fatal. A man will fight his way through fire for a woman, but let the same woman come up and insist upon making him a gift of herself, and his interest vanishes like smoke.

Put out of your mind every thought of this person who resents your existence. He is a self-centered egotist that most women would ignore. Forget him, and the best way to forget one man is some other man. Plenty of them, Mary. Just pick one, and this time be interesting rather than kind. Time enough to be kind to them when they are old. Under 30 they prefer pep. So profit by experience and be mean!

Prices realized on Swift & Co. sales of carcass beef in Washington, D. C., for week ending Saturday, October 12, 1929, on shipments sold out ranged from 13.75 cents to 25.58 cents per pound and averaged 21.53 cents per pound.—Adv.

STOCK PRICES DROP IN LISTLESS SESSION

Pools Manage to Send Few Issues Up but Volume Is Lowest in Months.

MANY CAUSES ARE CITED

New York, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Stock prices drifted substantially lower in the dullest session of the market in months today. The day's trading involved a turnover of only 2,755,850 shares, the smallest volume for a five-hour session since July. Pools managed to send a few selected issues, in which special developments are reported to be pending, sharply higher, but the market slumped into a general reaction in the last hour, and much of the earlier gains were lost. The dullness of the session was attributed to uncertainty over the market's technical position, with the rally from the low levels reached in the break early in the month apparently completed; advices of many commission houses to stand on the sidelines for the time being; failure of many traders to return after the two-day holiday, and the absence of others from the market owing to observance of the Jewish religious holiday.

Utilities Are Dull.

The utilities were dull and emphatically heavy, and there was a tendency to ascribe this to the announcement over the week-end of the Massachusetts Public Service Department's adverse ruling on the application of the Edison Electric Illuminating Co. to split up its stock. The decision intimated that the stock was selling too high, and that a split-up would tend to increase dividend requirements at the expense of economical rates. The stock broke 60 points on the Boston Stock Exchange, and many traders were inclined to feel that the ruling may have far reaching results, as utility stocks generally have been selling in very high ratios to earnings.

Otherwise, news was largely satisfactory. Secretary of Commerce Lamont stated that the business conditions generally healthy. Leading rubber tire manufacturers increased prices. American Telephone announced a substantial increase in earnings during the first nine months of the year. Moderate improvement in steel mill activity in the Youngstown area was reported. Call money held at 6 per cent all day, despite heavy mid-month interest and dividend requirements, and time money eased.

Motors Inclined to Rally.

In sharp contrast to the trends of the last few months, motors were inclined to rally, while utilities sagged. It was rumored that powerful interests in the motor industry, believing that the decline in motor stocks had carried them to attractive levels in view of earnings and dividends, despite current uncertainties in the industry, were planning a large investment trust to specialize in motor shares. Chrysler led the move, selling up more than 5 points in a heavy turnover.

Several of the food shares were strong, Kraft-Phenix and Hershey Chocolate reaching new highs on rumors of inclusion in a new merger, and Canada Dry Ginger Ale scaling another peak on talk of an extra divi dend. National Lead made an extreme gain of 16 points on reports of improvement in the trade outlook. Western Union sold up 12 points to a new peak, making a gain of some 60 points since the recent break, on further talk of a capital readjustment. The American Tobacco stocks soared more than 10 points, then reacted. International Business Machines mounted 12 points to another new top. Oils were generally firm.

Most Rails Are Heavy.

Rails were mostly heavy, but New Haven sold up more than 4 points to a new peak above 130. International Paper proved to be an exception to the downward tendency of the utilities, rising 8 points to a new peak at 90. Among issues losing about 3 to 8 points were U. S. Steel, American & Foreign Power, American Water Works, Atchison, Consolidated Gas, General Electric, National Biscuit, North American, Pacific Gas, Simmons, Union Carbide and U. S. Industrial Alcohol.

Commodities were also generally heavy. Cotton lost about 60 cents to $1.10 a bale on Southern selling; wheat and corn a cent and more a bushel on bearish crop and weather reports. Coffee futures rallied for a time, but reacted and closed irregular.

Foreign exchanges were generally strong, sterling, the German mark, French franc and Dutch guilder reaching new highs for the year or longer, as the gradual withdrawal of foreign funds from New York continued. The Spanish peseta, however, broke sharply on withdrawal of government support.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—The cotton market was lower today under continued Southern selling and liquidation, which probably was influenced by reports of favorable weather for the movement in Eastern and Central belt sections and the apparent absence of aggressive support. December contracts sold off to 18.20 or 21 points net lower and into new low ground for the movement. They closed at 18.21, with the general market closing easy at net declines of 13 to 23 points.

The market opened steady at a decline of 7 to 7 points under Southern selling orders which appeared to have accumulated here over the holiday. Offerings were absorbed by trade buying and covering on the scale down, and after showing net losses of about 6 to 10 points, the market steadied up slightly on covering. There was not much support on the bulges, and the market eased off again during the afternoon.

The lowest prices of the day were reached in the late trading when October sold at 18.08 and March at 18.60 or 17 to 20 points net lower. Last prices were within a point of the lowest of the day and about 15 to 20 points below the low levels touched right after the publication of last week's Government crop report on the more active positions.

No particular news feature was emphasized by local traders in connection with the decline which was supposed to reflect expectations of continued free marketing in the South and liquidation of straddle long accounts which was said to be coming chiefly through brokers with Wall Street connections.

The trade was credited with buying in considerable volume during the day. The support from this source steadied the market as the price approached 18.30 for December over and again around the 18.40 cent level, but the demand was gradually filled up by the Southern and local selling.

Liverpool cables advices said that hedging and scattered liquidation had been absorbed by continental and Bombay buying in the market there, and reported fair sales of cotton cloths for shipment to the continent and South America.

Exports today, 56,206, making 1,337,771 so far this season. Port receipts, 102,287; United States port stocks, 1,700,288.

PRIME RAILS AGAIN LEAD BOND ADVANCE

Buying on Smaller Scale but Averages Reach High Levels.

TIME MONEY IS EASIER

New York, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—The first grade rails again led the bond market into higher ground today as time money showed further easiness. Buying was on a smaller scale than in last Saturday's active session and the list at times displayed some irregularity, but the close found the Associated Press averages at the highest level in more than two months after a week of steadily advancing prices.

The recent decline in time money rates is explained by the fact that call money has been easy for a comparatively long interval. This has tended to cause the transfer of funds from the latter market to term loans where a higher rate is assured for a definite period.

Gains of 1 to more than 2 points developed in numerous low coupon railroad loans. Among these were Burlington General 4s and 3½s (Illinois Division), New Haven refunding 4½s, Pennsylvania general 4½s and Southern Railway general 4s.

Other Gains Displayed.

Strength was also shown by Central of Georgia 5s, Great Northern 7s and 5s, International Great Northern first 5s, Kansas City Southern 5s, Union Pacific refunding 4s, Denver & Rio Grande Western 5s, and Virginian Railway 5s. Income rails also made a good showing. Chicago Terre Haute 5s, International Great Northern adjustment 6s and Hudson & Manhattan 5s advancing fractionally on moderately good inquiry.

Seaboard Air Line consolidated 6s and Refunding 4s reached new highs for the year or longer on announcement of new developments in the reorganization plan, while Seaboard All Florida 6s also attained new peaks, the series "B" bonds rising 4¾.

Industrials were rather irregular. Armour Real Estate 4½s sagged 1¼ and Bethlehem Steel 5s lost 1. Goodyear Tire & Rubber 5s gained 1 and Wilson & Co. 6s moved up ¾. Several oil company obligations developed strength. Utilities ruled firm.

Texas Corp. 5s Soar.

Considerable irregularity marked the share feature group. Texas Corporation 5s, in the day's largest turnover, soared to 101½, or 3 points above their offering price, but then settled back to close at 100⅞, for a net gain of ⅜. American Telephone 4½s were buoyant at the opening and then reacted for a net loss of 1¼. International Telephone 4½s lost 3¾. New Haven 6s made a maximum advance of 2 points, most of which was held, on the strength of the stock.

United States Government securities were uniformly higher, but the market was desultory. German Republic 7s, advancing ½ on active dealings, and German Agricultural Bank issues, up 1 to nearly 2 points, featured the foreign list, which worked irregularly higher.

RESERVE MEMBERS' LOANS SHOW SLUMP

Lower Deposits as Well as Borrowings Revealed by Report.

BANKERS RETURN TO CITY

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Decreases for the week of $156,000,000 in loans and investments, $253,000,000 in time deposits, $22,000,000 in Government deposits and $60,000,000 in borrowings from Federal Reserve Banks were shown yesterday in the statement of the Federal Reserve Board on condition of weekly reporting member banks in leading cities October 9.

Loans on securities declined $139,000,000 and all other loans, $20,000,000; at all reporting banks. Holdings of United States Government securities at all reporting banks showed a $4,000,000 recession, while holdings of other securities increased $6,000,000. Net demand deposits at all banks reporting were $255,000,000 below the October 2 total.

Time deposits receded $22,000,000 and Government deposits, $18,000,000. The principal changes in borrowings from the Federal Reserve Banks of the week were decreases of $17,000,000 at the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, $24,000,000 at Chicago, and $19,000,000 at St. Louis, and an increase of $9,000,000 at Cleveland.

Branch Banking Study Desired.

Branch banking is such an involved subject that the American Bankers Association wants a careful study of it made before giving approval. Such is the impression brought back by Vice President Edward J. McQuade, Liberty National Bank, who, with Vice President Hilleary G. Hoskinson, Riggs National Bank, and E. E. Mountjoy, local representative of the association's national bank division, attended the national convention at San Francisco.

In connection with chain business methods it is interesting to note that last week the New York financial newspapers commented on the acquisition of the Fidelity Bank & Trust Co., of Wilmington, Del., by the First Trust Bank Stock Corporation, of New York, a holding company for a group of investment trusts, under First Fiscal Corporation management. Wall street is interested in the new methods which will be inaugurated in the Fidelity.

Although Wall street is conservative, at the same time it eagerly watches innovations made by some other part of the country, and, after the new idea has been in operation awhile successfully, it is adopted by the New York financiers. That was true of industrial banking, started by Arthur J. Morris, a Virginia lawyer, eighteen years ago. A year and a half ago the National City Bank, largest in the country, itself adopted a form of industrial banking, and other prominent banks followed its lead.

Chains Began in New York.

Chain store operation gradually began right in New York, 70 years ago, when George H. Hartford, founder of the Great Atlantic and Pacific stores, added tea to his stock of leather and hides. Now a few of the best known banking houses in "the street" are financing chains of grocery, dry goods, restaurant, drug and other chain stores. Chain banking was begun by A. P. Ginanni 25 years ago in San Francisco. Now various forms are in existence, and the bankers' convention in California this month devoted much time to the discussion of its pros and cons.

Monday's session of the Washington Stock Exchange saw considerable activity in Washington Gas bonds and in Capital Traction Co. and Mergenthaler Linotype stock. Bond sales volume was good for the opening of the week, the aggregate of $14,900 being within $4,700 of the close of the week's total. The stock turnover of 273 shares presented a 150-share improvement over Friday's.

The Mergenthaler stock sold in 16 small lots ranging from 5 to 30 shares. It came out at 103¼, a fractional improvement, and sold up to 104, 195 shares transferring. Capital Traction sold in three blocks amounting to 75 shares at 85, last sale price.

Uniform Trust Plan Announced.

Anyone with as little as $5,000 capital can have the same opportunity to diversify his investments as his more fortunate neighbor with a living trust of $100,000 or more under a "uniform trust" plan announced yesterday by the City Bank Farmers Trust Co., trust affiliate of the National City Bank of New York.

The plan, offering an individual trust participating in a group investment administered by a fiduciary organization, will be made available the world over through domestic and foreign branches of the national city organization.

Describing its operation, James H. Perkins, president of the City Bank Farmers Trust Co., said: "The City Bank Farmers Trust Co. will accept responsibility for each individual's funds under a trust agreement and will mingle these funds, the capital thus assembled being invested in widely diversified securities, with the investments supervised by a committee of executive officers and directors of the trust company and subjected to constant examination. Every increase in the aggregate income and value of the total fund will be shared proportionately by each person whose funds are mingled in it, quarterly payments, comparing favorably with returns from ordinary securities, will be made by the trust company."

Benefits Are Described.

The "uniform trust" enables a person whose capital may be as small as $5,000 to secure the benefits of trust protection, plus investment direction, with great diversification, relieving him of routine cares of securities and insuring him of a regular income. The trust also affords an opportunity for capital increase since each maker of a "uniform trust" participates in a diversified list of investments. In the event of a severe decline in the security market, the value of the participation may well decrease, but it is obvious that a list of investments selected and watched constantly by men highly trained in that work always will stand a better chance of producing satisfactory results than the average investment list held by an individual untrained in investment.

From the Investment Bankers Association convention at Quebec yesterday came the information that after conferring with several railroad executives who are directors of Railroad Shares Corporation, Bowen Tufts, vice president of the corporation, stated: "It is very interesting to note that for all time. The highs for all stocks of the country have reached a high for all tim. The highs for all time for a great many of the rails were in the years 1907, 1908 and 1916, and, in a few cases, prior to 1905.

"From the war period to 1925 or 1926, the railroads of the United States went through a period of reconstruction and rehabilitation.

Efficiency Is Regained.

"They found themselves considerably disabled after Federal control. The first step after dissolution of Federal control was to obtain a high efficiency. After efficiency had been obtained, actual rebuilding and intensive maintenance programs were put into effect."

President Walter S. Gifford, of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., stock of which is heavily held here, reported yesterday that during the first nine months of this year, substantial progress had been made in extending and still further improving telephone service, approximately 635,000 telephones and $275,000,000 in plant and equipment being added to the Bell System.

"In accordance with our policy to furnish the best possible telephone service at the lowest cost consistent with financial safety," he stated, "on February 1, 1929, there was a reduction in toll and long distance rates amounting to a saving to users of about $5,000,000 annually. This reduction followed previous reductions made in 1926 and 1927. Another substantial reduction in these rates will be made, effective January 1, 1930."

THIS IS THE MAN UNDER A POSITIVE GUARANTEE

This strange man sees the way and tells it all. Just what your life has been, just what it will be. Tells you when and whom you will marry; whether husband, wife or sweetheart is true or false. Tells as to changes, travel, loss or absent friends, divorce, wills, deeds, whether it is best to buy or sell. He tells the good and the bad. A visit will convince you of his wonderful power.
Something tells you this is the man. You feel the impulse to call. Do not delay.

MACKS' GREAT RALLY IN 9TH CLINCHES SERIES; BING MILLER IS HERO AS HOOVERS SEE CLIMAX

FORMER NAT MOBBED BY FRENZIED ROOTERS FOR DECISIVE DOUBLE

Hoover Forgotten by Mayor in Haste to Hug Hero.

Cub Battery Has Spat After Haas Swats Homer.

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14.—Edmund Miller, age about 35, who says he comes from a place called Vinton, Iowa, took a larruping slap at a baseball about 3:15 p. m. today. Edmund knocked the ball a long way into right center field and while it was sailing and bobbing along the grass Al Simmons came tearing around from second base, tossing divots from his flying cleats, to score standing up with the run that won the world series for the Athletics.

It was the concluding run of a 3 to 2 score, which gave the Athletics their fourth game out of five. Before Edmund had rounded first, the Mayor of Philadelphia, the Hon. Harry Mackay, yelled "Yow, excuse me, yow, yow, yow," and ran away from his excellency the President of the United States.

There was intense excitement. The Hon. Mackay left his official guest, Mr. Hoover, with his lips still open on some word that he was about to say, and dashed across the infield, throwing away his hat as he ran, and continuing to yell "Yow, yow, yow," until he caught up with Edmund Miller and flung his arms around him.

All Was Confusion Following Hit.

All was confusion. Edmund's colleagues of the Philadelphia Ball Club closed in on him like a lynching party, and if you hadn't known they were friends of his you might have said 8 to 5 that the boys would have him torn apart before they could rope him up.

Edmund Miller, former National, has been traveling out of this place, which he calls Vinton, Iowa, to minor and major league training camps in spring for so many years that the beat of the shower baths has worn the hair of his head to a mere fringe around a shiny, freckled nude spot as big as a plate.

That fringe is gray now and as major league ball players go Edmund is what you might call elderly. He is a natural brunette with a deep maduro complexion and Daniel Howley, late manager of the St. Louis Browns, a man who has invented more irritants to annoy his competitors than any one else since the best days of George Stallings, always called him Booker T. Miller.

"Hey, Booker," Mr. Howley would yell from his shady corner of the bench when Edmund came up to bat. "How's everything down at Tuskagee, Booker."

Edmund Took Plenty Of Razzing.

But Edmund never paid him much mind. Even when Daniel went so far as to call him Uncle Tom and yell, "Hey, Uncle Tom. How's old Massa Connie Mack?" Edmund paid him no mind. He has been around in the baseball business with one club or another long enough to realize that a man is bound to be called out of his name a certain number of times. Anyway most people knew him as Bing Miller, the Bing being a souvenir of his earlier days with Connie Mack when he thumped a parcel of home runs. Nowadays he doesn't thump very many homers and they have dropped him down to No. 6 in the hitting order.

That slap of his in the ninth inning was a special and particular

SIDE LIGHTS

By JOHN H. REITINGER
(Associated Press Staff Writer).

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Well, Mr. Hoover, who is said to have worked up a desire to see a ball game after listening in on the historic seventh inning of last Saturday, came to Philadelphia to see a hot finish and saw it.

A single, a homer, an out, a double, a pass and then another double, is what he saw—enough to elect the Athletics the baseball champions of the world.

The President of the United States almost failed to see an exciting game, for all the exhilaration was packed into that ninth inning.

When Haas hit his homer everybody near the front railings leaned over to see how Mr. Hoover was enjoying it.

The ball clubs were only two outs from making the long trip back to Chicago to finish the series. The way Malone was pitching, it looked like a sure trip, but you never can depend on those Athletics losing.

"Those boys are dangerous at all times," said Tyrus Raymond Cobb, who is well known in the baseball world, speaking of his former teammates.

The Athletics nearly tore the shirt off Bing Miller, as he came running in after touching second base with

What They Said After the Game

By BING MILLER,
(Outfielder of the Athletics).

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14 (N.Y.W.N. S.).—I have been around baseball a long time, but that hit I made in the ninth inning gave me the biggest thrill of my baseball career. After they purposely passed Foxx, I went up to the plate determined to get a base hit and not to swing at anything that I didn't like.

So I waited until Malone had the count two and two. Then he threw me a curve ball that came breaking over on the outside of the plate. It didn't break very far and that was the "pay ball," as the ball players say.

I took a vicious cut, and believe it or not, I could have jumped into the upper stand when I saw the ball sailing into right center field and out of Wilson's reach.

It was a "million dollar" hit for me.

By PAT MALONE,
(Pitcher of the Cubs).

Philadelphia, Oct. 14 (N.Y.W.N.S.). It was the toughest ball game I ever lost. I took my time through the game and was certain of victory when the ninth inning started. I had more stuff on the ball in the eighth inning than I did in the first seven. That was what made me feel sure that I was going to pitch a shut-out victory.

It's hard to lose in the ninth inning, but I gave them everything I had in the ninth and it was not just good enough. Haas hit a high fast ball and Miller a curve.

I congratulate the Athletics on their victory.

By JUDGE LANDIS,
(Commissioner of Baseball).

Philadelphia, Oct. 14 (N.Y.W.N.S.). It was a great world's series; full of surprises and thrills with a wonderful finish for the big crowd.

The better club won; and a fight-

MACK LUCKY OR EXPERTS STUPID

Miller Discovered by Joe Engel During 1920 Season.

By FRANK H. YOUNG
(Staff Correspondent of The Post).

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14.—Out at the race track when a fellow consistently wins on long shots, he is regarded either as "knowing something" or as being stupid but lucky. Tonight baseball fans are wondering under which of these classifications Connie Mack, veteran leader of the Athletics, falls, despite the fact that his team today sent the 1929 baseball season into oblivion by overcoming a 2-run Chicago Cub lead in the ninth to win out, 3 to 2, for baseball's highest honor.

Mack took a chance on another long shot here this afternoon and again cashed in at the pay-off window, but his good fortune was the result of what might be compared to collecting as the result of a disqualification, for the big premium he collected was not forthcoming as a result of his own good judgment. His original bet was that Pitcher Howard Ehmke, on whom he won at a fancy price in the opening game of the series, would repeat—and the lanky slow curve ball artist finished far down among the also rans.

To close students of baseball, it looked as though Mack was tempting fate when he again named Ehmke as his starting pitcher today with both Lefty Grove and Rube Walberg champing at the bit. The ability of this great pair of southpaws was known and any other manager but Connie Mack would have used the two as starters, along with George Earnshaw, in the first three games.

Connie Gets Away With Surprises.

Connie Mack, however, seems to have a complex for doing the unexpected, crossing all the dope, and seeing how greatly he can surprise people. Not satisfied with doing it—and getting away with it in the opening game—he took another long chance Saturday, cashed in again, and then pressed his luck this afternoon. In view of the fact that he won on both occasions, he must have been right—because 'tis said thrice when you win you are right.

But when one considers that his guess on John Quinn Saturday had his team trailing 8 to 0 at one time and that it spotted the Cubs to a 2-run lead, yet he cashed in on both bets, the boys are comparing him to "Lucky" Baldwin, who also had a system too deep for any one else to figure out but who won a fortune on it.

While the Mack system proved a

Texan to Knock Flies All Way to Philadelphia

Dallas, Tex., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Because the Athletics won the world's series today, Forrest F. Cole, of Dallas, must knock flies all the way to Shibe Park, Philadelphia. Ernest Luttrell, his betting opponent, will accompany him, furnishing a fungo bat and balls. They will start tomorrow morning and hope to be in Philadelphia by February 1.

Man Dies Before Radio When Haas Hit Homer

Bayonne, N. J., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—The rally of the Philadelphia Athletics in the ninth inning of their game today with Chicago, which won for them the world series, proved too much for Drudy, 58. Drudy was listening to the radio broadcast of the game at the home of a friend. Excited, he collapsed with a heart attack just as the announcer described the home run hit by Haas and died within a few minutes.

Rockne May Direct Team in Wheel Chair

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Knute Rockne, Notre Dame football coach, remained confined in bed at his home today from a blood clot in his right leg.

Rockne, who was forced to stay in bed here while his team invaded and conquered the Navy Saturday, expected to see his team in practice tomorrow from a wheel chair. Whether he will be able to accompany the Ramblers to Chicago Saturday, where they meet Wisconsin, was problematical. Today he was much improved, but still unable to walk.

Hoovers Prove Interested Fans; On Feet at Climax

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—President Hoover, attending his first game of the world series, was liberal, but impartial, in his applause.

From the time he marched across the field to his box between rows of blue-coated, brass-buttoned members of the Philadelphia constabulary, he showed the keenest interest in the proceedings. Neither the President nor Mrs. Hoover appeared to be bored at any stage of the thrilling game.

Quite evidently trying to be neutral, nevertheless the President showed that he knew his baseball, for never did he applaud at the wrong time. His first show of unusual interest came in the Cubs' half of the second inning. Cuyler reached first after Wilson had been forced at second on his roller to the box. Suddenly Kiki darted toward second as Ehmke wheeled and ran toward first as the President leaned forward in his chair. Mr. Hoover's eyes snapped with excitement as the fleet Cub outfielder was trapped among a swarm of Athletics. As the ball sped from Ehmke to Foxx to Boley to Foxx again and then again to Boley, he smiled at Cuyler's twisting efforts to extricate himself from the trap. When the burly Cochrane finally took a throw and dived on Cuyler, to retire him, Mr. Hoover laughed.

English Earns Some Presidential Applause.

The President's first vigorous applause was saved for a feat by Woody English, the Cub shortstop. To open the third, Dykes drove a short fly between short and center, apparently a safe hit. English captured the ball on the dead run, while dashing backward. Turning to Mrs. Harry A. Mackey, wife of the mayor of Philadelphia, Mr. Hoover remarked, "That was good."

Mr. Hoover had laughed at Cuyler in the second inning. He laughed with him in the fifth.

The Cub right fielder was cheered by vigorous clapping of the presidential hands when he leaped into the air and speared Simmons' long fly, almost against the fence.

Early in the game Mrs. Hoover called for her coat, and with the folds of the garment wrapped about her she kept a close watch of the play.

Hoover Takes Seventh Inning Stretches.

Mr. Hoover rose to stretch for the Cubs in the first half of the seventh inning and repeated the rite with the Athletics in their half of the seventh when they seemed to need support in the most serious way.

Senator-elect William S. Vare went down to a box just across from that of the presidential party, but did not go over.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hoover applauded vigorously when Mule Haas drove the ball out of the park to tie the score in the ninth. As Bing Miller hit his terrific drive with the winning run on second base, both jumped to their feet and were standing with most of the crowd of 30,000 persons when Simmons dashed excitedly across the plate with the run that won the game and world's championship for the Athletics.

A'S STANDS FOR ALGERS

By H. I. PHILLIPS

SHIBE PARK, Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 14.—Connie Mack may manage the Philadelphia Athletics, but David Belasco must be the dramatic director.

Nobody but a trained dramatist with an unfailing instinct for the big punch would end a ball game and a world series with the touch that marked the contests Saturday and today.

At Shibe Park today there was an atmosphere, too, of Horatio Alger. Nick Carter, and the other old-time novel endings when in the ninth, with the score 2 to 0 against them, one man out, the home boys again threw a rock through the window and leaped into the burning building to rescue beautiful Nellie when it seemed that no power on earth could save her from the villainous Hornsby and his bloodthursty gang.

Again, as on Saturday, it appeared to be all over when the last spasm opened, and when Mack began the inning by sending in a pinch hitter it looked even worse, as no pinch hitter had delivered during the entire series.

Mack sent in French, the old Army football player. Considering the lateness of the season, this was appropriate. French struck out, however. Bishop got a hit and Haas, the next man up, took the football note seriously and signaled for a forward pass.

Pat Malone obliged him and Haas knocked the ball out of the park. It was a pretty punt.

Cochrane flew out, and when Simmons doubled, an overtime battle seemed unavoidable. The Chicago board of strategy then made the mistake of trying some deep thinking, and decided to pass Jimmy Foxx—with both his x's—to get at Bing Miller.

Miller, having always been a vo-

CUBS EXPECT STRONGER '30 TEAM

New Third Baseman and Two Pitchers Are Sought.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Sympathy mingled with hope for better returns next season was the mental reaction of Cub fans today as their favorites blew up and out of the now historic world series picture of 1929.

To three-fourths of the fans, who congregated everywhere, a radio report was available. It was no surprise when the Cubs lost their lead and the game in the ninth inning. Most of them feared it, knowing full well the comeback habits of Connie Mack's Elephants, and the blow-up temperment of Pat Malone and his mates.

"But wait until next year," most of them countered. "Owner William Wrigley wanted a National League pennant and got one. He wants a world's championship and he'll get it. He's funny that way."

There is no secret hereabouts that Wrigley is planning to do some more spending during the winter to get a star pitcher or two and a third baseman, who can hit as well as field. Several well-established stars of the game have attracted his attention as well as that of Manager Joe McCarthy, and what they want they usually get.

Wilson Intrenched As Favorite.

The greatest disappointment of all to the Chicago fans was that the world series circus would not return to Wrigley Field. They had planned for a sixth game ever since Guy Bush turned back the A's Friday, and, with the Cubs back on their home field, they expected to see that series extended to the seven-game limit. But now thousands of dollars must be returned, as tickets were sold for the sixth game a sell-out, in fact.

Hardly as many heard the radio returns today as on Saturday, but thousands listened in hopefully anyway, streets were choked in many places, while hotel lobbies were jammed.

One thing the series did, however, was to intrench Hack Wilson more firmly as the outstanding favorite of Cub fans. The pudgy Bruin center fielder was one of the few players who didn't get a "razzing" during the series, and his difficulty with the sun last Saturday was overlooked.

A home-coming greeting was planned by the still faithful for their returning Cubs tonight. Several of them undoubtedly will remain in the East, but those who return with the squad probably will believe they won, instead of lost, the series with the Mackmen.

Umpire Kills Player; Held for Manslaughter

Paulding, Ohio, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—A charge of manslaughter was placed today against Clyde Crone, 45, of Grover Hill, Ohio, father of ten children, who, while acting as umpire at a game here yesterday, killed John Straley, 18, with his fist, according to reports from Sheriff Frank Jackson. The sheriff stated Crone was released from the county jail here late today when he furnished $5,000 bond. The charge was filed against him by George Straley, father of the youth, the sheriff stated.

Drs. Ray Mouser, of Paulding, and B. L. Good, Vanwert, reported today their autopsy showed Straley had neither a fractured skull nor broken neck.

Miller Huggins Left Estate of $250,000

St. Petersburg, Fla., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Miller Huggins, late manager of the New York Yankees, left an estate of $250,000, the reading of his will here today disclosed.

Huggins' sister, Miss Myrtle Huggins, received the bulk of the estate, $200,000, and his two brothers, Arthur and Clarence, $10,000 each. Four other legatees, each receiving $500, are Byron Clark, jr., and Byron Clark, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and two aunts, Matilda Reid, of this city, and Emma Reid, of Burns, Tenn. The will was drawn August 1, 1927. Byron Clark, jr., is named executor.

Macks' Fourth Series Victory Sets Record

Philadelphia, Oct. 14 (N.Y.W.N.S.).Connie Mack set a new record when his Athletics won the deciding game of the world series at Shibe Park this afternoon. It was his fourth world's series victory and he now stands alone—one ahead of John J. McGraw, of the Giants, and the late Miller Huggins.

Connie won his first championship against the Cubs in 1910; his second and third against the Giants in 1911 and 1913 and his fourth against the Cubs today.

McGraw won with the Giants in 1905 against the Athletics; and 1921 and 1922 against the Yankees. Huggins won in 1923 against the Giants; 1927 against the Pirates and 1928 against the Cardinals.

Miller Drives in Winning Run; Malone Starts Well.

Cubs Jump Ehmke in 4th, But Walberg Blanks Them.

By ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

SHIBE PARK, Philadelphia, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—The dreams of the old master, Connie Mack, came true this afternoon when his youthful Athletics won the baseball championship of the world with a finish that packed all the thrills of a story book climax, all the nerve-tingling excitement of the final act of a melodrama.

The ninth inning of fantasy became the ninth inning of reality when the men of Mack, American League champions, surged from behind to score three runs and beat the Chicago Cubs, champion of the National League, 3 to 2, in the fifth and deciding game of the world's series.

With the President of the United States and the First Lady of the Land to applaud them, joining the applause of more than 30,000 fans, the Athletics for the second straight game demonstrated their unconquerable spirit by rallying to win after the game seemed hopelessly lost.

With two out in the ninth, Bing Miller, veteran rightfielder of the Mackmen, droved the decisive blow to the scoreboard, a two-bagger that brought Al Simmons across with the winning run after George (Mule) Haas, big raw-boned centerfielder, had tied the count with a smashing home run over the right field wall as Max Bishop rested on first.

Miller Spoils Cubs' Strategy.

Miller's drive, with the count 2 and 2, spoiled the last desperate strategy of the Cubs and their big right-hander, Pat Malone, in passing Jimmy Foxx intentionally. It goes down as the $50,000 blow of the series, deciding the difference between the winners' and losers' share of the spoils.

The finishing rally was not as devastating as the 10-run splurge of the Mackmen in overcoming the Cubs Saturday, but it was more dramatic because it settled the issue before the most distinguished fans of the land, Mr. and Mrs. Hoover, arriving ten minutes before the game with a large party including Cabinet officers, stayed to the last out. They were on their feet applauding as Haas, then Simmons and Miller struck the blows that suddenly converted the game from a prospective Cub victory to a wild triumph for the Athletics.

This was the big moment for the old master, Mack, as he saw his fighting young club smash through the gamest kind of a defense by the Cubs, clinch the series by a margin of four games to one and give him his fourth world's championship. Fate and a number of hard-hit balls, it seemed, were combined to make safe what is now a world's record for the 67-year-old leader of the Athletics. No other manager in baseball has ever won four world's series. This was Mack's fourth in six tries since 1905, adding 1929 to the other victorious years of 1910, 1911 and 1913. John McGraw is the only other living man who has won as many as three world's titles, the mark which the late Miller Huggins also attained with the Yankees.

Situation Looked Dark For Macks.

There didn't seem more than the remotest chance for the Athletics to win today after they had been held to two hits for eight innings by the fast balls of big Pat Malone and after Wally French, pinch hitting for George (Rube) Walberg, in the ninth, had struck out. The Cubs had driven the hero of the first game, Howard Ehmke, out of the box in the fourth inning with a vicious attack, with two out, that produced two runs and what looked like a secure lead as Malone mowed down the Mackmen.

If it hadn't been for the mamory of that "lucky seventh" Saturday, the crowd might have given up hope en-

PLAY BY PLAY

FIRST INNING.

Cubs—Dykes made a nice stop to throw out McMillan. English beat out a slow grasser which Ehmke fielded near the third base foul line. Hornsby popped to Foxx while trying to check his swing at the ball. English died stealing. Cochrane to Bishop. No runs, one hit, no errors, none left.

Athletics—Bishop watched a third strike across the plate. Haas flied to Stephenson. English went in front of second for Cochrane's slow roller to turn in the third out of the inning, his good peg beating the runner to first by inches. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

SECOND INNING.

Cubs—Simmons did some fast fielding to hold Wilson's drive to left for a single. Cuyler forced Wilson at second, Ehmke to Boley. Cuyler attempted a delayed steal while Ehmke was holding the ball and was run down. Cochrane raced to first to make the put out. Stephenson worked the count to 3 and 2 and walked. Grimm rolled to Foxx. No runs, 1 hit, no errors, 1 left.

Athletics—Simmons singled to left for the Mackmen's first hit. With the hit and run on, Foxx lined to Hornsby, who made a leaping one-handed catch and easily doubled up Simmons at first. Miller rolled to McMillan. No runs, 1 hit, no errors, none left.

THIRD INNING.

Cubs—Taylor's topped one dropped in front of the plate and Cochrane quickly picked up the ball and touched the batter, who claimed that the ball was foul, but he was overruled by Umpire Klem. Malone doubled down the first base line. Malone took third while Boley was tossing out McMillan, but was left when English lofted to Miller. No runs, 1 hit, no errors, 1 left.

Athletics—English raced to short left center to rob Dykes of a hit by a great over-the-shoulder catch. Boley grounded to English. Ehmke flied to Cuyler. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

FOURTH INNING.

Cubs—Hornsby rolled to Boley. Wilson fouled to Cochrane. Cuyler doubled to center. Stephenson walked on four successive balls. Grimm singled to center, scoring Cuyler and sending Stephenson to third. Taylor also dropped a safety in front of Haas, Stephenson denting the pan and Grimm going to second. Walberg replaced Ehmke on the mound and fanned Malone, the strikeout setting a new series record of team victims. Two runs, 3 hits, no errors, 2 left.

Athletics—McMillan fumbled Bishop's roller but recovered the ball in time to make the killing at first with a rifle peg. Haas shot a low liner which McMillan knocked down and followed through with another out at the initial sack. Cochrane rolled to Grimm, who fumbled the ball but gathered it up and beat the runner to the base. This was the third fumble in a row which did the Cubs no

LATIVICH BEATS SOUL OF HONOR IN STRETCH DRIVE

The Nut Gets Third Money In Feature

Fermin Suspended as Silverdale Loses in Third Race.

Workman Steals Race as McLean Jockey Looks Back.

Special to The Washington Post.

LAUREL RACE TRACK, Md., Oct. 14.—Stirring contests were in order at Laurel this afternoon and the finishes in three of the events found the winners first home by the smallest of margins. In the afternoon's feature, the Westminster Purse, Lativich an imported son of Blandford that races for Herbert Bayard Swope, beat the Audley Farm's Soul of Honor by a nose. There were five starters in this event and Lativich was favorite. Molasses Jane, a good-looking filly in the Xalapa Farm stable, went to the front and made the pace. She held command until making the turn into the homestretch where Lativich and Soul of Honor and The Nut charged on her and at the furlong pole Soul of Honor had a slight advantage over Lativich and the pair then hooked up for a desperate stretch drive.

Lativich was down on the inside next the rail. He was hanging on with great courage and just as they reached the winning mark he had the nod. The finish was one of those that the winner was in doubt until the official placings were displayed. The Nut was third, beaten a length for the place. The first half mile found all but Molasses Jane under restraint but from there home the pace was fast. The first six furlongs were run in 1.13 2-5 and the mile in 1.38.

Autumn Bells Failed Backers.

An upset came with the running of the steeplechase when Autumn Bells, heavily played odds-on favorite, was beaten by Rooney and Skeddadle. On form Autumn Bells looked in a soft spot. He had beaten practically the same field in a gallop the last time they met. In today's effort Autumn Bells was the victim of a poor ride and at a couple of his fences all but fell. Smoot rode him with a loose rein going to some of the jumps and at a couple of them Smoot had hold of but one rein.

In the early running Araquis showed the way and going to the eighth jump, Darco moved up to take command. Rooney and Autumn Bells were trailing off the leaders up to this stage. Straightened out on the backstretch the last time around Rooney circled his field and went to the front with a rush. Once in the lead he remained there the balance of the trip and at the end won going away by two lengths and a half from Skeddadle, who in turn beat Autumn Bells two lengths for the place. Autumn Bells closed a lot of ground from the top of the stretch to the last jump where he landed in a tangle and at the end he tired.

Workman Rides to Victory.

Workman put up a great finish on Crystal Domino in the third race and he landed the Archibald racer, the winner by the smallest of margins over Silverdale. Silverdale, breaking fast, went to the front and after racing in close order with Lady Marie the first quarter, drew away rounding the far turn and at the top of the homestretch had a lead of three lengths. Fermin had the McLean racer well in hand and in the final furlong kept looking to the outside.

Crystal Domino broke flat-footed and, in the run down the backstretch, was a distant trailer and apparently out of it. Rounding the far turn, he began closing on his field and in the stretch run, Workman took him down next the rail. From the top of the homestretch Workman rode like a demon and, slipping through on the inside of Silverdale in the last fifty yards, caught Fermin napping and stole a race that Silverdale should have won. The finish was very close.

Silverdale's number at first was flashed as the winner, but it was taken down and Crystal Domino's substituted. Stupendous was third, beaten two lengths for the place. Fermin's carelessness cost Silverdale victory. Had he been more alert and watched both the inside as well as the outside, the McLean racer would have won.

Princess Tina scored in runaway fashion when she won the Bladensburg Purse. Fields sent her to the front making the turn into the back stretch and going to the half-mile pole she opened up a lead of four lengths. Fields then took her in hand and for the remainder of the journey she held command of the situation. At the finish she was in hand with a lead of four lengths. Searcher was second, two lengths in front of Fair Ball. The winner set a fast pace all the way, the fractional time being 0:23 1-5, 0:47 2-5, 1:12 3-5, 1:38, and the mile and a furlong in 1:51 1-5.

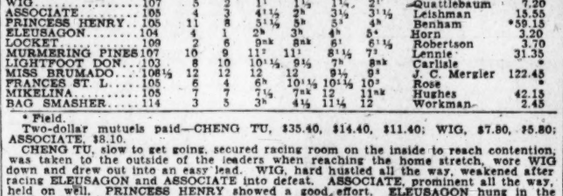
Two-dollar mutuels paid—CHENG TU, $35.40, $14.40, $11.40; WIG, $7.80, $5.80; ASSOCIATE, $8.10.

CHENG TU, slow to get going, secured racing room on the inside to reach contention, was taken to the outside of the leaders when reaching the home stretch, wore WIG down and drew out into an easy lead. WIG, hard hustled all the way, weakened after racing ELEUSAGON and ASSOCIATE into defeat. ASSOCIATE, prominent all the way, held on well. PRINCESS HENRY showed a good effort. ELEUSAGON hung in the final drive. LOCKET was shuffled back when leaving the half-mile mark. BAG SMASHER suffered interference at the turn.

JUMPERS SHOWN TAKING FIRST JUMP.



SECOND RACE—About two miles. Purse, $2,000; claiming. Steeplechase. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 2:15. Off at 2:16. Winner, Brookmeade Stable's br. g. (4), by Meridian—Annie Rooney. Trained by G. R. Tompkins. Value to winner, $1,400; second, $400; third, $200. Time, 4:01 (14 jumps).

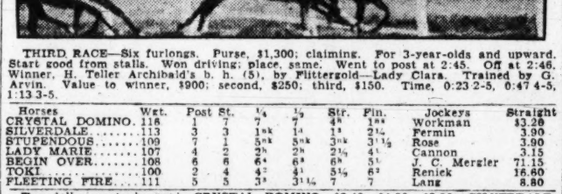
Two-dollar mutuels paid—ROONEY, $9.90, $4.00, $2.60; SKEDDADLE, $4.90, $3.00; AUTUMN BELLS, $2.50.

ROONEY, taken off the pace for a turn of the field, went to the front with a rush when going to the tenth fence, fenced cleverly and held SKEDDADLE safe through the final stages. SKEDDADLE made repeated efforts the last part of the journey, but was not good enough for the winner. AUTUMN BELLS, ridden in listless fashion and allowed to go to his fences with a loose rein, stumbled and landed badly the entire test. Smoot was looking back the entire first mile, affording his mount very little help.

CRYSTAL DOMINO SLIPS BY SILVERDALE.



THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 2:45. Off at 2:46. Winner, H. Teller Archibald's b. h. Two-dollar mutuels paid—CRYSTAL DOMINO, $8.40, $4.80, $3.80; SILVERDALE, $5.20, $4.80; STUPENDOUS, $3.20.

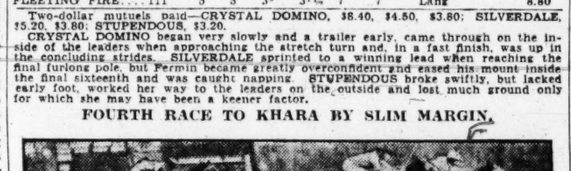
CRYSTAL DOMINO began very slowly and a trailer early, came through on the inside of the leaders when approaching the stretch turn and, in a fast finish, was up in the concluding strides. SILVERDALE sprinted to a winning lead when reaching the final furlong pole, but Fermin became greatly overconfident and eased his mount inside the final sixteenth and was caught napping. STUPENDOUS broke swiftly, but lacked early foot, worked her way to the leaders on the outside and lost much ground only for which she may have been a keener factor.

FOURTH RACE TO KHARA BY SLIM MARGIN.



FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,500. The Tyrone. For 2-year-old fillies. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:16. Off at 3:17. Winner, Rancocas Stable's ch. f. (2), by Kai-Sang—Decree. Trained by J. Lowe, Value to winner, $1,000; second, $300; third, $200. Time, 0:23 2-5, 0:47 3-5, 1:13 3-5.

| GALLASTART | 102 | 3 | 4 | 4nk | 7 | 7 | 7 | Cannon | 24.40 |

*H. P. Whitney entry.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—KHARA, $5.00, $2.70, $2.30; MURKY CLOUD, $2.30; $2.10; CONCLAVE, $3.00.

KHARA, following in near pursuit of ELLICE, displaced the later when turning out of back stretch, saved ground and, hard hustled when challenged, just lasted to stall off MURKY CLOUD. Latter worked her way into contention while saving ground, finished in determined fashion and would have been winner in a few more strides. CONCLAVE, a forward factor the entire trip, held on willingly. ELLICE showed a good test and held on well under punishment.

LATIVICH TAKES FIFTH BY A NOSE.

FIFTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $2,000. The Westminster. For 3-year-olds. Start good and fast. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:48. Off at 3:48. Winner, H. Bayard Swope's b. c. (3), by Blandford—Osmunda. Trained by B. S. Michell. Value to winner, $1,400; second, $400; third, $200. Time, 0:23 3-5, 0:48 3-5, 1:13 3-5, 1:40. 1:46 4-5.

| MOLASSES JANE | 105 | 4 | 3 | 1° | 1½ | 2 | 5 | 5 | Leishman | 12.60 |

Two-dollar mutuels paid—LATIVICH, $4.80, $2.80, $2.20; SOUL OF HONOR, $4.00, $2.50; THE NUT, $2.40.

LATIVICH, rated close to MOLASSES JANE, saved ground when entering the home stretch, continued with splendid speed for the final drive and outgamed SOUL OF HONOR right at the end. Latter, taken under stiff restraint early, responded to urging, gained a slight lead the last furlong and fought it out stubbornly. THE NUT, outrun to the first turn, had keen speed to reach his hold, was taken in hand until the final stages and then closed stoutly.

PRINCESS TINA PROVES ROYAL CHOICE.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,500. The Bladensburg. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:21. Off at 4:22. Winner, Audley Farm's ch. f. (4), by Spanish Prince II—Sonatina. Trained by R. A. Smith. Value to winner, $1,000; second, $300; third, $200. Time, 0:23 1-5, 0:47 2-5, 1:12 3-5, 1:38, 1:51 1-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—PRINCESS TINA, $6.40, $4.80, $2.30; SEARCHER, $10.50, $2.80; FAIR BALL, $2.10.

PRINCESS TINA sprinted away into an easy lead, was rated along in front and was under restraint at the end. SEARCHER put up stoutly the far turn, shook off FAIR BALL, but could not reach the winner under stout pressure. FAIR BALL, in hand in the early running, flattened out when put to a drive.

VANDAL LEADS WAY IN FINAL NUMBER.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:51. Off at 4:52. Winner, R. O. Egan's ch. g. (3), by Tryster—Stamps. Trained by J. Judge. Value to winner, $900; second, $250; third, $150. Time, 0:23 3-5, 0:48 3-5, 1:13 3-5, 1:40, 1:46 4-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—VANDAL, $10.30, $6.30, $4.30; BLUE DARTER, $8.70, $5.20; PAULINA L, $4.90.

VANDAL sprinted into a forward position, moved into the lead when ready, drew clear and finished with much in reserve. BLUE DARTER, hard hustled from the start, raced FAIR THORN into submission and held on well. PAULINA L, going forwardly closed resolutely for the final issue. NICODEMUS, on the outside all the way, finished strong. FAIR THORN saved much ground, but was not good enough.

BEACH AND TREAT WINS IN CHEVY CHASE TOURNEY

Diffenbaugh, Utz Finish Second

Winning Pair Have 142 Score; Third Place Tied.

Mrs. Colladay Scores in Women's Club Title Golf.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

RALPH BEACH, professional of the Suburban Club, Baltimore and Gen. C. G. Treat, of the Chevy Chase Club, were the winners yesterday afternoon in a senior amateur-professional tournament on the Chevy Chase course. Competition was eighteen holes, medal play, with handicap allowance for the amateurs, and Beach, with 72, and Gen. Treat with 83, had a net score of 142. Their nearest competitors were George Diffenbaugh, professional of Indian Spring, 75, and Dr. Thomas A. Utz, Indian Spring, 89, whose net score was 146. There was a tie for third prize between Mel Shorey, East Potomac Park professional, 77, and P. S. Ridsdale, Chevy Chase, 88, net 155, and Robert T. Barnett, Chevy Chase professional, 76, and Gen. H. P. McCain, Chevy Chase, 96, net 155.

Beach had the low gross score of the day. His card, 36—36—72, was only three strokes over par, although a drive in the woods on the twelfth hole added seven to his card. However, he had a birdie 3 on the eleventh when he ran down a putt from the edge of the green, and another birdie on the fifteenth when, after overrunning the green with his second shot, he chipped in the cup for a 3. His card:

Out ..... 4 5 4 3 4 4 4 5 3—36
In ..... 4 3 7 3 4 3 4 4 4—36—72

Other scores: Charles P. Betschler, 78, and D. M. Wolf, 97, Rodgers Forge, net, 157; A. B. Thorn, Town and Country, 75, and H. A. Gillis, Chevy Chase, 104, net, 161; A. L. Houghton, Harper, 75, and C. V. Wheeler, Chevy Chase, 103, net, 161; Gene Larkin, Chevy Chase, 82, and E. O. Wagenhorst, Chevy Chase, 87, net, 162; J. Monroe Hunter, Indian Spring, 76, and John T. Harris, Indian Spring, 97, net, 163; Sidney C. Moore, Congressional, 82, and Col. H. A. Knox, Congressional, 96, net, 165; Fred McLeod, Columbia, 77, and G. H. Chasmar, Columbia, 92, net, 165; Laurence Wisner, Suburban, 83, and George Y. Worthington, Chevy Chase, 110, net, 175.

No card—Kenneth Allen, unattached, and R. E. Lee Marshall; William Hardy and Walter G. Peter.

Mrs. S. F. Colladay won the medal for low gross score in the qualifying round of eighteen holes yesterday in the women's club championship at the Columbia Club. Her card was 45—42—87, one stroke lower than the score of Mrs. J. M. Haynes, 41—47—88. Starting with a birdie 3 on the first hole and another birdie 3 on the second hole, Mrs. Haynes met with disaster on the long fifth when she expended ten strokes, but even with this handicap finished the first nine in 41 strokes. At that time she was leading the field by four strokes, but her experience on the fifteenth hole, when she added eight strokes to her card, was fatal.

Match play will begin at 9 o'clock this morning, with the following pairings:

First flight—9, Mrs. S. F. Colladay, 97, vs. Mrs. R. King Cornwell, 98; 9:05, Mrs. W. S. Corby, 96, vs. Mrs. N. B. Frost, 106; 9:10, Mrs. G. T. Bell, 97, vs. Mrs. Frank Tomlinson, 103; 9:15, Mrs. J. M. Haynes, 88, vs. Mrs. Newman Little, 101.

Second flight—9:20, Mrs. H. Stabler vs. Mrs. G. H. Parker; 9:25, Mrs. C. I. Putnam vs. Mrs. E. D. Krewson; 9:30, Mrs. C. A. Slater vs. Mrs. J. R. DeFarges; 9:35, Miss Elizabeth Brawner vs. Mrs. J. W. Marr.

Third flight—9:40, Mrs. A. S. Gardiner vs. Mrs. W. W. Nottingham; Mrs. Hugh MacKenzie vs. ——; 9:45, Mrs. C. R. White vs. Mrs. H. T. Shannon; Mrs. J. P. Mewshaw vs. bye.

Announcement was made last night that a 36-hole medal play tournament for assistant professionals of the Middle Atlantic section will be played at the Congressional Club on October 25.

Apache Eleven Plays Virginia A. C. Sunday

The annual football fued between Alexandria and Washington elevens will start here on Sunday when the Apaches entertain the strong Virginia A. C. Team at Union Park. The Virginians, who already have two football games under their belts, always have given the Apaches a fight but have not beaten them in recent years. The Apaches went through a long drill last night despite last Sunday's hard game with the Tanks. Coach Lytell had a number of new players on hand and expects to surprise Apache followers on Sunday.

Frostburg Normal Wins Soccer Game

Special to The Washington Post.

Barton, Md., Oct. 14.—Frostburg Normal School Soccer Team defeated the Barton Team in an Alleghany County Soccer League contest here, 2 to 1. The game was called about ten minutes before the regulation time by Referee "Scotty" Orr when a Barton player who was banished by the official refused to leave the field. Orr ruled that Frostburg Normal won the game on the score holding at that time.

The Mountain City kickers got away with a rush, and before Barton could tighten its defense Bond and Finzel had penetrated the uprights. O'Rourke dropped through a point for Barton, but Normal fought off repeated threats and was on the offensive several times in Barton territory.

St. Alban's Gridmen Whip St. Paul's, 26-6

With Sterrett and Chiles knocking off gains of from 15 to 20 yards every time they carried the ball, St. Alban's School had little trouble in downing the St. Paul's eleven from Baltimore yesterday on the former's field, 26-6. The four winning touchdowns were equally divided among the victorious backfield, with Castle, Chiles, McGee and Cheslee each crossing the goal line once.

The thrills of the game were furnished when McGee ran 40 yards through the St. Paul's line for a touchdown. The only touchdown of the losers came when Blakeslee took a St. Alban fumble on the victor's 5-yard line and went across the line for a score.

GALLAGHER VICTOR BY DECISION

D. C. Fighter Slams Foe But Misses Knockout.

Special to The Washington Post.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 14.—Marty Gallagher last night won a ten-round decision over Will Mathews in the feature bout of the card at the 104th Regiment Armory. Although he floored his less-experienced rival six times during the course of the melee, Gallagher was unable to put his foe away for keeps. Twice the bell saved Mathews, and on four other occasions he took counts ranging from 7 to 9.

The husky Capital fighter was the apparent master from the start. He battered Mathews badly, disfiguring his facial features with right and left jabs that easily found openings, but failed to carry the power needed to administer sleeping potions to the Stemmers Run, Md., lad.

Four times in the seventh and eighth rounds, Mathews took long counts but managed to come back for more. At the close of each of these rounds, he was carried to his corner when the bell saved him.

Despite all this pummeling which he had absorbed in eight rounds, Mathews came back to stagger through the last two rounds, holding his feet while Marty tried in vain to muster enough strength to score a knockout. Gallagher was conceded practically every round.

TO MEET TONIGHT.

Members of the Eastern All-Star insect team which won the Capital City League championship, will meet tonight at the home of Manager Lawrence to receive trophies and prizes.

LaSalle Institute, 44; Tunneltown High, 0

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., Oct. 14.—Tunneltown High, of Tunnelton, W. Va., was crushed by the LaSalle Institute machine here, the score being 44 to 0 in a game in which line play and long runs were main factors. "Doc" DeHarte sprinted 65 yards to touchdown and Fleckenstein ran 40 to the same end.

"Peck" O'Neill, who broke into the game after "Chris" Kean had sustained a fractured collarbone, got away for two nice runs, one for 40 and the other for 35 yards. All of these gains were accomplishd with the aid of good interference.

Mountaineers Beat Frederick A. C., 14-0

Martinsburg, W. Va., Oct. 14.—The Frederick (Md.) Athletic Club grid team fell the victims of the Hose Co. No. 5 Mountaineers here Sunday, in the opening game of the latter's season by a 14-0 score. The victory for the Mountaineers was but a continuation of their long string of victories over the Marylanders without a loss.

A 40-yard march late in the first quarter from Frederick's 40-yard line, gave the locals their first score. Bradshaw going over and Brumbaugh adding the point. The second tally was chalked up in the final quarter the Mountaineers staging an uninterrupted march from Frederick's 38-yard line across the goal line, Brumbaugh scoring and Nicodemus adding the point. Frederick never seriously threatened to score but once when Davis scooped in a local fumble and ran 80 yards to the local 10-yard line, where the visitors were held on downs. Brumbaugh was the offensive star for Martinsburg.

Old Kickapoo Wins In Aurora's Feature

Aurora, Ill., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—With clear skies overhead but the going heavy under foot, Aurora inaugurated its fall meeting today with a mediocre card composed of six claiming affairs and a featured allowance race for 3-year-olds and upward. Upsets were frequent and the talent was unable to put across a winner until the fifth event, when old Kickapoo, O. L. Foster's 5-year-old sprinter came home an easy victor in the Baker Hotel allowance race, and rewarded his followers at $3.46 for each $2 invested. His time for the 5½ furlongs was 1:09 flat and Foster chalked up $700 to old Kickapoo's credit by virtue of the victory.

Old Kickapoo, away first when the barrier broke, maintained his lead throughout and although permitted to race wide coming into the stretch turn, was much the best and won going away, four lengths in front of J. J. Coughlin's Fiala, who steadily gained after a slow beginning to take second place. C. B. Irwin's Short Price, a forward factor throughout, weakened at the last, but held on long enough to take third place.

4 Strenuous Contests Facing Midshipmen

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 14.—Navy football players, badly battered but without serious casuals as the result of the gruelling contest with Notre Dame Saturday, appeared on the field today with lots of pep, but those who bore the brunt of the fracas were given only a light workout. The rest of the squad went through the customary routine.

The Tars have a rough road to hoe for the next four weeks, with four big games coming in a row, so there will be little or no let-up. Next in line will be Duke on the coming Saturday, and the Blue Devils will be set for the Navy game just as they were last year when they held the Middies to a 6 to 0 count. The Middies will invade the lair of the Princeton Tiger on the following Saturday, stack up against University of Pennsylvania on Franklin Field, November 2, and then will come the big strictly home attraction with Georgetown on November 9.

PLANSKYS SEEKING.

Boasting a record of one defeat in three years, the Plansky A. C. 118-pound eleven is seeking games at West 0590 between 5 and 6 p. m.

TECH MEETS EASTERN FRIDAY

Rauber Not Pleased by Showing of Central.

FOOTBALL fans who saw Tech High Team's inaction Friday when it barely managed to eke out a 7-to-6 win over St. John's prep, are of the opinion that "Hap" Hardell was holding something up his sleeve when he sent his charges on the field of battle.

Wary of the fact that certain "scouts" might be in the stands, it seemed to onlookers that the Tech Team used but few formations in its game with the cadets and that not many of them would be in use against Eastern, which team it meets in the opening interhigh game this Friday. Although the team is quite inexperienced, there was a general consensus that it can and will perform much better during the coming series and that its first two ragged games can not be counted upon as a true example of its work.

Hardell, of course, denies all this, and states that it is only a true representation of what can be expected from his team this year. The real facts will, no doubt, come to light Friday when Tech breaks into the series by playing Eastern, at which time all feigning and holding-back will be a thing of the past, with the order of "shoot the works", in its place.

Over at Eastern, things are all in readiness for whatever the Manual Trainers might shoot, and Coach Kelley is ready to throw his full strength against the defending champs. Smith, and Montague are both ready to take the field again while his "missing" trio of ball-carriers will once more be back with their mates.

Thinks Central Should Have Won.

Although reports from New York seemed to indicate that Central's Team did mighty well against Mount Vernon, to whom it lost, 13-to-12, Coach "Ty" Rauber is far from encouraged over its showing. According to him, Central should have won, holding a 12-to-0 lead at half-time.

The three-time county champions had lost all but one man of their titular combination and were not all that their reputation warranted, said Rauber. The Central line looked weak throughout and the Mount Pleasant mentor is far from optimistic over the chances of his charges against Tech in his first series game October 25.

Midland High Earns Tie With Frostburg Jr.

Special to The Washington Post.

Midland, Md., Oct. 14.—Midland High School opened its football soccer season by playing a scoreless game with the Frostburg Juniors, an independent team composed of much heavier and more experienced material. Time and again the ball passed into the goal area, only to be shot out again by great goal kicking and throwing.

Shepherdstown High Beats Paw Paw, 26-6

Special to The Washington Post.

Shepherdstown, W. Va., Oct. 14.—Playing their first football game, the team of Shepherdstown High School coached by Lectus Lowe, former Shepherd College star, defeated the Paw Paw (W. Va.) High Team here Saturday, 26-6. The visitors outweighed the locals but the speed and versatile attack of Shepherd overcame the handicap. Shepherdstown will play a return game at Paw Paw during the season.

JANNEYS TO MEET.

Coach Baldwin, newly chosen mentor of the Janney A. C. Eleven, will meet his players tonight at 3430 Grant road at 7:30 o'clock. All players are asked to report.

HOYA ELEVEN DRILLED TO INTERFERE

Expects Trouble in West Virginia Wesleyan.

GEORGETOWN'S practice for the West Virginia Wesleyan game Saturday at Griffith Stadium began yesterday with a long session of interference drill. Though better interfering was done by the Hilltoppers against St. Louis University than in previous contests, Coach Lou Little still found room for much improvement.

Georgetown's backs are comparatively light and it is necessary that they master the fine points of interference to offset the weight handicap. Perfect work in the coming engagement is Coach Little's aim.

West Virginia Wesleyan boasts an array of husky players who should prove hard to "take out" on the attack. New York University found the Bobcats tough customers and was forced to resort to aerial tactics to gain its victory.

The Bobcats have yet to win a game this season and are known to be especially desirious of coming through this Saturday. For one thing, they want to avenge the 34-to-7 beating administered by the Hilltoppers last year. Georgetown scouts report the running attack of the Bobcats is hard to stop.

Player Kicks Wrong Goal; Barton Victor

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., Oct. 14.—A mental error by a Penn Avenue back, who kicked the ball into the wrong goal was responsible for Barton High's 2 to 0 victory over Penn Avenue in a Western Maryland Interscholastic Soccer League game at the Taylor Athletic Association field. The Penn player booted the only score of the game for the visitors, but it was credited to McConnell. In the preliminary the Barton and Penn Avenue girls battled to a standstill, the score being 4 to 4.

Sloan, Virginia Captain, Has Foot Fracture

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., Oct. 14.—Capt. John Sloan, Virginia quarter back, will be out of the game at least two weeks, possibly longer, as the result of a minor fracture sustained in the Swarthmore game. He will not be able to lead the Cavaliers against Virginia Military Institute here Saturday.

It was first thought that Sloan only sprained his foot slightly, but an examination by X-ray showed that he had broken one of the small bones. This morning the injured member was placed in a cast that can not be removed for two weeks. Capt. Sloan was the second Virginia veteran to be hurt in the Swarthmore contest. Hunter Motley, veteran tackle, wrenched his knee and may not be able to play again this fall.

Stronger C. U. Eleven For Villanova Contest

ALTHOUGH Capt. Jack Malevich may not play, Catholic University will have a stronger team on the field Saturday against Villanova at Villanova, Pa., than represented the Brookland institution last week. All of the regulars, excepting the star full back, will be ready for the clash with the Wildcats. Malevich's ankle still is weak.

Johnny Oliver, quarter back; Gene Murphy, quarter back or half back, and Bob O'Connor, tackle, will resume starting roles in the coming game. The return of Oliver and Murphy will make a problem for the coaches, however, as both are efficient in the quarter back berth. As yet, it has not been determined which of two alternatives will be chosen in the solution of the matter; namely, the exclusive use of Oliver at quarter with Murphy taking a half back position, or the designation of both to divide the signal-calling duties with Carl DeMello, who has seen much service already as the half back.

Joe Champa is a fixture at the other half back, McAuliffe stated. The Eveleth (Minn.) veteran is enjoying his best season. Back Field Coach Chick Gagnon has rated Champa the leading interferer and defensive back of the squad now available.

The battle between Oscar Gerth and Rocco Blasi for one of the end positions has terminated with Gerth the winner. For a short time Blasi, who never played football until this fall, was running neck and neck with the veteran for the permanent assignment, but Gerth demonstrated in last Saturday's game that he holds a slight edge over his rival.

Villanova looms as the toughest foe the Brookland outfit will meet this season, but the Cardinal coaches and players look ahead confidently.

American U. Prepares For Baltimore Clash

Greatly encouraged by the decisive defeat of their old George Washington rivals, the American University gridmen yesterday started serious preparation for their next contest at Baltimore, Saturday, when they will tackle Baltimore University's Eleven.

Coach Walter Young gave them a stiff workout and devoted much time to the correction of faults that were apparent last Saturday. Chief among these was the weak protection afforded Jack LaFavre when he punted.

Orville Targee, the Eagles' flashy half back, is expected to round into condition for the Baltimore game. He was handicapped in the G. W. fray with an injured hip, but he reported yesterday feeling better.

St. Stephens in Drill For Sunday's Big Game

In preparation for their big game with the Seat Pleasants on Sunday the St. Stephen's gridmen will work out every night this week, according to Coach Bush. Starting tonight every player is to report at Seventeenth and B streets northwest promptly at 8:15.

As this is the opening game of the season for Seat Pleasant they will no doubt make every effort to win and for this reason the St. Stephens are pointing for what may be expected to be a hard-fought game.

Proctor Knocks Out Trenaman in Third

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., Oct. 14.—Before a crowd which packed the armory tonight, Joe Proctor, Washington, D. C., knocked out Clarence (Soko) Trenaman, of Westernport, Md., in the third round of a scheduled eight-round bout. This was to have been the feature fight, but Trenaman showed he was outclassed by the Washington slugger, and when floored in the third did not attempt to regain his feet. The men fought at 180 pounds.

K. O. Yutzky, Cumberland, 149 pounds, won a technical knockout in his go with Bobby Crafton, 147, in the fourth round. They were to have gone eight rounds. Yutzky led all the way.

Curley Reese, 175, Buckhannon, W. Va., won a technical kayo over Johnny Wilner, 167, Johnstown, Pa., in the seventh round, when Referee Charlie Short, of Baltimore, stopped the fight because of a cut over Wilner's eye. Reese was leading by a wide margin.

Joe Brode, Prostburg, won the decision over Eddie Martin, of Cumberland, in the four-round curtain raiser. They fought at 160 pounds.

De Luxe Court Team To Organize for Year

A meeting of the De Luxe A. C. Basket Ball Team to organize for the fourth consecutive season will be held Thursday night at 836 H street northeast at 7:30 p. m. The De Luxe players, possessing an enviable record for the past three years, will again enter the 130-pound class.

To its credit the team has the title of the unlimited league of the Boys' Club in 1928-29, runner-up position in the South Atlantic championship in 1927-28, and winners of the same tournament in 1927. The following players are requested to report at the meeting or get in touch with Frank Mansuy at Lincoln 8333-W: Hook, Higbee, Fisher, McIntosh, May, Ruppert, Hall and Mansuy. The team again plans to play in the Boys' Club League this season.

SAINTS ARE BUSY.

St. Stephen's A. C. gridmen will drill tomorrow, Friday and Saturday nights to prepare for next Sunday's game with the Seat Pleasant unlimiteds.

SEEK 100-POUND FOES.

The Lyon Park Eleven, which defeated the Rosslyn Team, 60 to 0, on Sunday, will book games with 100-pound teams through Manager McKinley at Clarendon 563-W-2 after 7 p. m.

AUGUSTA IS VICTOR, 29 TO 0.

Staunton, Va., Oct. 14 (Special).—Augusta Military Academy won in football over Episcopal High School, 29 to 0. Back and Weisker and Malone, of Augusta, circled the high schools end at will, making a touchdown in each quarter also scoring a safety ni blocking one of the high school kicks.

RING SEASON OPENS HERE THURSDAY

City Club's Team Meets Baltimore Punchers.

FEATURING a former amateur lightweight champion of Germany, William Miller, the City Boxing Team will open its season Thursday night with the undefeated Baltimore Y. M. C. A. Team furnishing the opposition at the G street clubhouse. Eleven bouts in all weight classes comprise the major part of the program and there will be four preliminaries involving sons of club members.

Miller, who is reputed to pack a terrific wallop, will swap punches with Jake Hudson, of the "Y" aggregation. Both boys are welterweights, Miller having added avoirdupois since leaving Germany. Another German youth, Carl Endress, a middleweight, is a member of the local team, but at present is incapacitated with an injured hand.

Most of last year's veterans again will be seen in City Club togs. Douglas Swetman, clever little flyweight, has advanced to the bantamweight class since last season, while Hugo Stellabotta has jumped a notch to the featherweight division. Joe Tamagni and Jimmy Speer are returning in the feather class, and Henry Irving and Billy Stanley again are working as middleweights.

Satryb and Farrell Have Improved.

City Club fans are most interested in Al Satryb, lightweight, and Al Farrell, heavyweight. The former is reported to have made rapid strides forward since last year and the latter, a member of the Gonzaga High Football Team, has gained polish for his punching ability, say his boosers.

Besides Miller, the newcomers are Charles Posey, flyweight, and Jarry Haas, featherweight. Posey will engage Robert Sponsler, one of the best mitt swingers in his division Baltimore has seen in several years.

Flattery Wins $1,100 In Feature at Latonia

Latonia Race Track, Ky., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—R. Goose carried off the honors at Latonia this afternoon when his 5-year-old mare Flattery, with D. Connelly up, captured the Dry Ridge Purse, an allowance race for 3-year-olds and upward at a mile and 70 yards, the featured attracion on the card. The race was worth $1,100, and Flattery paid $15.74 for $2 in the mutuels. Her time for the distance was 1:42 1-5 over a fast track. S. Peabody's Flatiron finished second and the Kenton Farm's Typhoon third.

Flattery was held in reserve until the final sixteenth, when she came with a burst of speed to win by a head from Flatiron, which had taken a momentary lead in the stretch. Flatiron was second by a nose, while Typhoon, which led all the way to the stretch, where he weakened, took third place by a head from Cartago, the odds-on favorite. Reigh Olga, the only other starter, was always outrun.

CONNIE MACK ADMITS HE THOUGHT GAME LOST

A's Manager Says Grove Not Well

Hugs Mule Haas in Elation; Praises Entire Club.

Gave Ehmke Chance Because He Asked for Duty.

SHIBE PARK, Philadelphia, Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Somewhere in Philadelphia, surrounded by a worshiping family, is a gray, worn old man tonight. His nerves are all but shattered, his heart is trying to pound through his ribs, but the spirit of perfect contentment at last has come to him—Connie Mack.

There are bruises on his back from the gleeful smashes of his ball players and his ribs are sore from hugging. In his ears still ring the shrieks, roars, groans of 30,000 thrill-crazy baseball fans. He'll be all right after a little rest, though, for he's gained his life's ambition, another world champion crew of Athletics, after sixteen years of struggle and disappointment.

Down the runaway to the dressing room he charged today as Bing Miller smashed the double to center field that beat the Cubs for the fourth time in the world series. Behind him raged his herd of White Elephants, screaming, clambering all over each other in their excitement. Yet, despite his 67 years, there was none frisklier than the veteran pilot of the A's.

Connie Loses Breath And His Hat.

He threw his arms about Mule Haas, the sun-browned centerfielder who tied the score with a homer in the ninth and Mule, already as pleased with himself as a man can be, tried not to break down entirely in his biggest moment. He struggled to get his arms on Bing Miller as the players swept him into the dressing room.

Through the closed doors came a riot of noise, then a moment's silence, and Connie poped out again and ran frantically down the corridor to his office while it seemed as though every happy fan in Philadelphia tried to reach him with congratulations. Connie lost his hat, and what little breath he had left, on the way.

Once in his own sanctum, all the strain, worry and happiness over the result overcame the aged pilot. He stumbled to his couch, lay motionless for several minutes, hands over his eyes, and finally took a long drink of water.

"I guess I overdid it," he said as he pulled himself together. "It was almost too wonderful.

"Gamest Team in Baseball."

"Mine is the gamest team in baseball. All season long they have been winning games like the last two for me with desperate rallies and today I turned mental traitor to them.

"Mentally, I was on the train to Chicago, wondering who I'd pitch Wednesday when Haas hit that high fast ball over the fence and tied the score. Almost before I could 'get back' in the ball park Simmons hit one, then Miller and the game was over.

"I had a feeling all along that I shouldn't give up and now I know that if it hadn't been Haas and Simmons and Miller it would have been some one else. All year they've done that nine out of ten times when we needed a game. I have a remarkable ball club.

"You've been wondering all along why Lefty Grove hasn't started a game. Now I can tell you that he hasn't been feeling well. Nothing serious, but not well enough to pitch and last nine innings. His pitching fingers have been sore, too.

"I started Ehmke today because he was anxious to pitch. Any time Howard says he's anxious to pitch I'm anxious to have him pitch. When he smiles at me and says he'd like to work, I'll let him do it and he won't fail me often. Today he wasn't quite right.

"The Cubs have a great ball club and I can easily see how they won the National League pennant. They have a fine staff of pitchers, a great infield, a superb outfield, and exceptional catching. We won because we outlucked the Cubs as well as outplayed them. They were anything but disgraced."

the hit that won the ball game and the series.

The scene when Haas hit his homer tying the score was as exciting and as noisy as the seventh inning on Saturday. Up to that time the crowd did not have much opportunity to use its lungs.

In 1911 the A's scored seven runs in the seventh inning of a world's series game against the New York Giants. Last Saturday they scored ten in the seventh. Today Connie Mack crossed up McCarthy by passing up the seventh and pulling his rally in the ninth when the Cubs had been lulled almost to sleep.

Kiki Cuyler's attempt to steal in the second inning was a sorry effort. He did not wait long enough for Ehmke to wind up and was caught between the bases, Ehmke to Foxx to Bishop to Cochrane, the out being made at first base. Later, McMillan stole the only base of the series in the eighth.

The irreducible minimum of batters faced Malone in the first four innings—twelve. That was some tight pitching.

It took only three pitched balls to dispose of the Cubs in the seventh. Two batters flied to the outfield and the third fouled.

Remembering the seventh inning of Saturday, the crowd stamped feet and made all manner of noise, but to no effect. Malone appeared to have the White Elephants corralled.

French got his first chance to get into the series in the ninth when he pinch hit for Walberg. He struck out. He was the A's third pinch hitter in the series, Summa being used once in Chicago and Burns twice in the historic seventh. The pinch hitters of both clubs showed eight strikeouts in eleven tries for the series.

As the ninth inning began Manager McCarthy had Carlson and Root working in the bullpen, while Connie Mack had Earnshaw and Grove warming up.

It was the fastest game of the series—1 hour 42 minutes.

harm. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

FIFTH INNING.

Cubs—McMillan fouled to Foxx. English popped to Bishop. Hornsby took a third strike on which he protested vigorously. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Athletics—Cuyler raced to the fence in right to rob Simmons of a hit by a fine leaping catch. Foxx was given a life when Hornsby fumbled his easy roller. Miller singled to left. Foxx stopping at second. Dykes lined to Cuyler. Boley popped to McMillan, who made the catch almost in the pitcher's box. No runs, 1 hit, 1 error, 2 left.

SIXTH INNING.

Cubs—Wilson lined to Miller, who speared the ball almost on the ground. Walberg tossed out Cuyler. Stephenson went down swinging at a third strike. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Athletics—English went to short center for Walberg's pop fly. Hornsby went over toward second to gather up Bishop's roller and to throw out his rival at first. Haas missed a third strike. Taylor missed it, too, but quickly picked up the ball and touched the runner. No runs, no hits, no error, none left.

SEVENTH INNING.

Cubs—Haas did not have to move for Grimm's fly. Taylor lofted to Miller and Malone fouled to Cochrane. Walberg threw but three balls in this session. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Athletics—Cochrane walked, this being the first pass issued by Malone. Simmons popped to McMillan Foxx rolled to English, who started a double play which Hornsby and Grimm finished. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

EIGHTH INNING.

Cubs—McMillan dropped a Texas league single in right on which Bishop made a great try and almost caught. English missed a third strike. McMillan stole second, registering the first theft of the series, but was left watching Wilson swinging wildly at a third strike. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

Athletics—Miller popped to English. Dykes lofted to Wilson, who showed that some times he can catch balls in spite of the sun. Boley struck out. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

NINTH INNING.

Cubs—Cuyler grounded to Foxx. Stephenson singled past Boley. Walberg shot a third strike past Grimm Taylor skied to Miller. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

Athletics—French batted for Walberg and fanned, missing the third strike by a wide margin. It was French's series debut. Fast fielding by Stephenson held Bishop's hot one down the third-base line to a single. Haas then poled a homer well over the right field wall, tying the score at 2-all and sending the partisan home crowd almost into hysterics with joy. Cochrane rolled to Hornsby. Simmons doubled, his drive hitting the scoreboard in right center on the first bounce. Foxx was intentionally passed. Miller then broke up the game by doubling Simmons home. Three runs, 4 hits, no errors, 2 left.

What They Said After the Game

ing club lost. My congratulations to Connie Mack and his players. His ball club and players are entitled to all of the glory that goes with the victory.

It was a cleanly played series with the players fighting hard every inch of the way.

By JOHN A. HEYDLER,
(President of the National League).

Philadelphia, Oct. 14 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—I have sent my congratulations to Connie Mack and the Athletics and to Mr. Barnard, the president of the American League. I have congratulated Commissioner Landis on the success of the world's series.

But I want to congratulate the Cubs for the magnificent manner in which they came back after losing the first two games of the series and for the way they performed today after the great upset on Saturday.

But for two harsh twists in luck, we might have been going back to Chicago tonight leading in the series three games to two. But a ball game is never over until the last man is out in the ninth inning, which is why baseball is the great thing it is.

A's Win Championship By Rousing Rally in 9th

smooth fielding and despite his light hitting, was the hero of the anticlimax in the ninth inning, whacking a home run far over the right-field fence with one on base and scoring the tying runs, but Bing Miller's was the crowning blow, for it was his screaming double to the scoreboard in center field that brought Al Simmons home from second base with the run that won the ball game, the series, the world championship and undying acclaim for the minions of Connie Mack as a team that could find the courage to come from behind.

Only a murmur greeted Max Bishop's sizzling single over third base after French had struck out so thoroughly. Even Philadelphia's rabid fans could not see ultimate victory despite the heroics of the Athletics' big ten-run inning of last Saturday. There were only scattered cheers from the more hopeful and none of the concerted stamping and handclapping that implored another hit.

Haas' Homer Ties Score.

Mule Haas was next at bat and his series hitting record was puny. There was little expectation that he would prolong the rally against Malone, who until the ninth had permitted only two hits off his fast ball offerings. But then it was that the game and the fans underwent a transformation.

Haas did not dally. He met the first ball pitched solidly with the fat of his bat and whanged a screaming liner to right field which whizzed far over Cuyler's head, over the fence and into the street beyond. It was a home run and Haas followed Bishop around the bases with the tying score and Mayor Mackey himself was at the dugout to greet him and the crowd was in hysterics, hardly a seat occupied while a grateful fandom gave vent to feelings of hero worship.

Neighbor in the stands slapped neighbor. Their glee was enhanced when big Pat Malone met Catcher Zach Taylor half way to the batter's box and with no uncertain gestures showed his displeasure at Taylor's decision in calling for the pitch to Haas, but the Cub infielders, led by Hornsby, patted him consolingly on the back and Malone returned to the rubber to resume pitching with Cochrane at bat.

Two Out and Two Strikes.

There was disappointment when Cochrane was thrown out at first on a whistling grounder to Honrbys, but the appearance of Al Simmons at the plate was the signal for a new outburst which was justified a moment later when Simmons connected with the first ball pitched and lifted a high fly to the score board for a double and was in position to score if a single was forthcoming from Jimmy Foxx.

The glee of the thousands in the stands was unbounded when Jimmy Foxx appeared at the plate with his big bat poised menacingly, for Foxx was one of the hitting heroes of the Athletics with two home runs in the series to his credit. But Manager McCarthy would not tempt the ability of the pink-cheeked Maryland farm boy and he ordered him intentionally passed.

Hoots of derision greeted Malone as he flung four wide balls at Foxx, but there was still Bing Miller to reckon with. Two were out and Simmons was champing impatiently on second and Foxx on first. The count was two and two on Miller, the lone veteran campaigner of the Athletics' line-up. Miller met the next pitch squarely. It sailed high over Hornsby's head and headed out in the direction of the score board.

Fans Celebrate Victory.

It was a clean double and Simmons galloped home with the winning run as the bats in the neat pile near the Philadelphia dugout were flung high by gleeful players and landed in a shower while they rushed to second base and literally carried Miller from the diamond and into the dugout which was already blocked by howling fans.

But if th gelee of the players was great, the delight of the fans was unbounded. T made a concerted rush to the dugout to admire at close range the team that had given the city its first world championship since 1913. In the stands the scenes were of wildest disorder.

The Athletics had won the series with four victories in five games. They won again, although outhit, for the Cubs curried seven safeties off Howard Ehmke and George Walberg while Malone had restricted the Macks to six. The vagaries of baseball again were demonstrated in that for the third time in the five-game series, the winners were outhit by the losers.

Ehmke Yields to Walberg.

Connie Mack guessed wrong today His pitching strategy went awry in the fourth inning when the Cubs combined three hits for the two runs that loomed as decisive until the fateful outburst in the ninth, knocking Ehmke from the box and causing the insertion of Rube Walberg.

McCarthy, as well as Mack, crossed up the pitching predictions. Malone, who had allowed six hits and six runs in four and a third innings of previous service in the series, was the choice of the Cubs' manager despite the availability of Guy Bush who had recorded the Cubs' lone victory of the series in an impressive performance Friday. Mack had Grove, Walberg and Ehmke available and again he overlooked his two southpaws, neither of whom had started a game in the series.

The Ehmke who set a new world series record by striking out 13 Cubs in the opening game at Wrigley Field, was far from that pitcher today although holding the Cubs runless for three innings. In bold contrast, he did not strike out a batter and he walked two, allowing five hits until relieved by Walberg with two out in the fourth, and two runs across.

Cuyler Caught Between Bases.

Manager McCarthy tried desperately to gain a lead in the early innings but English, who had beat out an infield hit, was a victim of Cochrane's arm when he attempted to steal with one out and in the next inning with Cuyler on first. Ehmke bluffed the Cubs' right fielder on an attempted delayed steal and he was easily caught between the bases.

In the third inning Malone himself doubled, but neither McMillan or English could advance him.

Two were out when the Cubs scored the two runs which threatened to beat the Athletics in the fourth inning, and it was the lower half of the batting order which troubled Ehmke. Horsby and Wilson went out passively enough, but Cuyler doubled over Bishop's head to start the rally. Ehmke could not find the plate for Stephenson and he walked on four balls, placing the issue up to Grimm.

Grimm picked out a slow ball and dropped a single into center field that scored Cuyler with the first run of the game and put Stephenson on third. The weak-hitting Zach Taylor was next at bat, and Taylor sent a clean liner to center field that scored Stephenson with the second run and advanced Grimm.

Mack was then alive to Ehmke's seeming ineffectiveness, and Rube Walberg, who had been warming up in the bull pen since the start of the game, was called in for service with Malone, a hitting pitcher, at the bat.

Malone did not display the same fondness for Walberg's curve ball that he showed for Ehmke's slow ones and he struck out weakly to give the Athletic pitchers a new record of 45 strike-outs for a world series, which later in the game was boosted to 50 with the fanning of five more by the big left-handed Walberg.

That was the extent of the Cubs offensive, for they were comparatively helpless against Walerg's fast curves. McMillan did single to start the eighth and eventually stole second but English and Wilson went out on strike-outs. And in the ninth, a clean single by Stephenson was wasted when Grimm struck out and Taylor flied to Bing Miller, who has been making all his catches in this series very nonchalantly, something new to this steady, hard-working veteran with no flair for the grand stand.

The Athletics, hitting fools in the fifth game on Saturday, were reduced to complete impotency against Malone and his fast ball for eight innings. Simmons led off with a hit in the second, but he was the victim of a double play started by English on Foxx's hard grounder, and the only other hit made off Malone in the first eight innings was a single to left by Miller which followed Hornsby's error on Foxx's bounder. But Malone disposed of Dykes and Boley easily in this crisis.

Then came the onslaught in the ninth and a powerful Cubs' machine that had blasted its way through the National League and carried high hopes of ending world series domination of the American League, lay bent and broken and battered before the very fierceness of a Philadelphia offensive that was supposed to be weak in comparison.

FEDS MEET BUSINESS.

If sufficient number of the players have recovered from Sunday's injuries, the G. P. O. Federal 125-pound eleven will scrimmage the Business High team on No. 7 Monument Field at 5 o'clock. Fed players are asked to report in uniform at 4:15 o'clock.

A'S PROVED THEY HAVE PUNCH

Trains All Ready for Return Trip to Windy City.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The Athletics have the punch and they know when to start it. No amount of managerial wisdom or star pitching can stop them when they go on one of their desperation rallies. The Yankees and all of the other American League Clubs knew it after a season of late inning attacks when they were recognized as the most dangerous club in the league from the seventh inning on, and the Chicago Cubs found it out today in the ninth—if they needed any more convincing proof after the mammoth attack in the seventh inning last Saturday.

And this game today was like that of Saturday's in almost every way. The Cubs had the apple of victory ready to pluck and bear away. Just as on Saturday, they had cheered great pitching which seemed sure to carry to the end. Just as on Saturday the attack of the Athletics had been smeared by a brilliant defense—For the Cubs came back after Saturday's terrible disappointment to play a smart, fighting, heads-up battle all the way.

Then Came the Big Crash.

Then, with one out in the ninth, two strikes on the second batter, came the crash. Two smart smacks of the ball and the score of two runs, laboriously put together by the Cubs and protected through five sweaty innings, was tied. Two more long wallops—this time with two out and an almost certain extra inning game in prospect—and the Athletics wave had engulfed the National League and for the third straight time the American League had the championship—winning twelve games of the thirteen played in three years.

Just as in Saturday's game, the crowd had given up, sitting disconsolately while Pat Malone turned back the men who had torn away an eight-run lead with ridiculous ease. The best the Philadelphians had to hope for was to hear over the radio or read on the bulletin boards or in the newspapers of the triumph of their club in Chicago. Big special trains had steam up and everything was ready for a journey back to Chicago. And then the punch.

NOTES ON SERIES, BY H. I. PHILLIPS

racious reader of Frank Merriwell fictions, put a long one into deep center, scoring the winning run and ending the series before the first blizzard.

Malone had pitched a great game up to the insurrection, and was among the new recruits tonight to the vast army of human beings who ask, "Is there no justice?"

Old Howard Ehmke began the battle for the McGillicuddies, but he was no crossword puzzle today. When the enemy began shelling the veteran severely Mr. Mack kind-heartedly took him out and spared him further humiliation.

More important than deciding a world series, today's contest exploded the Hoover peanut myth.

The President of the United States made his first appearance in a big way as a baseball fan and was somewhat inadequate in the role.

He did not seem as miscast as Calvin Coolidge and looked somewhat happier, but he was by no means the red-hot fan.

He seemed under perfect control at all times and was slow getting to his feet even when Haas tied the score in the ninth.

Furthermore, he at no time during the game ate a peanut. This had been widely advertised as a part of his act and by failing to come through the President missed a grand chance to go over big with the baseball world.

No President has had the real baseball touch since Roosevelt. Teddy used to eat all-hots and drink soda pop.

There was an excuse for the President, however. To a man who has handled the difficult matter of getting food supplies through to a starving people the question of whether or not a batter would get a single over second could not seem of vital importance.

MACK UPSET DOPE WITH PITCHERS

Experts Were Fooled by His Selections in Series.

winner, two of his men lost a chance for big glory. Grove and Walberg were denied a chance to start after their regular season work had practically won the American League title for the men of Mack.

Grove, who was reported as not feeling well during the series, participated in 42 regular games, led his closest competitor in strike-outs, 168 to 140, won 21 games and was charged with but six defeats. While he, of course, gets a cut of the world series melon, he gets little glory—and he surely was entitled to figure in this, too. True, he was called in as a relief pitcher on two occasions, for a total of six and one-third innings, struck out ten, and was almost invincible, yet all he did was to save games for a mate.

Nationals Gave Up Miller in 1921.

Walberg's case is almost identical, except that he at least was credited in the records with a victory, being today's winning pitcher. Like Grove, he helped give the Athletics their series opportunity, winning 18 of 28 regular season decisions, yet being given only a few crumbs of the world series cake as a reward.

Washington, by the way, shares reflected glory in the Macklan victory, which smashed several records. Outfielder "Bing" Miller, whose deciding double this afternoon ended the series, was a discovery of Scout Joe Engel, and was bought by the Nationals from Little Rock at the end of the 1920 season. He played right field in the Griffith Stadium in 114 games during 1921, hitting .288, and was traded to Philadelphia during the following off season.

Mack used Miller here for nearly five seasons and then traded him to the Browns, grabbing him back on another trade in time to again make him a regular in 1928.

Muddy Ruel Loses His Record.

When Walberg, Mack's second guess, fanned pitcher Pat Malone to end the Cubs' rally in the fourth, it marked the forty-fifth Chicago strike out during the series, for a new record, which later was increased to fifty. The Philadelphia triumph also makes Connie Mack the only major league manager who has led his team to four world's titles—making the questioning of his judgment in selecting his pitchers by mere laymen seem the more ludicrous.

Among the "who cares" type of records which fell today were two in which Muddy Ruel, of the Nationals, is the only one who should worry, by being credited with ten put-outs and one assist today, Cochrane set marks for both put outs and most chances credited a catcher in a title series. His respective records are 59 and 61 as against Ruel's best previous figures of 61 and 56.

President Hoover also bettered "One-eyed" Connolly's record as a fate crasher. With all seats sold, the Chief Executive, Mrs. Hoover and a party of ten or more managed to get a box and to add a semiofficial touch to the season's final of the national sport.

Last Inning Rally Gives Title to Philadelphia Club

Bing Miller's Double Sends Simmons Over Plate for Winning Marker After Haas Had Dropped Homer Over Fence.

tirely when French fanned. It wasn't in the cards for anything like that rally of the fourth game to be repeated and by the same team, but the Athletics of 1929, the world's champions now, are not beaten until the last man is out. They proved it today. If any proof was needed after the way they won two days ago. They proved that for sheer, raw courage in an emergency, they rank among the greatest of baseball champions.

Picture the Ninth Inning.

Picture the ninth this afternoon: one man out, Pat Malone bearing down with a world of stuff, the Cubs on the alert to protect their somewhat slender lead, knowing that their remaining hopes rested entirely on the outcome, determined to let no lapses occur such as "blew" Saturday's game French, another pinch hitting "bust" of the series, fanned, but Max Bishop brought the crowd to its feet with a zipping drive that flirted with the third base line all the way down. It was held to a single only by fast work by Riggs Stephenson George Haas was swinging his bat, perhaps the same one with, which he belted his trick homer to center in Saturday's seventh, the drive that Hack Wilson lost in the sun. The first pitch came in, a "high hard" one, a trifle inside. The crack was drowned out by a bedlam of shouting. The ball arched high, Kiki Cuyler backed to the wall but it was over the fence, over by a good margin as it dropped into Twentieth street and bounced on the porch of a house in the row which had 2,000 more howling fans on top.

In a few moments, all of Malone's great pitching, all the fine defensive work of the Cubs had been offset. No sun could take away any of the lustre of that wallop. It was a mansized home run and pandemonium was loose as Bishop and Haas trotted around the bases.

Al Simmons Again Proves Hero.

Mickey Cochrane grounded out to Hornsby for the second out but Al Simmons, who led the big barrage Saturday, again proved himself a great batter in the pinch. He smashed one to the scoreboard for two bases and the winning run was only a few strides from the plate. Cub strategy dictated an intentional pass to Jimmy Foxx, despite the fact that Jimmy had not done a thing all afternoon, hitting into two double plays as he had failed in three attempts to get the ball out of the infield. Bing Miller had garnered one of the two hits made off Malone up to the ninth but the Chicago master minds figured he was easier to get than the slugging Foxx.

Bing, if he felt any resentment over this implied reflection on his ability, stood nonchalantly at the plate as he let four go by, two balls and two strikes. Malone was pitching cautiously, working the corners, but Miller was now ready for business. The veteran outfielder swung on the next ball, a fast one waist high, and sent it on a line between Cuyler and Wilson. From the moment it left the bat there was not the slightest doubt of its decisiveness. It was officially recorded as a two-base hit, but there was not even an attempt to make a play for Simmons, who almost had to fight his way through wildly excited teammates who rushed out to escort him in with the winning run.

American League Club Retains Title.

With this flourishing finish the Athletics once again lifted the American League banner to the peak, for the third consecutive year, with a more dramatic if not quite as decisive a touch as did the Yankees in scoring their clean sweeps of 1927 and 1928. The National League has now lost twelve of the last thirteen world's series games and must wait another year for any chance of revenge.

George (Rube) Walberg, big southpaw curver, got credit for pitching the A's to their final victory, holding the Cubs safely in check after the downfall of Ehmke, just as Lefty Grove had done on two previous occasions. Thus the twin portside terrors of the Mack staff played big roles in three of the four triumphs, although neither had the distinction of starting a single game. It forms one of the most unusual angles of a series that had featured the unexpected from the outset, especially where the A's were concerned.

As a final surprise package to the experts, Connie Mack sent Ehmke to the mound for the final game, after the veteran slowball artist had been disregarded even more than in the guessing prior to the opening game. As a matter of fact Ehmke was in street clothes, in the stands, a half hour before game time, but 15 minutes later he started to warm up.

Experts Had Figured On Grove.

The experts had tried to "figure" Mack into starting Grove, although most indications pointed to George Earnshaw to start his third game. The A's themselves, in fact, expected Earnshaw to start and Grove to finish, if necessary, but the lean leader made it a double jolt by assigning Ehmke and Walberg. His second choice was better than his first, for the big Swedish portsider, who was born in Seattle 30 years ago, put on just about as effective a rescue act as Grove did in saving the second and fourth games.

Walberg relieved Ehmke with two out, two runs in and two runners on base in the fourth. After Cuyler's double, a pass to Stephenson and singles by Grimm and Taylor produced two runs, the southpaw fanned Malone to close the inning. He retired the first ten men to face him in order and allowed only two hits in the five and one-third innings he worked.

As a crowning touch, Walberg struck out six Cubs, bringing the Chicago total of victims to 50 for five games, an average of ten per game and a world's record for futility in any series. The mark is six more than the previous records of the Giants of 1911.

Hornsby Was Fanned Eight Times.

Rogers Hornsby, the famous Cub second baseman and seven times champion batter of the National League finished with the dubious distinction of striking out eight times and heading the list of the Cub whiffers. Walberg's fast curves sent the great Rajah walking back to the bench from the plate in the fifth inning for the eighth time as he went hitless for the second game in the series. Kiki Cuyler, a world's series hero four years ago with the Pirates, fanned seven times, McMillan and English each six.

The Cubs were game right down to the final inning. They had fought hard in each of the three games in Philadelphia to offset the big advantage that the A's obtained by winning the first two contests in Chicago. They threw all their resources into play here but had neither the offensive or defensive stuff to quite match the seemingly inspired performances of the Athletics. It was something like the Giants had to fight against in the 1924 series against the inspired Nationals, led by Bucky Harris. The inspiration this time of the aged Mack apparently was as great as that of Johnson and Harris in 1924.

Malone today came closer than Charley Root did Saturday to the goal of victory that Guy Bush alone of the Cub staff was able to reach. Root "blew" an eight-run lead in the seventh, whereas Malone had only a two-run margin to work on, but Big Pat was only two putouts from triumph when the A's put on the final crusher.

Malone Pitched Great 8-Inning Game.

For eight innings Malone had everything, control, speed, confidence, plus a defense that weakened only in the fifth when Hornsby erred on Foxx's grounder. This did no damage, however, and it was offset anyway by the sterling all-round work of Elwood English, hitherto something of a "goat," whose most sparkling effort was a backward running catch in the third that robbed Jimmy Dykes of a hit.

Only four Athletics got to first up to the ninth, and not one of them reached third. Twice double plays choked off the Macks, after Simmons had singled in the second and Cochrane had walked in the seventh. Hornsby's error on Foxx was followed by Miller's single in the fifth, but Dykes and Boley flied out. This was the only semblance of a scoring threat until the big guns again got the range in the ninth and roared the final bombardment of 1929 on the baseball front.

SERIES BIG SHOTS

(Associated Press.)

Here's how the big guns of the Athletics and the Cubs fared in the fifth game of the world series:

ROGERS HORNSBY—First inning, popped to Foxx; fourth inning, rolled to Boley; fifth inning, fanned; ninth inning, lined to Miller.

HACK WILSON—Second inning, singled to left and was forced by Cuyler; fourth inning, fouled to Cochrane; sixth inning, lined to Miller; eighth inning, fanned.

AL SIMMONS—Second inning, singled to left and was doubled up with Foxx; fifth inning, flied to Cuyler; seventh inning, poped to McMillan; ninth inning, doubled to center and scored winning run on Miller's double to center.

JIMMY FOXX — Second inning, lined to Hornsby, who doubled Simmons at first; fifth inning, reached first on Hornsby's fumble; seventh inning, hit into a double play, English to Hornsby to Grimm; ninth inning, drew intentional pass.

MILLER IS MOBBED BY FRENZIED FANS

slap only on account of the conditions existing at the moment.

He has hit many a longer blow but never in his life before did Edmund or Bing slap one in the ninth inning of a world series with the score tied, the winnig run waiting on second and the President of the U. S. A. sitting in a box to watch him.

The A's Had Been Dubbing Along.

The Athletics had been dubbing along, unable to inflict much bother on Pat Malone, the big, petulant pitcher who went wrong in the second game of the series in Chicago. The Cubs had scored a couple themselves in the fourth, and, although Rogers Hornsby was still fanning himself with his bat contributing nothing much to the cause, Pat Malone seemed on the point of winning a game for himself and sending the whole production back to Chicago. In the last half of the ninth, Walter French, the old all-American quarter back from West Point, made a brief appearance and struck out. Max Bishop hit a single, but still you wouldn't have picked the Athletics to win this ball game then.

Then George (Vulgar) Haas, the rudest man in the American League, came up. As he advanced to the plate, Vulgar Haas uttered an offensive remark. I can not depict this remark because this typewriter can not produce sound effects but it is a noise which the baseball players bandy back and forth from bench to bench during the season and the intent is strictly contumelious.

Vulgar Haas addressed himself thus to Malone and took a most prodigious swing with his bat. The baseball sailed clear over the right field wall, falling just short of the row of houses where bleachers had been mounted on the roofs. The extraneous customers across the roadway hove up with a roar that joined the mad clamor within the ball park. The stress of their rising seemed like to bring down the old brick dwellings. Vulgar Haas jogged around the bases. Bishop paused between second and third to shake his hand and then pattered on before him. The score was tied and Pat Malone walked up to the plate, chattering angrily at Zack Taylor, his catcher.

Pat Almost Pasted Old Zach.

"You asked for that one," he yelled, shoving out his jaw and for just a moment there I thought Pat was going to haul off and paste old Zachary one.

"I know it," old Zach said, soothingly. "But how was I to know? We've just got to bear down now and then win it back in the tenth. You're the one who can do it."

But Malone was seriously upset. Cochrane grounded out, but Al Simmons hit a double off the scoreboard and that brought up the problem of Jimmy Foxx, the Maryland plowboy.

Malone paid him the honor of a very deliberate base on balls to get at Edmund Miller, which was a subtle insult to Edmund. Then it happened and the world series was over in as mad a moment of tumult as ever took place in a ball field. The mayor left the President and went whooping across the yard. Hack Wilson dragged himself slowly back and was the last man off the field.

And finally, after it was all over and the crowd had gone and the baseball writers were beginning to snap the latches on their portables upstairs, an old policeman standing in ranks on the first-base line, keeled over, apparently dead from the strain and excitement.

They couldn't find a doctor now, so after chafing and rubbing him on the ground for 10 minutes the rest of the platoon picked him up and carried him off.

PALACE A. C. STRONG.

Prospects of another 135-pound Capital City Football League championship now loom before the Palace A. C. huskies. In their initial appearance, the Palacians ran up a 37 to 0 score while using all reserves.

M'MAHON LAUNCHES DRIVE IN ARLINGTON

Coalition Candidate Declares He Will Oppose Reid on Two Major Issues.

WATER TAX IS DEFENDED

ARLINGTON COUNTY.
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

With election day less than one month off, Louis A. MacMahon, Republican nominee for the Virginia House of Delegates, who opposes Hugh Reid, the Democratic nominee for re-election, will open his campaign in Arlington County tonight at the meeting of the Ashton Heights Citizens Association.

MacMahon in a statement last night said that he will take issue with his opponent on two major subjects. He will oppose the short ballot and favor the enabling act.

"Two years ago when I first became a candidate for the office which I am now seeking, I, with my opponent then pledged the voters of Arlington County to support the passage of the enabling act," MacMahon said, and added: "Reid was elected, but did not push the passage of the bill."

Attacking published statements by Richard L. Eacho against the Arlington County water system, D. O. Throgmorton, of Lyon Park, issued the following statement last night:

"It is seldom that I enter into a public controversy of any kind, but the statement of Mr. Richard L. Eacho is so misleading and unjust that I feel some comment is necessary.

"His statement is misleading in that it tends to make those who do not have city water believe that the 40,000-gallon minimum is not sufficient water for the average family and that enormous excess charges are the usual thing. It is unjust as it impugns the motives and attitude of the officials of the water department.

"The official records show that only about one in four consumers use water in excess of the minimum.

"If Mr. Eacho really wants he water rates reduced, he, I believe, could more readily accomplish this result by cooperating with the officials in helping secure more installations, than by trying to frighten prospective users away."

Meeting yesterday, the executive committee of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce completed arrangements for its quarterly dinner-meeting, to be held at the Washington-Lee High School, Saturday night, October 26, at 6:30 o'clock.

Following the dinner, there will be a public meeting in the school auditorium. Among the speakers will be Gov. Byrd, who will address the meeting on "The Progress and Future of Virginia," Col. H. G. Shirley, chairman of the State highway commission, and Lieut. Col. U. S. Grand 3d, executive officer of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission.

Among the invited guests will be members of the National Park and Planning Commission and the Virginia Park and Planning Commission.

The executive committee of the Clarendon Merchants and Business Men's Association, meeting last night in the rooms of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce, formulated plans for a celebration to be held Friday night, October 25, in connection with the opening of the first section of the Wilson boulevard, which is being widened and resurfaced to 44 feet through the business section.

The following committees were appointed: Publicity, E. G. Baldwin, chairman; Dexter Hussey, Foster Hagan, A. M. Dawson, Doyle Reeves, L. N. Inskeep and Capt. Crandal Mackey; concessions, C. W. Clever, chairman, George Burkley, T. B Stockdale, H. P. Goodrick and W. H. Whipp; entertainment, Joseph C. Boss, chairman, Foster Magan, S. G Cohen, Ray Andrews and A. F. Thompson; floor, Briley Clem, chairman, J. E. Spaulding, A. L. Kelley, A. R. Howell and George Ricker; and finance, H. W. Beattie, chairman, H. W. Poole, A. C. Jones and W. R Boyer.

The annual banquet of the employes of the Alexandria Postoffice, in the Boulevard Bakery at Clarendon last night was attended by more than 30 persons. Invocation was by N. L. Williamson, assistant postmaster, and the address of welcome by Alvin Powell, who acted as the toastmaster.

Among the speakers were Morris Simpson, United States postal inspector; N. L. Williamson, assistant postmaster at Alexandria, and Elmer Mudd, superintendent of mails at the Alexandria office. The program included recitations by Mrs. Hattie Pollard Dunn and solos by Mrs. Raymond Astryke.

There will be a meeting of the athletic association of the Washington-Lee High School this afternoon in the scho l auditorium at 3 o'clock.

Following the meeting the football team will open its season, playing the team from the Episcopal High School on Washington-Lee grounds at 3:30 o'clock.

Special exercises were held yesterday in all the county schools on the fifty-ninth anniversary of the death of Gen. Robert E. Lee.

The first aid class of the ladies' auxiliary to the Arlington Fire Department will hold its weekly meeting tonight in the auditorium of the Patrick Henry School at 8 o'clock.

The Margaret Nester Circle of St. George's Episcopal Church will give a benefit dinner Thursday night in the parish hall from 5:30 to 7 o'clock.

The County Board of Supervisors will hold its semimonthly meeting today at the courthouse at 10 o'clock.

Charged with reckless driving, Frank Strades, jr., was fined $19.25, including costs. An appeal was noted by his counsel, Col. Charles T. Jesse. He was released on $100 bond.

William Collins, charged with operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor, was held for the action of the grand jury. He was released on $500 bond.

Charged with speeding, the following each forfeited $15: W. C. Orndorff, C. P. Pritchard, Ralph Sparks, George E. Johnson, Henry C. Brockdorff and David H. Legum.

The October term of the Circuit Court will convene Monday morning, October 21, with Judge Howard W. Smith on the bench.

According to information from the office of Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth, there will be more than 50 cases presented to the grand jury. The cases range from violation of the prohibition law to murder.

It is expected that this will be the heaviest criminal docket in the court for a year.

A marriage license was issued in Arlington County yesterday to Mechrinda C. East, 57, of Stewarts Draft, Va., and Jane Mitchell, 32, of Arlington.

Barefoot Burglar Hunted in Virginia

Women's Screams Scare Man Out of Several Winchester Homes.

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., Oct. 14.—Police had been unsuccessful tonight in apprehending a barefooted burglar who operated in four homes in one neighborhood during the night and eluded them before a hunt could be started. Barefoot prints were found in soft earth at the homes of C. E. Johnston, Isaac Carver and John Winkfield, neighbors of East Piccadilly street.

Screams of women at the latter two places as they saw a flashlight in their bedrooms frightened the intruder away, but he obtained $26 from a bureau drawer at the Johnston home before Mrs. Johnston made an outcry. He dropped a pair of pliers in his flight an hour later. While police were searching the first neighborhood, headquarters received word of a man prowling in the house of Mrs. Ethel Coverstone, six blocks away.

Later they received a report that the residence of J. S. Halderman, in another section, had been burglarized. Loot taken included his wife's wedding ring and gold watch, his son's watch, a revolver, field glasses and a purse containing old and rare coins of much value.

The schoolboy patrol for this week, effective today, as announced by the principals of the Alexandria High School and the Jefferson Graded School, are as follows:

High School—Capt. Adrian Tomlin, Lieut. Charles Fletcher, Herman Amorsky, Rozier Bagley, Wayne Dickerson, Melvin Peregory, Marshall Snyder, Edward Taylor, James O'Neill, Ramon Gallagher, Edward Kaiser and George Laggins.

Jefferson School — Capt. Irving Hicks, Lieut. Carlton Ebhardt, Earl Fulks, Francis Pulman, Douglas Stanton, Lawson Norford and Henry Kline.

The aerial truck ordered several months ago by the city council for the Alexandria Fire Department will be received about November 5, it is understood. The truck will be exhibited at the firemen's gathering in Birmingham, Ala., October 21 to 25. It is 75 feet long. Upon its arrival it will be housed in No. 1 Truck House, on Prince street, between Royal and Fairfax streets.

Henry T. Moncure, principal of the Alexandria High School, will have charge of the Rotary Club program today at the regular weekly luncheon in the George Mason Hotel. Rotarian Moncure is chairman of the vocational service committee of the club, and his program provides for brief talks by Judge William S. Snow, George F. Downham, Dr. H. A. Latane and Alfred Thomson, fellow members of the vocational service committee.

The informal opening of the thirty-fifth annual convention of the Virginia branch of the International Order of Kings Daughters and Sons will be this evening at 8 o'clock, in the Old Presbyterian Meeting House. Business sessions will be held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, in the Second Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Herbert L. Ramey fell yesterday afternoon in her home, 110 South Alfred street, and fractured her right thigh. She was taken to the Alexandria Hospital.

Dr. Samuel B. Moore left yesterday evening for Chicago to attend the sessions of the International Congress of Surgeons.

OFFICER POCKETED FINE, SAYS WOMAN

Winchester Resident Visits Fairfax in Effort to Identify Him.

SPEEDING WAS CHARGED

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
Clarendon 919-J-1.

Miss Judith Braxton McGuire, of Winchester, was in Fairfax yesterday to try to identify the officer who, she claims, arrested Lieut. Julian Lindsey, of Omaha, Nebr., and herself for speeding June 23 of this year.

Miss McGuire claims that they were stopped by an officer west of Fairfax Court House and told that they were arrested for speeding, and that the fine would be $10, which the lieutenant paid him. The officer put the money in his pocket without giving them a receipt and told them to go ahead, she said. She became suspicious and communicated with State Motor Vehicle Commissioner James J. Hayes, who turned the matter over to Commonwealth Attorney Wilson M. Farr.

Miss McGuire describes the man as being dark complexioned, with dark hair, rough features and a noticeable scar on the side of his face. At the time they were stopped the officer was in uniform and riding a motorcycle, she said. She was unable to identify any one of the county traffic officers or the sheriff's force as being the man. Commonwealth Attorney Farr stated that he is doing everything in his power to find the person that stopped Miss McGuire. He is also taking the matter up with the State authorities and is seeking their cooperation in locating the officer.

At a meeting of the McLean Volunteer Fire Department and auxiliary Saturday night it was voted to withdraw from the Arlington-Fairfax Firemen's Association. The secretary was ordered to convey the resolution to the secretary of the association before its monthly meeting which is scheduled for tonight. This action is a result of the dissatisfaction of the members over the way the association handled the matter regarding the conduct of the Ballston department at the fire of the Fairfax garage. It was stated that the refusal of the association to investigate the charges casts a reflection upon the whole department and leaves its honesty questioned. At the time of the fire the Ballston men were said to have been under the influence of liquor and to have attempted to take away with them a barrel of oil and a quantity of tires, as well as engaging in a fight with a deputy sheriff.

The McLean department will lose about $650 by its withdrawal from the association. The officers of the McLean company were instructed to invite the cooperation of the other companies in the county in the forming of an association of the Fairfax County firemen, which will concern itself with the problems of local interest. They will also try to persuade the Fairfax County board of supervisors to adopt the firemen's insurance law passed by the last State Assembly. This law pays a death benefit of $1,000 to firemen killed in the line of duty and a weekly compensation for total disability, but it becomes effective only when adopted by the county board.

Curtis Brackemadge, of Leeway, Va., was arrested near Fairfax by Traffic Officer C. R. McIntosh and taken before Mayor Thomas P. Chapman, who fined him $10 and costs for reckless driving. A similar charge was placed against R. C. Mallory, of Petersburg, Va., by the same officer. Mallory was taken before Justice of the Peace Harry Shepherd at Accotink, Va., and fined $10 and costs.

Traffic Officer L. L. Finks has returned to light duty along the Little River turnpike.

The parole of Mrs. Percy Tolman, of Falls Church, has been canceled by the authorities of the Staunton Insane Asylum. She is now in jail in Fairfax awaiting removal to the institution.

Patients from the Naval Hospital in Washington visited historic Fairfax yesterday. The tour was conducted by the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Miss Adelaide Grant, hospital chairman, and Mrs. Etta B. Rambley were in charge of this tour, which numbered about 40 members.

Charles W. Zoll, for many years proprietor of the Fairfax Tavern, died yesterday morning in the Georgtown Hospital. Mr. Zoll was stricken with paralysis about eight weeks ago. He is survived by a widow and several children. Besides being proprietor of the hotel for which he was widely known, he was also justice of the peace in Fairfax. This historic Fairfax Tavern was closed when Mr. Zoll was taken sick. This marked the passing of one of the oldest and best known taverns in this section of the country.

The dance held in Franconia Saturday night was broken up at 5 o'clock Sunday morning when Pete Doyle allegedly shot at his cousin, John Doyle. The bullet lodged in John's knee. He was immediately rushed to the Alexandria Hospital, where the wound was treated. Yesterday morning Pete surrendered to the Fairfax County authorities and was released on a $2,000 bond pending the outcome of the injuries to his cousin.

WOMAN SERIOUSLY HURT IN ACCIDENT

Mrs. Jennie Subber's Back Broken in Crash Near Alexandria.

HIT-RUN DRIVER SOUGHT

Mrs. Jennie Subber, 55 years old, of 1617 Fifteenth street northwest, was in a critical condition at Emergency Hospital with a fracture of the back received at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon when the automobile in which she was riding overturned in being sideswiped by a hit-and-run motorist on the Washington-Richmond highway, one mile south of Hunting Creek, near Alexandria.

Samuel Subber, 55 years old, her husband, sustained minor cuts and bruises as driver of his machine. The three other occupants of the car, all of whom escaped injury, included Miss Frances Subber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Subber, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wulf, of 1625 Fifteenth street northwest.

A passing motorist took Mrs. Subber to the hospital, where attendants reported her condition as serious.

The accident was said to have occurred when the Subber car, proceeding toward Washington, was smashed on its side by another car which members of the party said swept from behind at a high rate of speed and failed to stop after careening off. The crash hurled the Subber machine over on its right side through a small guard fence at the edge of the highway curve at this point, located at the west entrance to a well-known subdivision.

Capt. Haywood Durrer, of the Fairfax County police, said he had received a report that the hit-and-run car was a middle-priced, light colored machine bearing a District of Columbia license.

Muirkirk, Brandywine Get New Fire Towers

Lofty lookout towers for use during the hunting season in southern Maryland were erected yesterday at both Muirkirk and Brandywine in Prince Georges County for immediate use, according to announcement by Walter Quick, a Maryland forest warden stationed at Upper Marlboro.

The two towers, built for immediate use, have been raised to a sufficient height to command a view throughout a 15-mile radius. A constant vigil will be conducted to detect forest fires.

Jury Indicts Youth In Hit-and-Run Death

Special to The Washington Post.

Leesburg, Va., Oct. 14.—Alvin Clark, 21 years old, of Sweetland, was indicted by the grand jury today at the opening of the October term of court for manslaughter in a hit-and-run automobile accident in which Clarence Slack, 35 years old, of near Hamilton, was killed. Clark had been held under $1,000 bond.

Slack was found dead August 25, a half mile from the Hamilton station. Robert Haybold, 19 years old, who was an occupant of the automobile, is being held as a material witness. Clark will be arraigned tomorrow, and the date of trial will be set.

Motor Bus Group Of State to Meet

Association to Attend Also Commission's Hearing on Carrier Facilities.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—Members of the Motor Bus Association of Virginia will attend the State Corporation Commission's hearing on motor carrier facilities in the State, October 23, following the association's sixth annual convention here, October 22.

The commission now is investigating motor carriers, under a resolution passed by the Virginia General Assembly at its last session, and will report its findings to the next General assembly along with whatever recommendations are deemed advantageous to commercial motor vehicle control in the State. The first hearing in the investigation was conducted here, September 25.

At the busmen's convention, a discussion is scheduled to take place on the Parker bill, now pending before Congress, which would give State commissions certain authority over interstate commercial users of highways.

Members of the association and their ladies will attend a banquet the night of the convention, with a dance following.

NORTH CAROLINA FAIR QUEEN

Miss Julia Bradham, of Rocky Mount, has been named by Gov. O. Max Gardner as the "Sweetheart of Homecoming Week" and will entertain visitors and residents during the State fair at Raleigh this week.

COURT DAY HALTED BY POLITICAL RALLY

Coalition Candidates Speak at Louisa and Receive Torrid Retort.

RICHMOND MAYOR TALKS

Gordonsville, Va., Oct. 14.—Court proceedings at Louisa today were interrupted for approximately four hours when R. Lindsay Gordon, former member of the House of Delegates from Louisa County, and Capt. Charles C. Berkley, of Newport News, coalition candidate for attorney general of Virginia, spoke in the interest of the coalition ticket and Mayor J. Fulmer Bright, of Richmond, addressed the voters in behalf of the Democratic nominees.

Gordon, speaking first, delivered practically the same address as he did in Richmond on Friday night last, his ire being confined principally to the water power bill, which he said made him so mad that he almost lost his religion. Comment was also made on the spending of the public funds, reference being made to Col. Saunders having been allowed the sum of $38.40 covering expenses incurred in attending the obsequies of Judge Kelly when Gov. Trinkle declared it an official expenditure, inasmuch as Col. Saunders represented the State. He closed by saying: "The Brown people are missionaries and I am done with law until the 5th day of November and am going to spend my time speaking for this man whose great speech at Roanoke has been an inspiration."

Commonwealth's Attorney W. Earle Crank introduced Mayor Bright, who spoke next. In acknowledging the introduction the mayor said that he hoped Gordon would stay to hear what he had to say, adding that he was "going to burn him up."

Mayor Strikes at Coalition.

First giving a brief history of the attainments and qualifications of the Democratic candidates, he defended them from the attacks by the opposition and Gordon's criticism. He said that the Democratic party and its principles were all right for the seventeen years Capt. Berkley was riding in the driver's seat as Commonwealth's attorney, but when he was defeated it was an entirely different matter.

Referring to R. Lindsay Gordon's address, delivered in Richmond Friday night, Mayor Bright said that Gorden, in paraphrasing Abraham Lincoln's famous Gettysburg phrase, "for the people, by the people and of the people," to "for the gang, by the gang and of the gang," said that "he believed that he had greater admiration for Abraham Lincoln than he had for Gen. Robert E. Lee."

Taking issue with Mayor Bright's statement that in 44 consecutive years of Democratic government not one single time had there been a charge of misconduct, Capt. Berkley, introduced by C. E. Whisler, said that the fish and oyster commission had "gone backward by leaps and bounds and was teeming with fraud, corruption and inefficiency."

Alleges Election Frauds.

With accusations of corruption against election laws he said, "some Democratic election officials would steal the sheet off a ghost to carry their point."

Particular reference was made by Capt. Berkley to Comptroller E. R. Combs, who, he said, was known in southwest Virginia as "Chief of the Black Satchel Brigade."

There was the usual court-day crowd present.

Petersburg Girl Bride At Ceremony in Home

Special to The Washington Post.

Petersburg, Va., Oct. 14.—Miss Helen Madeline Finn today became the bride of Ernest B. Cummins, the ceremony being performed in the home of the bride's parents.

The Rev. E. P. Kilgalen, pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, assisted by the Rev. Julian Bullock and the Rev. J. P. Gaequin, officiated. The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Marie Finn. Charles J. Oleary, of New York, was best man, and the ushers were Maurice M. Finn, jr., and Charles A. Fowkes.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr and Mrs. Cummins left on a motor trip south. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice M. Finn.

BRIDE, 15, EXCUSED FROM CLASSROOM

Albemarle School Solomon Rules Young Wife's Place Is With Husband, 65.

IGNORES LAW OF STATE

Charlottesville, Va., Oct. 14.—Sentiment and unfeeling law clashed when A. L. Bennett, county superintendent of schools, was called upon to decide between compelling a 15-year-old wife to go to school or leaving her at home to care for three stepchildren, and legal flat lost.

The case came to the attention when Bennett discovered that Mary M. Jones, a pupil in the Alberene School last year, who gave her age as 14, was not at her desk this session. Investigation disclosed she had married Nathaniel P. Harlow, Alberene merchant, in June. At the time of her marriage, her age had been given as 16 and his as 65. He was thrice-widower, and the father of six children, three of whom are in school this term. His young wife, it was learned, was caring for the other three at home.

Mr. Bennett admitted there was a violation of the law which had been written into the school board's program for "wiping out illiteracy in Albemarle County," but he could not ascertain the responsible person. He debated holding the girl, the husband or the girl's father culpable, as interpretations of the statute could hold any of the three guilty.

The case reached an anticlimax when Mr. Harlow came to the superintendent's office and asserted his desire to observe the law, irrespective of consequences, and said he would send his wife to school. Bennett reproached the merchant for marrying a girl so young and, after warning him "not to do such a thing again," stated that the wife's place was in the home and not in the classroom. She will not return to school.

Cumberland Railroad Man Is Killed by Train

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., Oct. 14.—Henry R. Coleman, 35 years old, 15 Browning street, brakeman on a Baltimore & Ohio yard engine, was instantly killed late this afternoon when he stepped from his engine in front of eastbound passenger train No. 34.

RICHMOND LAND TAX TOTALS $7,419,715

City Comptroller in Report Gives Figures for Last Fiscal Year.

PER CAPITA DATA CITED

Richmond, Va., Oct. 14 (A.P.).—The Department of Commerce today released figures showing that the levy for all purposes on property in Richmond, Va., was $7,419,715 for the fiscal year ended January 31, 1929.

The tax levy was included in a summary of the financial statistics of the City Corporation of Richmond for the twelve months closed January 31 and were compiled for the department by Landon B. Edwards, city comptroller. Per capita figures for 1928 are based on an estimated population of 194,700, according to a statement accompanying the statistics.

The summary follows:

"The payments for operation and maintenance of the general departments of Richmond, Va., amounted to $5,651,932, or $29.03 per capita. In 1927 the comparative per capita for operation and maintenance of general departments was $26.30 and for 1917, $14.72. Payments for the operation and maintenance of public service enterprises in 1928 (water works, markets, scales, docks and wharves, cemeteries auditoriums and gas supply system) amounted to $1,247,416; interest on debt, $1,667,883 and outlays for permanent improvements including those for public service enterprises $3,251,801. The total payments, therefore, for operation and maintenance of general department and public service enterprises for interest and outlays, were $11,810. The totals include all payments for the year, whether made from current revenues or from the proceeds of bond issues.

Total Revenue Per Capita Cited.

"The total revenue receipts were $10,809,895, or $55.52 per capita. This was $2,242,664 more than the total payments of the year, exclusive of the payments for permanent improvements, but $1,009,137 less than the total payments including those for permanent improvements. These payments in excess of revenue receipts were met from proceeds of debt obligations.

"Property taxes represented 56.1 per cent of the total revenue for 1928, 58.1 per cent for 1927 and 56.1 per cent for 1917. The increase in the amount of property taxes collected was 129.6 per cent from 1917 to 1927, and 1.7 per cent from 1927 to 1928. The per capita property taxes were $13.13 in 1922, $31.04 in 1927, and $15.71 in 1917.

"Earnings of public service enterprises operated by the city represented 22.1 per cent of the total revenue for 1928, 21.7 per cent for 1927 and 22.3 per cent for 1917.

Public Service Debt Given.

"The total funded or fixed debt outstanding January 31, 1929, was $36,452,709. Of this amount $7,142,630 was for public service enterprises.

"The net indebtedness (funded or fixed debt less sinking fund assets) was $27,010,203, or $138.73 per capita. In 1927 the per capita net debt was $138.66, and in 1917 $76.09.

"The assessed valuation of property in Richmond subject to ad valorem taxes for city corporation was $263,162,741. The levy for all purposes was $7,419,715, of which $6,127,535, or 82.6 per cent, was levied for the city corporation, and $1,292,180, or 17.4 per cent for the State. The per capita tax levy for the city and State was $38.11 in 1928, $36.76 in 1927, and $19.65 in 1917.
